AYER'S Sugar-Coated Cathartic PILLS.

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to regulate my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism and Dyspepsia.—G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured.—Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored.—Theodore Esling, Richmond, Va. 11

BLAINE'S FUTURE PLANS.

To Make Campaign Speeches and Have A Pleasant Winter.

Mr. Blaine's refusal to become a presidential candidate again is doubtless largely due to the influence of his wife. Since the campaign of '84 which seems—so members of the family say—like a nightmare to her, and whose prostrating effect she felt far more than Blaine did, Mrs. Blaine has had but one mind about a repetition of that experience. She regards it with horror, and has used her all-persuading influence with her husband to expel any lingering longing to make the battle from his mind.

Then there is another reason. Mr. Blaine has discovered the exquisite delights of a life of leisure to a cultivated man, with opportunities to gratify the tastes of culture. The exhilarating and stimulating sense of power, which is the reward of political achievement and the motive which impels to political success, has in his case entirely yielded to the keener, subtler, supreme relish that are to be found in books, congenial companionship, in the stage, of which he is passionately fond, and in the absolute independence of private life and station, with the resources of wealth at command.

It is possible also here to give some suggestion of Mr. Blaine's plans for the future. First of all, he intends to take an active part in the Republican campaign. He has told his family so, and they do not object. They believe that the excitement, unattended by personal worry and anxiety of making a few speeches during the campaign will do him good, and he is really enthusiastic over the prospect of delivering some addresses on the issue of the canvass and in support of his favorite doctrine of protection for its own sake. It is quite likely that Mr. Blaine will, after the canvass, spend the winter either in New York or Washington. He is fond of the companionship of men of wit, culture and achievement, and this he could not obtain in Augusta. He is also an intense lover of the theater, and especially of opera. In Europe he has always been on the alert for the best that the theater had to offer, and of his visitors he always asks what they regard the reigning attraction.

Horses, Cattle and Chickens.

For colic and grubs, for lung fever, cough or hide-bound, I give Simmons' Liver Regulator in a wash twice a day. You can recommend it to every one having stock as the best medicine known for the above complaints. In using it with my chickens, for cholera and gapes, I mix it with the dough and feed it to them once a day. By this treatment I have lost none where the Regulator was given promptly and regularly.
E. T. TAYLOR,
Agt. for Grangers of Ga.

Very Hot Weather in New York.

New York, June 25.—Up to 10 o'clock this morning the record of fatal prostration from heat is unprecedented for any June day in the history of the coroner's office. At noon the death list reached twenty, all more or less directly caused by the torrid atmosphere. Many of the victims expired without the slightest premonition of their fate. Some in the prime of life who yesterday were in the best of spirits and apparently the best of health, were corpses in their beds this morning. Children in crowded, reeking tenement districts are dying off like flowers that wilt in the sun. Aged persons in many quarters attempt to move about in ordinary pursuits and sit down only to gasp their last. Several persons died at the breakfast table. The prostrations are very numerous. The thermometer at 2:30 P. M. was ninety-one in the shade.

At His Post Day and Night.

The vigilant Imp, indigestion goods us with his many-lashed scourge. Each lash is a diabolic symptom. No comfort in eating, misery afterwards, little or broken rest at night, visitations of the nightmare during fitful intervals of sleep, an uprising unrefreshed and without appetite, and yawning during the day, nervousness and irritability of temper, even monomania in extreme cases. Hard to bear, all this. Necessary? No! A thousand times no, so long as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the nation's specific for indigestion, acute or chronic, is procurable. The commencement of a course of this medicine is the commencement of a cure. Prompt relief first, absolute eradication subsequently. The truth of this statement, backed up by irrefragable testimony, is well known to the American people. So are others, viz: that the Bitters averts and cures fever and ague, sea-biliousness, and removes nervousness, biliousness, constipation, and kidney and bladder troubles.

Harrison's "Record" On the Chinese Question.

Among the other foolish acts of the California delegation at Chicago was an attack by some of the members on general Harrison, because of his alleged record on the Chinese question. His position on that question was grossly misrepresented. It would seem that the California delegation became aware of this fact, since it finally voted for the nomination of general Harrison.

The position taken by Harrison in the senate on this subject was identical with that taken by those senators of both parties whose ability and character give weight to their acts. We had a treaty with China under which Chinese were permitted to come to the United States as freely as Americans might go to China. Harrison very properly maintained that we had no right, in violation of this treaty to pass an act to deprive subjects of China of a right that the treaty gave them, and insisted that good faith and international comity required that China be asked to modify the treaty. Negotiations were opened with China to this end; the treaty was modified and the restriction bill passed. Senator Harrison joined in reporting the bill and voted for it.

This was the statesmanlike and honorable way of dealing with the subject. Immigration of Chinese is no longer a question of practical importance, since the restriction bill keeps them out, and their numbers in the United States are gradually decreasing. It is complained that some do evade the law and enter the United States; but if this is so it is due to official laxity on the part of our Democratic administration.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

A school for teaching Italian will shortly be opened in Tokio, Japan.

No other blood medicine so utilizes the results of scientific inquiry as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

When people are bilious and dyspeptic, they need a laxative medicine. In such cases Ayer's Pills give perfect satisfaction.

Destruction of The Salmon Fishery In British Columbia.

To the Editor of the Toronto Globe: Is it not time that the Pacific fisheries were taken under consideration, more especially the salmon industry, which up to this time has been shamefully neglected? Why not have a close season, as in the other provinces, or, in any civilized country? The Fraser river, which was once the finest salmon river in the Province, has fallen off 72 per cent in six years (although of late years the boats have increased). Then why not have an experienced man as Inspector of Fisheries? But as things are carried out at present it is a farce. Last season the Vancouver papers had an Inspector of Fisheries notice, that any person found catching, having in possession, or selling any foul or seasonable salmon, would be prosecuted, when right under his own eyes in New Westminster the same kind of unseasonable fish were caught and canned in thousands daily. If there was a close season on the Fraser river, there would be no need of a Government salmon hatchery which costs the Dominion three or four thousand dollars a year. Many of the cannery men here take no interest in the matter, as the larger interests are cornered in San Francisco or Great Britain. But the thousands of Canadians who are coming into the country to make homes trust that some wise law may be had to protect the salmon industry in the future.
