AYER'S PILLS.

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to regulate my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them, with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism and Dyspepsia.—G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and so was dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in the bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured.—Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored.—Theodore Esling, Richmond, Va.

CHEAP LIVING.

Result of Interesting Experiments in New York.

The possibility of the support of a man with a wife and two children upon $7.50 per week has met with much questioning since the statement was made that the problem had been solved, but an interesting experiment in New York has demonstrated the utmost achievement of economy within the prescribed limit. For a family of four the rent was $1 per week, fuel 50 cents and lighting 12 cents. The food expenses were compressed to $2.48 per week by the most careful management. A bill of fare contained two stews for four square meals, each made of 10 cents' worth of meat and bones, a handful of rice and flour worth 1 cent and a little salt and pepper. Each stew, eaten with bread, served for the next meal in a warmed-over condition. Four more of the principal meals were provided from fried salt pork at a cost of 14 cents; boiled beans furnished two meals for 1 1/2 cents; a pat roast of beef, three pounds for 36 cents, and 5 cents' worth of potatoes made a royal Sunday dinner. Bread and molasses furnished the luncheon in the middle of the day at a cost of 35 cents, making the total expense of food for the week $2.48. Comfortable clothing was provided at $2.50 per week, and it is said that even with the addition of a few luxuries of food the family were able to deposit $78 in a savings bank during the year. Whether the story adequately fulfills the conditions for a wholesale living may be, perhaps, questioned, since nothing is provided to meet the "wear and tear" in every household but it is useful as an illustration of economy. Scientists have decided that the average workmen requires daily in his food not less than four ounces of proteids, two ounces of fat and eighteen ounces of carbohydrates. Bread, oatmeal, milk, sugar, potatoes, beans and lard at a cost of 12 1/2 cents will supply all the food absolutely required by one person for living. At the increased expense of 19.33 cents more elaborate diet can be made with 26 ounces bread, 2 ounces codfish, 2 ounces lard, 16 ounces potatoes, 1 pint milk, 1 ounce sugar and 3 cups of tea. As food is the most expensive factor of living, it is capable of the most intelligent selection, and depends more upon individual taste and judgement than any other condition of life, since rent and clothes are fixed more by extraneous circumstances and less yielding to choice. The intelligent workman gains by a careful study of a bill of fare. It is useful for him to know that among vegetable foods in common use oatmeal, beans and potatoes are the cheapest; that one of the greatest needs of the workman is a sufficient supply of an expensive, wholesome fat, and that cheap meats may be as nutritious as costly cuts. The prevention of waste by judicious cooking is an important matter for the consideration of the workman in which he can be helped by his wife's carefulness. It would be difficult to estimate the amount of waste in American kitchens caused by ignorance of the true value of food, but it is known to be unnecessarily large.

Ayer's Pills are pleasant, safe and sure, and excel all other pills in healing and curative qualities. Best for family use.

Upon the confirmation of Melville W. Fuller as chief justice of the United States he will be given a reception at the rooms of the Iroquois Club in Chicago.

BOB BELL'S ANECDOTE.

A Brilliant Burst of Eloquence Available for Political Orators.

Many public speakers have attempted to tell the following anecdote, but have lost themselves in the sublime touches imparted to it by Judge Bell, whose version of the story has won for it the distinctive appellation of "Bob Bell's Anecdote." No other man can tell it like Bob, and no newspaper reporter has ever made a passable report of the story—always falling short on the embellishments.

A political campaign is at hand, and we have prevailed upon Judge Bell to put the anecdote in writing, that a verbatim report might be printed, so that hereafter campaign orators may not spoil a matchless story when they attempt to tell "Bob Bell's Anecdote."

To the western pioneers a cow's tail suspended from an augur hole in the door of the cabin used for dressing hides was the sign of a tannery. During those times a cultivated and highly imaginative English tourist was travelling on horseback through Kentucky. Riding along a public road, he came abreast of a tannery, and his eyes dilated and were transfixed as they caught sight of the primitive sign. To our hero it was a miraculous sight. Reining up his horse, and gazing in growing wonder, he commenced soliloquizing, and soon broke forth in a brilliant monologue: "I have traveled far and wide; I have been at earth's loneliest bound—on ocean's wildest shore; I have seen the great sun that hides its face in light, come up from his watery couch in the Atlantic and bathe his mighty axle in the Pacific; I have seen the great ocean when its placid bosom like a polished mirror reflected the unbroken azure of the heavens, and I have seen it when the storm god was abroad, and those tranquil waters were lifted and dashed in spray mountain high; I have seen the rainbow—that glorious wonder woven by sunbeams and the mysteries of refraction—span like a n angel's diadem the brow of the dying storm; I have seen the morning mist rise with wing of wavy gold to greet the ascending sun, and gather in grim and angry thunder-clouds around his setting, and all these things I could understand, for they were all explainable by the fixed and eternal laws of nature, of astronomy, and of natural philosophy; but how in the names of all the gods at once that cow could jump through that door, and leave her tail fast in that hole, is more than I can understand.

As Assurance of Health.

Among the assurances of health afforded us by the regular discharge of the bodily functions, none is more important and reliable than that which regularity of the bowels gives us. If there is any—even a temporary interruption of this—the liver and the stomach suffer conjointly with inactive organs, and still greater mischief ensues if relief is not speedily obtained. A laxative, above all cavi on the score of mineral composition or violent effect, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters approved by the medical profession and a most important item of the family materia medica of American households. It is hot, painless in action, and if persisted in, effectual. The stomach and liver, in no less degree and no less promptly and thoroughly than the bowels, are regulated and toned by it, and it is an admirable defense against malarial and rheumatic ailments, and a benign remedy for kidney complaints, nervousness and debility.

Politics make strange bed-fellows, but they don't get much sleep.

Independent Journalism.

We have received a two-column letter signed Veritas, which purports to give a true history of Major Galvanus Burt, proprietor and landlord of the Adams house. He is shown up as a thief, hypocrite, liar and coward, but we shall not publish it. While he keeps the most miserable apology for a hotel on earth, and while we are satisfied he would steal the winkers from a dead dog's eyes, the Major was the first man in town to subscribe for our paper, and we are not going back on him unless he refuses to renew.—Arizona Kicker.

England is waking up to the necessity of better provisions for national defense. Sensational newspaper articles increase the interest of the people in the matter, and the subject is becoming prominent in parliamentary debates. The government seems to be well satisfied with the condition of affairs.

No other preparation so meets the wants of a debilitated system as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.
