"PNEUMONIA."

Why not Call this Terrible Scurge by its Rightful Name?

(New York Telegram.) Many a strong, well-built man leaves home to-day; before night he will have a chill and in a few hours will be dead!

This is the way the dreaded pneumonia takes people off. The list of notable men who are its victims is appalling. It sweeps over the land like a scourge and destroys poor and rich alike.

Everyone dreads it. Its coming is sudden, its termination usually speedy.

What causes it? Pneumonia, we are told, is invited by a certain condition of the system, indicated if one has occasional chills and fevers, a tendency to cold in the throat and lungs, rheumatic and neuralgic pains, extreme tired feelings, short breath and pleuritic stitches in the side, loss of appetite, backache, nervous unrest, scalding sensations, or scant and discolored fluids, heart flutterings, sour stomach, distressed look, puffy eye sacs, hot and dry skin, loss of strength and vitality.

These indications may, not, appear together, they may come, disappear and reappear for years, the person not realizing that they are nature's warning of a coming calamity. In other words, if pneumonia does not claim a victim the person suffering such symptoms is someless sudden but quite as fatal (mildly) certainly will.

A celebrated New York physician told the Tribune that pneumonia was a secondary disorder, the exposure and cold being simply the agent which develops the disease, already dormant in the system, because the kidneys have been but partially doing their duty. In short, pneumonia is but an early indication of a bright's diseased condition. This impaired action may exist for years without the patient suspecting it because no pain will be felt in the kidneys or their vicinity and often it can be detected only by chemical and microscopical observations.

Nearly 150 of the 700 deaths in New York city the first week in April (and in six weeks 781 deaths) were caused by pneumonia!

The disease is very obstinate, and if the accompanying kidney disorder is very far advanced, recovery is impossible, for the kidneys give out entirely, and the patient is literally suffocated by water.

The only safeguard against pneumonia is to maintain a vigorous condition of the system, and thus prevent its attacks, by using whatever will radically and effectually restore full vitality to the kidneys, for if they are not sound, pneumonia cannot be prevented. For this purpose there is nothing equal to Warner's safe cure a remedy known to millions, used probably by hundreds of thousands and commended as a standard specific wherever known and used. It does not pretend to cure an attack of pneumonia, but it does remove the cause of and prevent that disease if taken in time. No reasonable man can doubt this if he regards the personal experience of thousands of honorable men.

When a physician says his patient has either bright's disease or pneumonia he confesses his inability to cure, and in a measure he considers his responsibility ended. In many instances, indeed, persons are reported as dying of pneumonia, heart disease, apoplexy and convulsions, when the real cause of death and so known by the physician is this kidney consumption. Thousands of people have it without knowing it and perish of it because their physicians will not tell them the facts! The same fate awaits every one who will not exercise his judgment in such a matter.

ALL HANDS DROWNED.

The Crew of the Schooner Venture Lost Their Lives.

"Bad news from the Venture," said Mr. J. C. Nixon yesterday. "I bought the schooner Venture at Astoria last spring. She was built for deep sea fishing, but I fitted her out as a sealer, with a big fish net.

TO SOOPE IN THE SEALS Without killing them. She had four men aboard, captain, cook, and two hunters. She was making a good catch along her journey to the north, but I have just learned that three weeks ago, while off Prince of Wales island, on the coast of Alaska, the two hunters, while out in a small boat looking after the net were CAPSIZED AND DROWNED. The captain and cook, the only survivors on board, placed the Venture in charge of an Indian agent, and started in a canoe for Fort Simpson, 70 miles distant, and nothing has been heard of them since. I fear every man belonging to the schooner is drowned, though the captain and cook may yet turn up. I am daily expecting full particulars, and will let the Post-Intelligencer have them when they come. The crew was made up at Astoria, where the men all belonged."—Seattle Post-Intelligencer, 19.

CHAIRMAN ESTEE'S SPEECH

Upon Taking His Seat Yesterday. An Arrangement of The Administration

(SPECIAL TO THE ASTORIAN.)

