

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20, 1888. PRESIDENT CLEVELAND will be officially notified of his nomination by the St. Louis convention next Tuesday.

Of the 820 delegates to the Republican national convention of 1884, there are but 93 in the convention of 820 delegates in '88. The rest are "new men."

JAY GOULD announces that he will spend one million dollars to beat Gresham if he is nominated. That's why they love him for the enemies that he has made.

JUDGE TAYLOR, yesterday, very properly refused the application of two men to become citizens, on the ground that they were unfit by reason of their ignorance of American institutions. In general the privilege of American citizenship is too lightly bestowed. It is made so easy to be an American naturalized citizen, that any one desirous of the honor should at least make effort to prove himself partially worthy of the dignity. If Judge Taylor's action were more widely observed it would have a beneficial effect, in this direction.

AND still Blaine's name is used to conjure with at Chicago. The present situation is a dramatic one. Blaine has always been a man of dramatic act and consequence. What more dramatic climax to a career packed with thrilling incident than the refusal of an honor that men struggle and delve, and scheme, and agonize, and barter, and slave for, and which might have come without the putting out of his hand; and while the fourth of the great conventions where his name and personality are preeminent is being held he will be gloriously driving over the Scottish heath on the top of a tally-ho, content, healthy, happy and at peace.

THE Washington Journal (German) speaking of the proposed marriage of emperor Frederick's daughter and Alexander Battenberg, says: Aside from political complications, the proposed marriage also leads to interesting complications in the family relations. Beatrice, youngest daughter of queen Victoria, is married to Alexander's brother, Henry Battenberg. The German emperor's daughter is a niece of this couple, for her mother, the empress, is a sister of Beatrice. Alexander is therefore, already, by marriage, uncle of his prospective bride, brother-in-law of Beatrice, her aunt, and as husband of the latter's niece, would become his own nephew.

THE CHICAGO CONVENTION.

Preliminary Organization; Speeches. CHICAGO, June 19-11:30.—The convention has been called to order; chairman B. F. Jones in his speech emphatically favors protection, and says the candidate of the convention and its platform should be the embodiment of this spirit.

12:10 p. m.—The hall is almost full. The entrance of Gen. Jno. C. Fremont was greeted with cheers. (Gen. Fremont was the first candidate of the Republican party in 1856.)

12:30 p. m.—Chairman Jones introduced temporary chairman Thurston of Nebraska, who was greeted with applause.

A Kansas delegate announces that the Kansas delegation is not responsible for the election of Thurston and proposes Warren of Missouri; (Hissses.)

Thurston began his speech and almost immediately made a statement that Blaine was denied the privilege of supporting him in this convention. This was greeted with cries of "No! No!" and applause from the galleries. Thurston's speech is punctuated with applause. His reference to the leaders of '84 was greeted with wild cheers. He then mentioned the candidates in turn and spoke of the Republican party as a party of protection. Wild applause greeted his mention of the Chinese question. He said the foreign policy of the present administration was such as to please every coward. He then said we dare not commit the political disobedience to Blaine's will, and referred to the Democratic straddle of the tariff question and civil service reform amid laughter and applause. The speaker said that the great issue of the coming campaign is the tariff. A great army will rise to trample out forever the pernicious doctrine of free trade.

Thurston closed his speech amid great demonstrations of applause and cheer. A resolution was presented by the chairman a gavel made of wood of the oak tree under which the Republican party organized, in Jackson, Michigan.

On motion of Hallowell, of Kansas, a resolution of sympathy with Gen. Phil Sheridan was adopted. The request of a deputation of the Grand army of the Republic for two thousand tickets, evoked discussion of the soldier question by Tatt of South Carolina, Butler and Worth of Ohio and Lewis of Kansas. By unanimous consent the question was referred to the national committee.

The call of states was dispensed with, the names being sent to the chairman. Nebraska is now presenting Gen. Fremont to the convention amid much enthusiasm.

Fremont in a speech predicts victory under the banner of protection of American industries.

Fred Douglas has been called on and addresses the convention, briefly, expressing thanks for the welcome.

Hour, of Massachusetts, is the next speaker. Of the Virginia dispute he says Mahone and his colleagues under the rulings of parliamentary law cannot vote on their own case. Wise of Virginia makes a strong protest against Mahone being put on the committee on credentials to pass on his own credentials.

Many delegates are leaving the convention which will probably adjourn in a few minutes. The committee will meet after adjournment of the convention. It has been decided that the contesting delegations are to send their credentials to the committee without debate. The chairman decides the debate out of order.

Mahone, of Virginia, then took the platform to make a plea for his delegation, when Stephenson of Minnesota, moved that no committee man be allowed from any state or territory sending contested delegations.

3:30 p. m.—The convention has adjourned to noon, to-morrow.

(SPECIAL TO THE ASTORIAN.) PORTLAND, June 19.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Oregon Iron and Steel company held this morning, the election of the directors resulted in the reelection of the old board, S. G. Reed, T. C. Smith, Wm. Ladd, Theodore B. Wilcox, Martin Winch.

ALASKA GOLD CO. This afternoon the Alaska Gold Co. filed articles of incorporation with the county clerk. The incorporators are, J. A. Brown, D. M. Danne and C. A. Hughes. The capital stock is divided into five hundred thousand shares. The object of the company is to engage in mining in this state, Washington territory and Alaska.

ON LEAVE OF ABSENCE. Major Jones, of the United States engineers' corps, goes on a six months' leave of absence to-morrow. During his absence captain Willard Young will take charge of the district. Major Jones will spend his leave of absence in devoting the time exclusively to the management of reduction works.

PROBABLY FATAL. Last night John McDonald met with what many prove to be a fatal accident at a lodging house, corner of Fifth and Washington streets. While attempting to throw a basin of water upon some boys underneath with whom he was skylarking, he lost his balance and fell into the court. He struck on a fence and sustained very serious internal injuries.

STATE VS. M'GINN. In the police court to-day Henry McGinn withdrew his plea of not guilty and substituted a plea of guilty to assault and battery upon Rev. Ezra Haskell. Judge Demont imposed a fine of ten dollars upon the defendant. In making his sentence the court took occasion to remark that as neither complainant nor accused was in the habit of engaging in street quarrels and were both gentlemen and that while the assault was unjustified there had been considerable aggravation before the affair took place which would naturally tend to create excitement in the defendant, the court felt justified in imposing the smallest fine allowed by law.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT. G. W. Emery, a young man who has been employed as book keeper for the firm of Dayton & Wall, has been arrested charged with embezzlement. The books of the firm have been partially experted and it is alleged that so far Emery's shortage foots up four thousand dollars. In the police court to-day Emery waived examination and that he be placed under four thousand dollar bonds to answer before the grand jury.
