The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

THERE is a rumor in London that a woman is at the bottom of Parnell's prosecution, and the Times has obtained from her all its information. There is a belief that she forged the Parnell letter.

WHEN millions of grasshoppers appeared near St. Paul, Minn., threatening the total destruction of crops, a reward of a $1 a bushel was offered for their arrest and detention. This is an instance where a glut in the market enhances the price.

THE Czar of Russia is a great fisherman, and he has just bought in Finland a tract of land with a river swarming with salmon. His imperial wife is also a fair fly caster, and can manage a wicked fish with ease shad at Astoria

THE San Francisco Examiner says wherever you find a man who is profiting by a trust that is skinning the people, you will find a man who is supporting Harrison and Morton. This is the first intimation we've had that senator standard oil Payne of Ohio, was supporting the Republican nominees.

THE thing needful to be understood is that this is a country in which a man is perfectly free to aid in making the law, perfectly free to obey it, perfectly free to depart to other countries, and perfectly certain to be punished if he choose to stay here and disobey the law. That is the lesson that needs learning just now.

CONGRESSMAN Beckinridge, Democrat, speaking of the campaign just opening, says: "Each side realizes the fact that this is to be a fight of principle, not stinging declarations. If we are defeated it will mean that the mass of the people prefer high taxes. If we win it will mean tha tthe Mills' bill as a preliminary step to free trade is all right. It is a victory or a Waterloo for the Republicans; it it is a victory or a twenty years set back for us."

ADMITTING for argument's sake that the sugar duty is protective, the people are taxed $60,000,000 a year upon a necessity in order to "protect" an industry whose total annual product is $6,000,000. And it is not a new industry which promises a vast growth under the the tariff and great benefits in the future, but both it and a question as to the duty are old, and the product of the article is scarcely half what it was thirty years ago, although the consumption of it has immensely increased. The people could better afford to have sugar put upon the free list and give them as a gratuity, $6,000,000 a year to maintain the planters in splendid idleness. If we accept gave the thin girls an air of seeming the theory that unnecessary taxation is stoutness, and it was used to make Drug Store. simple robbery, the people would save over $50,000,000 by this transaction and avoid the dangers of the surplus.

Last Tuesday was "pardoning day" with Gov. Pennoyer, and he commuted the sentences of two penitentiary prisoners. One of the cases is, let us hope, an unusual one. It was fall apart. For years the bustle has that of one John M. Culp, who was sentenced on December 14th, 1884, by the circuit court for Douglas county to serve a sentence of twelve years for manslaughter. And now, when nearly four years of the senwhen nearly four years of the sen-tence is served, the leading witness whose testimony sent Culp to prison, she has wiped the bustles off the comes forward and makes affidavit fashion plates. Indeed, it is really that he "testified falsely." It certainly seems that even the modified, lax style of "justice" that we administer here should take cognizance of this matter and put this creature in his victim's place in the penitentiary for at least the same time that the unfortunate Culp had already served. Culp evidently was not culpable.

Some years ago a musical entertainment of some note was given in the city of Raleigh, North Carolina. The Biblical Recorder, then brilliantly edited by brother John H. Mills, sharply criticised the performance. The musical director, we believe, undertook the perilous task of replying to brother Mills in the Recorder, and, in the course of his reply, said that the music was better than the editor could have produced. The editorial rejoinder was crushing: "Our correspondent's statement is true but irrelevant. All the grocers in Raleigh could not together produce one egg; but there is not a grocer of them who is not a better judge of eggs than any hen in Wake county." This has always struck us as one of the keenest, neatest and most exhaustive repartees that we ever read.

A PRESIDENTIAL TRIP.

A Mystery In a Small Chicago Hotel-

(SPECIAL TO THE ASTORIAN.)

STAPLETON, New Jersey, July 26.-Joseph F. Stickney's steam yacht Sus-quehanna left this morning for Adams express Co's pier Jersey city, where president Cleveland and wife, were to board her, for a four days cruise as guests of Mr. Stickney. The trim yacht was covered with bunting from stem to stern, great secrecy was observed, about the president's plans. The employes of the White house are under special instructions to say nothing on the subject. From other sources however it was learned that the president and postmaster-general would take a short yachting trip from New York, in company with a few friends who would join them at this city.

The trip would last two or three days. The president said before leav-ing that he would be at the White house again on Tuesday morning. Mrs. Cleveland and Mrs. Folsom were to leave the party at New York and continue on to Marion, Mass., where and grace. But the Czar never caught they remain several days, probably as guests of Mr. Gilder, the editor of the Century magazine. Secretary Whit ney intended to have accompanied the president but gave up the trip at the last moment.

The gas in the room had been blown ont instead of turned off. It was first thought that Henderson had climbed on a chair and extinguished the light in the primitive way absent-mindedly or because he was intoxicated. The fact howas Henderson was represented to possess, should put up at a compara-tively inferior out-of-the-way place, created suspicion. Then it was stated that Henderson was himself the proand would be extremely unlikely to unthinkingly blow out the gas. The dry as dust to many people—getting up early, working hard all day, earncide are evolved. Henderson re-mained in a comatose state for hours, would recover.

The Bustle Banished.

"The rise and fall of the bustle is far more interesting to women of the present day than any topic that can be discussed," said the head of the dressmaking department of a large store in this city or Saturday. store in this city on Saturday. "My, how the bustle did rise. It grew like a watermelon under a hot summer sun. Indeed it was beginning to be a blessing. Then it is so odd that the president's wife should take the matter in hand. But she has done so. Bustles are only good for masks to be used by the small boys at base ball matches now.

It made is the leading photographer of this city the dear creatures appear like miniature camels. And the way the girls would shake themselves, oh, my! Why, they looked as if they would been growing smaller. The greatest proportions it ever reached was when it topped the bushel basket. Now it is a very modest affair, and looks like a small sized rat-trap. By next fall it will be gone entirely.

"What is to take the place of the bustle? I will show you. It is sim-ple effective and cheap. A set of reeds are to be sewed into the back of the skirt. They are of graduated sizes, and make the dress set well. It improves the hanging of the skirt, and is very simple. So nature is to have a chance again; the bustle has been banished."

as Gen. Knickerbocker used to sing in his topical song in the Little Tycoon. But the bird cage is doomed. It must go. Dolly Vardens went, Gainsborough hats went, and so does everything of that sort. People are continually panting for something new. The bustle had its uses. It gave the thin girls an air of seeming.

Trial buttle, from this dreaded discase, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of Consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and using according to directions, upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a Cough, a Cold, a Sore Throat, a Chest or Side Pain. Taken thus early a cure is guaranteed.