CHICAGO, June 20.—Chairman M. M. Estee took his place as presiding officer in the convention to-day. He began his speech by thanking the convention for the favor conferred through him on the Pacific coast in placing him at the head of the convention. He said that in choosing from the long list of illustrious names that would be presented to the convention it would be impossible to make selection of a more fitting standard bearer of the great Republican party than the voicing of the principles of that party in the platform and that was still easier since those principles were known of all men; that the present administration had been from the first a perpetual menace to the industries of the country, to the discouragement of new enterprises and the closing of the avenues of new lines of labor.

He supported this statement by statistics showing the decrease of exports, of ship building, etc., during the past three years as compared with a like period during the ten preceding years. The wholesale intimidation and practical disfranchisement of the Republican voters of the south was characterized as monstrous; their very helplessness pleading in the strongest terms for protection of their rights as citizens. President Cleveland is arraigned as false to his declaration as a civil service reformer, it being alleged that he, during his brief term, has removed more public officers without cause than any one of his predecessors. He is charged with having violated the spirit of the constitution in unwarrantable executive interference in the legislative branch of the government, having vetoed more bills than all other presidents from Washington down, giving therefor flippant reasons. The foreign policy administration was arraigned as cowardly and un-American.

Reference was made by chairman Estee to the declaration that to get rid of the surplus in the treasury the president has decided that wool and other farm products must go upon the free list, adding that this dogma had been answered by the people of Oregon as a preliminary rattle along the skirmish line, pre-arranged a complete victory in November. He alleged that the same forces are arrayed against each other in 1888 as in 1861. The difference is that the attack was upon the armies of the nation in 1861; in the present year it is upon the country's industries. On the side of opposition to our free institutions, then as now, was the solid south, the northern "dough faces," British influence with its Cobden club and its American membership.

As to the surplus which is the great Democratic text for free trade, there would be none were our ports protected by fortifications, our navy reconstructed, our rivers and harbors improved, needed public buildings erected and vetoed pension bills were laws.

THE BLAINEAN PROGRAMME

CHICAGO, June 20.—It is reported among the Blaine men that California has agreed to vote for Stanford on the preliminary ballots, in order to save their effectiveness for the Blaine movement at the time agreed upon.

M. H. De Young, the editor of the San Francisco Chronicle says: "It is not true that while the delegates of the Pacific coast are all for Blaine, they don't exactly know what to do at first."

A PENNSYLVANIA TRAGEDY.

(SPECIAL TO THE ASTORIAN.) PITTSBURG, June 20.—This morning Mrs. Josephine Marek of Allegheny city, administered strychnine to her three children aged 7, 3 and 4 years, and then swallowed poison herself. In less than three hours the mother and two of the children were dead and the youngest has no prospect of recovery. The motive for the deed is supposed to have been anger, because her husband had ordered his brother from the house, whom he suspected of criminal intimacy with his wife.

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

That was a weird and sensational performance last night at the opera house. All the actors played their part well, but the principal character as interpreted by Mr. Geo. M. Wood deserves special notice. It was as fine a piece of strong acting as has ever been seen on that stage. The whole play is a somber one full of mystery, tragic throughout, and fascinating to one who realizes how possible the whole thing is, and how real the unreal may become. The transition from a benevolent man to a fiend and the reverse constitutes a most original plot, and the way that Mr. Wood carries out the author's conception is an interesting study. The scene where Miss St. John as Florence Jekyll, first realizes the dual identity of her father and Sir Danvers Carew's murderer is as dramatic as anything can well be and was admirably portrayed.

The play will be repeated to-night and purely as a psychological study is worth seeing.

AGAINST THE CHINESE.

Proposed Plank For The Platform.

(SPECIAL TO THE ASTORIAN.)

CHICAGO, June 20.—Osborn, of Los Angeles Cal., a member of the committee on resolutions, is working hard to secure the incorporation of a plank on the Chinese and silver question that will be satisfactory to the California delegates and all the people on the Pacific coast. "I can safely say," said Osborn, this afternoon, "that we will secure the adoption of an anti-Chinese plank that will be in every way satisfactory to the coast. Chinese labor will be denounced in strong terms and ringing resolutions will recommend the enactment of any legislation that may be needed to help drive out the Chinese labor. As to silver the resolutions will contain a moderate plank. It may not be quite as strong as some of us people on the coast desire but it will be a great step in the right direction."
