 THE ASTORIAN guarantees to its advertisers the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia river.
 The Alpine club is organizing an expedition to ascend Mt. Hood.
 Returning trout fishermen tell some encouraging tales as to their success.
 The A. B. Field arrived from Tillamook yesterday, and goes out again to-morrow.
 The Alliance leaves for Shoalwater Bay and Gray's harbor this morning.
 The schooner Norona and the bark North Bend, lumber-laden, sailed yesterday.
 The scariest thing in Astoria is a new story that a good or a good story that's new—except oysters.
 The unusual sight of a lunar rainbow was visible in the northwestern sky at half-past ten, last night.
 Griffin & Reed are agents for new and improved rubber stamps at a reduction of 40 per cent from Portland prices.
 Old papers suitable for covering shelves and walls, putting under carpets and just the thing for making bustles, at this office.
 An excursion party went to the Nestucca beach last Friday, and removed the figure head from the wreck of the Camarthen Castle.
 The Oregon state weather review for July is received. This is a valuable sheet, doing good work for Oregon is officially correct and welcome for reference.
 The British bark Rosecrana cleared for Liverpool yesterday, carrying 25,995 bus. wheat, worth $18,000, and 10,854 bbls. flour, worth $36,935, a total value of $54,935.
 The steamer Marie G. Haagen has been heard from. She is at Port Townsend fixing the gilderfluke of the garboard strake and will leave for Alaska when she gets ready.
 Myriads of Harrison and Cleveland flags, handkerchiefs, pins, mottoes and devices of various kinds, some of them quite pretty, have arrived and are for sale. It is a good year for the manufacturers of campaign goods.
 Considerable coal prospecting is being done at present in Pacific, Clatsop and Tillamook counties. Leinenweber & Brown have a fine coal prospect on the John Day place, on Tillamook bay. This whole country gives promise of coal.
 Clyde Fulton went bathing at Garfield Beach, Salt Lake last Thursday. He says the whole thing is an unmitigated fraud, and that Clatsop beach beats it every way. If the water gets into one's eye it blinds him, and if it gets into one's mouth it chokes him. One man—R. J. Elam—mentioned in Tuesday's issue—died the day before from swallowing some of the vile stuff.
 The proprietors of the New York Novelty Store announce a genuine sacrifice sale of all the large stock of goods now in the establishment, a bona fide clearing out of the entire stock, to be repeated by an entire new stock of novelties from New York. The public are invited to secure bargains, and are assured that it is just what it is advertised, a clearing out of all on hand to make room for the new.
 United States Marshal Jno. Myers yesterday telegraphed Deputy H. A. Smith to arrest the British ship Rosecrana. The exact facts are not at present ascertainable, but it appears that the captain agreed with a sailor boarding house at Portland to take a crew at $65 (which is $20 less than usual) the crew to be on board when the vessel was loaded. They weren't on hand, and he shipped a crew here. Hence these steers.
 Since the Fourth one person has imported here three car loads of eggs—in all, 35,000 dozen—and twelve tons butter, says a Portland paper. He has made a decent profit on these articles, as one deserves to who takes the chances on shipping such perishable goods so far in July weather. Half the eggs went to the Sound, which leaves 18,000 dozen as the number of imported eggs consumed here in a little over two weeks.
 The Columbia is due from San Francisco this morning with the following passengers: D. F. Hammond, E. Bailey, F. W. Bridge, H. C. DeCamp and wife, Col. Volkmar, Elva Doran, W. Keith, E. F. Price, Mrs. Brady, Eva Stone, M. Lamb, Mrs. Fox, Kate Edmunds, J. Williams, Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Lampey, Miss J. Simmons, Mrs. Wilcox, L. Kerdal, Mrs. C. C. Atkinson, Mrs. Kate Brown, Mrs. B. Weight, Mrs. A. Grim, Wm. Roland, J. H. Hoytscliff, W. P. Huchon, Dr. Cartridge and wife, T. Aremas.
 Do not lie in bed in the mornings. The early bird catches the worm, and if you are up a sufficiently long time before him you may read your neighbor's papers before he comes down to take them from the step. Your gains will depend largely upon the number of papers your neighbor takes, but one cent a day nets you $3.65 a year, except in leap year, when you will make a cent more. In following out this plan remember it is not compatible with the obligations of good neighborhood to cut out items which you think will interest your wife.

 In an upper town coach yesterday, beyond the city limits, Jas. Burk, who proclaimed himself a bad man from the north of Norway, tried to force in with a cigar in his mouth, to where some ladies were sitting. Fred Newell made some restraining remarks, and Burk filled the air with profanity. He was arrested and will be tried at four o'clock this afternoon. He says if the justice only fines him $5 it'll be all right and he'll pay it; otherwise, otherwise. He also proposes to bust up the Astoria street railway company in a suit for forcible ejection.
 In speaking about the North Pacific fisheries, Captain Johnson of the Oscar and Hattie, says: "There are several things needed on this coast. The most important thing is a more thorough coast survey, and more lighthouses. For instance from cape Beal to Sitka, a distance of 800 miles, there is no lighthouse, and in case of a storm or thick weather this makes it dangerous. I trust some improvements in this line will be made, as any losses among the Gloucester fishing men now would have a bad effect upon the others who contemplate coming."
PERSONAL MENTION.
 C. Leinenweber returned from Tillamook yesterday.
 G. Fulton and wife returned yesterday morning from a pleasant trip to the upper Mississippi valley.
 M. H. Parker, formerly teaching in uptown, is now principal of the LaFayette school.
 Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Utzinger were made happy yesterday afternoon by the arrival of a little daughter at their house.
A Warning.
 The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that every one, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly, and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may cost you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.
Got Even With The Old Man.
 Father (whom Bobby has induced to take him)—Now, Bobby, I don't quite understand this. If the man who throws the ball fails to hit the club after three trials, does that put the umpire out?
 Bobby—Pa, do you remember why you sent me to bed last night at 7 o'clock?
 Father—Why, no.
 Bobby—It was for asking foolish questions.

TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS GONE.
 The Loss Believed to Have Been Occasioned in Portland.
 The inquiries of two keen-eyed individuals on the R. R. Thompson last Tuesday morning coming down and their subsequent actions here during the day were noticeable, but a request that nothing be said about the matter occasioned silence.
 However, as reference has been made to it, the whole thing may as well be told, in detail.
 Last Saturday afternoon the Commercial National Bank took a sack containing ten thousand dollars, U. S. gold coin, addressed to I. W. Case of this city, to the Pacific express office, for transmission. The Astoria bill was regularly made out, the R. R. Thompson duly arrived here, but when the express box arrived at the express office here Sunday morning, diligent search on the part of H. D. Thing failed to find any sack with $10,000 in it. He telegraphed the shortage to the Portland official and immediately upon the arrival of the agent, Mr. C. P. Upshur from Helena, notified him of the discrepancy. So soon as the Portland office was notified, steps were taken to pay Mr. Case the $10,000, and search was instituted on board the R. R. Thompson. Nothing was elicited on board the boat, nor in the city, more than that which would tend to confirm a surmise that the $10,000 mysteriously disappeared sometime between the receipt for it in the company's office in Portland and the arrival of the express wagon at the Ash street dock in Portland Saturday night.
 The papers of the O. R. & N. boats which carry the express box are usually paid $10 a month for looking after the company's box. They have keys to the box, and check off the contents on the way bill. On this particular trip of the Thompson there was a new purser—Struble—on board. It was his first trip; he had no key to the box, could have no access to it, and is positive no one tampered with it while it was in his charge.
 When the detectives were in this city they got the young man who puts the express box on the wagon and drives it to the office, to come down to where they had prepared a box. They had taken the express box, weighed everything, to an ounce, what it weighed or what it should have weighed Sunday morning if every thing on the way bill except the $10,000 had been in the box, and then, borrowing $10,000 in gold treasury notes, they put that also in the box, fixed it just as ordinary, and asked Coe to put it on the wagon and drive up to Upshur's office. "Whew!" said he, the first thing, as he got it on his shoulder, "this box weighs lots more than it did Sunday morning." An expressive glance passed between the detectives, Coe's remark being good evidence that the box was heavier by $10,000 in gold coin that it was when he shouldered it Sunday morning on the O. R. & N. dock here.
 Mr. Newcomb, the superintendent, is sparing no effort to apprehend the thief or trace the loss of the money. Mr. Case has been paid the $10,000, and no one is out anything except the express company.
 Millions of dollars have been carried by express from Portland to Astoria, and this is the first loss of magnitude that has ever resulted in the history of the business on the lower Columbia.

THE RAMBLER.
 His Interesting Pen Pictures of Men and Things.
 The Ogden Standard takes occasion to write up Southern California in a recent issue, and pays its kind regards to "the hidden hand" and compliments the festive flea in the following realistic manner: Every lady carries an extra hand in southern California. Without it life would not be worth living, despite the alleged fine climate.
 When a young man takes his girl to the theater in San Diego, and after the curtain has fallen upon a passionate love scene, whispers to her, "Give me your little white hand!" she does not falter, blush and reply in an agitated manner, "Ask me!" She answers in a matter of fact way; "Certainly, but give it back quick, 'cause I want to use it myself;" and then she presents to him a tiny hand, shapely as a fairy's and white as ivory. He does not press it to his bosom or lips; she shoves it down under his energetic at the back of his neck; and after it has arrived at the one spot between his shoulders which he cannot reach with either one of his own hands he agitates it vigorously. In fact he scratches with it, and as the ensuing delicious sensation thrills through his being he grunts, "U-g-g-g, Clara, ain't that good!" Then he withdraws the hand from its temporary hiding place and gracefully restores it to his girl and she immediately conceals it on her person. One busy moment passes, during which the expression of her face changes from annoyance to pleasure, and she answers in a sniggering gurgle, "U-g-g-g, Charlie, I should think so!"
 They enjoy the next scene of the play, because they have scratched their fleas. The hand which they use is known in Southern California as a "back scratcher," and no lady of the bon ton appears in a recherche assemblage without this necessary adjunct of luxurious life. Fleas swarm by billions in San Diego and Los Angeles. They crawl all over people at theaters and balls. Of course when one nips a man on his arm, leg or bosom he can pinch the spot and rub it with his fingers. But when a brutal flea fastens between his shoulders about eight inches below the top of his collar, his unaided hands are of no use and he must have a "back scratcher" instantly or become a gibbering idiot. This "back scratcher" consists of a small hand carved from ivory, with the fingers bent over like the teeth of a rake, the hand being fastened to a slender ebony or rubber wand about eighteen inches in length. Several "back scratchers" hang as useful ornaments in every fashionable parlor in San Diego; and no dinner is considered complete without a "back scratcher" at each plate. It is regarded as an almost indispensable moral agent, since it has abolished ninety per cent. of the profanity of southern California.
 An Ogden man who returned disgusted recently, has presented the Standard with his family "back scratcher," which was so necessary there but is useless here. It will be kept on exhibition at this office for a few days; and the public is cordially invited to examine it and give it a trial.
 It has been stated to us as an actual fact by an eastern man, who was befuddled into buying some property in southern California, that one-half the supposed real estate was "soil." When he picked up a handful of "soil" to examine it, he had to look quick or it crawled away from his hand and scattered over his person. It is truly no figure of speech to say that a man who buys land there "gets bit."
