Sore Eyes

The eyes are always in sympathy with the body, and afford an excellent index of its condition. When the eyes become weak, and the lids inflamed and sore, it is an evidence that the system has become disordered by Scrofula, for which Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best known remedy.

Scrofula, which produced a painful inflammation in my eyes, caused me much suffering for a number of years. By the advice of a physician I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using this medicine a short time I was completely cured.

My eyes are now in a splendid condition, and I am as well and strong as ever.—Mrs. William Gage, Concord, N. H.

For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and was unable to obtain any relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has effected a complete cure, and I believe it to be the best of blood purifiers.—C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H.

From childhood, and until with a few months, I have been afflicted with Weak and Sore Eyes. I have used for these complaints, with beneficial results, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and consider it a great blood purifier.—Mrs. C. Phillips, Glover, Vt.

I suffered for a year with inflammation in my left eye. Three ulcers formed on the ball, depriving me of sight, and causing great pain. After trying many other remedies, to no purpose, I was finally induced to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

By Taking

three bottles of this medicine I have been entirely cured. My sight has been restored, and there is no sign of inflammation, sore, or ulcer in my eye.—Kendal T. Bowen, Sugar Tree Ridge, Ohio.

My daughter, ten years old, was afflicted with Scrofulous Sore Eyes. During the last two years she never saw light of any kind. Physicians of the highest standing exerted their skill, but with no permanent success. On the recommendation of a friend I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which my daughter commenced taking. Before she had used the third bottle her sight was restored. Her cure is complete.—W. E. Sutherland, Evangelist, Shelby City, Ky. 11

Drumming of The Ruffed Grouse.

A few years ago while looking after a miner's ditch in the solitude of the mountain forests on the upper Clear Water river, I happened to get hold of a work on natural history; and as the ruffed grouse were very plentiful, their habits, as set forth by the author, attracted my attention.

It was in the spring of the year, and they were drumming continually on all sides of me. I could not believe the vibration that set the still air in a tremble about my ears was made by the tapping of the wings upon logs, or upon anything more solid than a drum head. My curiosity was aroused, and as the opportunity was at hand I determined to settle the question as to how the drumming was done.

Every day an old cock clucked at me as he jumped from an old log and started behind the thick little fir, with his ruffled neck nodding as he stepped proudly away. That log was his drumming place, and I soon found the exact section he occupied. No longer would I let that bird puzzle me. I selected a place with perfect cover as a blind, and with my ax trimmed out the brush so that I could have an unobstructed view of his resort.

The next morning, armed with a Berdan rifle telescope, I was in my blind, with the glass arranged on rests, when the shy bird came noiselessly to his sacred bower to sing his matin song. He stood still and upright for a long time, as if intently listening. He puffed up his neck as large as his body, he raised the black tuft of feathers on his neck, showing a wind bag tight as a drum head; then he thumped the sac as if to test the tension of the drum, and then: thump—thump—thump—thump thump thump, faster and faster, till his wings were a blue blur to look upon, and the sound was a rumble like the hum of a bee on a large scale. In the interim he would smooth his feathers and listen for an answer from some charmed female; or the challenge of an enemy. I watched him until I was positive as to how the noise was made. It is made by beating in the inflated neck of the bird, by the butts of the wings, as a boy would beat upon a drum; both ends at once. I then killed the bird, examined the wind bag, and blew it up like a bladder.

My glass was 30 inches long, and so powerful that I could see a 45 caliber bullet hole in white paper at a distance of 1300 yards. You can form an idea how distinctly I could see every motion of the grouse. I could see him wink. Every member of the grouse family makes his call or hoot or whatever it is, by inflating the neck. The ruffed grouse is no exception.—Portland Welcome.

When a Kansas horse thief breaks out of jail his chance of ever getting back again is very slender. First, because he is hard to catch; second, he is usually shot when caught.

Ask for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and do not take any other. Sold by all druggists.

There is no Cure but Marriage!

How many a pompous old fraud, with an M. D. attached to his name, has offered this time-dishonored prescription to a pale haggard girl, suffering from the ills of womanhood? How many a wretched hell on earth has thus been started! For no marriage can be blessed either to husband or wife, which is taken as a pill. Out upon such quackery! There is a cure for suffering women—a cure which will make marriage the greatest of earthly blessings, and home the sweetest of Eden's. Its name is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Just try it, and see the black clouds of life roll away before the glowing sunshine of returning health and vigor. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case or money refunded. See wrapper around bottle.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets the original and only genuine Little Liver Pills. 25 cents a vial; one a dose.

Sheridan commanded the cavalry in the Army of the Potomac just a year, and in that time fought seventy-six battles, captured 205 battle-flags and over one hundred and sixty field pieces.

Everybody admires beautiful hair, and everyone may possess it, by using Ayer's Hair Vigor. Keeps the hair soft, pliant, and glossy.

Never write a letter that you would not be willing to have published, whether it be a love letter or a political letter. "Murder will out," and so will secret letters.

The New York Sun says of girls seeking employment in the metropolis: "Without good credentials and influential friends it is impossible to obtain a place at all desirable."

Cost of Living In Oregon.

We produce the following, as published by the state board of immigration.

"What is the expense of living compared with that in the East?" Answering in a general way, the necessary living expenses in cities and towns, including servant hire, are about ten per cent. greater than in the east. Of course the productions of Oregon which are consumed at home are as cheap as elsewhere. Hotel rates in the West towns of the interior average $1 per day for transient customers. Board and lodging by the week; about $5 at the hotels; about $4 at private houses. House rents in small towns are very reasonable. Good five room houses with ample yard attached can be had for from $5 to $12 per month. Farm hands command about $25 per month, by the years hire; harvest hands, $1.75 to $2.50 per day; house servants about $20 per month. For mechanics, carpenters and shop hands, the average is probably $3 per day; masons $5. Milch cows are worth about $30 each; horses average $200 per span.

As to the yield of Oregon productions, we take the report of the government, actual figures furnished by the growers and the estimates made by the farmers generally. Out of a dozen farmers interviewed, two had less than 24 bushels of wheat to the acre. It is a common thing to have 38 and 40 and even 50 bushels of wheat to the acre. The government makes the average nearly 23; oats, 45 to 85 bushels to the acre. It is not an uncommon thing to have a yield of 75 to 100 bushels of oats to the acre in eastern Oregon. Oats from 5 to 8 feet high are frequent in this section of the state. A good deal of this grain weighs 50 pounds to the bushel.

Wheat raised in this state weighs 64 pounds to the bushel; barley yields on the average 26 to 38 bushels to the acre; rye, 20 to 30 bushels. Potatoes about 25 bushels to the acre. The growth of such things as squashes, pumpkins, turnips, sweet potatoes and the like, is simply astonishing.

A Prisoner's Little Joke.

"I had a funny experience once," said a young farmer. "When I was a boy I confess, I was pretty green. I lived with my father upon a farm near Columbus, and used to haul wood into the city and sell it for him. One day I had entered town with my customary load, when as I passed a large building some one poked his head partly out of a window and asked if the wood was for sale. I replied in the affirmative: 'Well throw it over this fence,' came back from the upper window.

The house was surrounded by a high wall, but I managed to pitch it over and then went around to the front gate for my pay. I could not get in; I hammered and called in vain, when some passer by, attracted by my frantic efforts to gain an entrance, inquired what was the matter and informed me the building was the jail. One of the prisoners had played a joke on me. I could not get my money or the wood back and returned home with empty wagon and pocket."

After the Whitman massacre in 1847, a volunteer soldier, James Bell, picked up a bunch of Mrs. Whitman's hair and gave it to Mrs. America Grant of Dallas. After keeping it for thirty-nine years she sent it last fall as a memorable relic to the cabinet of Whitman college, Walla Walla.

At a holiness meeting near Chicago the other day a man rose in his seat, crying that it had been revealed to him that a woman in the audience was Christ incarnate and that the whole assemblage should fall down and worship her.

Among the presents sent to the Pope this year were a rowboat, a boot-making machine and a bicycle.
