

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1888.

A BIRDFEEDER, Me., family had breakfast for supper the other night, and while saving away on a piece that seemed tougher than usual one of the family found an army and navy cent firmly imbedded in the meat. It is supposed that the cent was shot into the ox, and that the wound had afterward healed.

THE total area under cultivation in corn, wheat, rye and oats in the United States this year is about 140,000,000 acres, or nearly 219,000 square miles. This is less than half the 322,000,000 acres of public lands which have not yet been surveyed, much of which is well adapted to the cultivation of the cereals. The crop possibilities of this country are far from having reached their maximum.

AN OLD SHIP SOLD.

The Highlander Disposed of at a Good Price.

New York, Sept. 3.—The ship Highlander, that for three years lay in San Francisco harbor waiting orders, and for nearly two years has been lying idle near Wall-street ferry, has been sold. The ancient ship was owned by the Stone family of Salem, Mass., great merchants in that day. But one by one their ships became unseaworthy or were lost. While the Highlander has been for sale, the old seaman, who regarded her as an heirloom of the family, set the price of $30,000 on her. This figure was laughed at, for, until two months ago, ships equally good were going begging at half that price; but the recent flurry in oil freight generally enhanced the value of appropriate shipping at this port. Many offers were made for the vessel through the ship agents, and to-day news comes of her sale at Stone's price, $30,000. The Highlander is twenty years old, but well preserved and a good carrier. Several thousand dollars' worth of repairs will have to be put on her before the insurance people will take risks, and the wharfage bill will amount to over $500.

The Highlander has been on many trips for the Stone brothers, carrying their own cargo. They would send her from here to China laden with dried apples and cloths, and Yankee notions, which were peddled out from port to port in the Celestial empire. This disposed of the captain would proceed to Manila, in the Philippine islands, where he would remain a week or so perhaps awaiting orders from Salem. The news would finally come, together with all the necessary cash. At some favorable stage of the market the captain would ashore and buy a cargo of the best Manila hemp, about 8000 bales, at bottom rate for cash, and clap on his sails for New York.

As soon as the Highlander would arrive the Stone stored the cargo, set their own price and would not sell until the market reached that figure, sometimes having to wait as long as four years. These large blocks of hemp were usually a thorn in the sides of the regular hemp men, and matters generally ended by their combination buying the lots at Stone's price. The last cargo, bought in 1886, remained in store until last June, when the hemp trust was forced to purchase it. The result was a profit to Stone of $75,000.

Great Railroad Activity.

REIDING, Sept. 3.—There is great railroad activity in southern Oregon at present. The Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line have several surveying parties working south of Lakeview. Last Wednesday a large party of Union Pacific engineers and surveyors passed through to the mouth of Pitt river, up which stream they are now at work pushing north.

Reducing the Surplus.

The disposition of the Surplus in the U. S. Treasury engages the attention of our Statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention, and that is the reduction of the Surplus Consumption. Since the discovery and introduction of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, there has been a marked decrease in the mortality from this dreaded disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of Consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and using according to directions, upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a Cough, a Cold, a Sore Throat, a Chest or Side Pain. Taken thus early a cure is guaranteed.

FRESH FASHION FANCIES.

Corded silks will be in high favor this autumn.

Dark rich failles in wallflower shades are imported.

There is less and less bustle in the world of fashion.

Directoire gowns and bonnets are becoming to tall, stately women.

A novelty in underwear is the skirt of striped lawn woven to imitate drawn-work.

The bow at the top of the parasol cannot be too flamboyant for fashion, and the richer and costlier the ribbon composing it, the better the style.

The old fashioned corded and cross-barred organdy muslin is again in high favor, as well as lace striped batiste, and chambray and Scotch ginghams as well.

Dark green rough straw hats faced with a shirring of dark green net and trimmed with drooping pink gladioli and grasses are pretty for wear during the autumn.

A very new and French fancy for waist trimming is a corselet of wide ribbons, not fitted, but held in place by pins, and ending in a knot and long end to fall over the skirt.

Waists run to extremes, either under the armpits, or as long as the moral law. But the same bodice may be made to answer for both styles by means of the wide, softly folded, empire sash.

In skirts elegant simplicity is now the effect most sought, though many with elaborate drapery and all manner of folds and frillings are still seen on those whose hearts are still deceived by ornament.

Short petticoats coming just below the knee are worn by many ladies in place of the chemise, and are trimmed with tucks and lace, or an embroidered ruffle.

Among lower bonnets lately seen, one especially notable was of realistic red clover, and another of thistle and 4-o'clocks upon a foundation of twisted grasses.

Mention must be made of the handsome new mohairs and French poplins that are scarcely to be distinguished from the soft-ribbed bengalines and other colored silks.

India pongee grows more and more the rage, and is used indifferently for gowns, hats, wraps or blouses, which are usually trimmed with a sharply contrasting darker hue.

Many of the latest toilets for bridesmaids are quaint and old-fashioned in effect, and many toilets of this description made by London modistes are modeled after dresses popular in the sixteenth century.

Rarest rose pink, several delicate shades of green, rosy lilac, and yellow are the tints in high vogue for summer toilets at the various fashionable resorts. Some of these have short skirts and others demi-trains.

Habitues of the theater will mourn the intelligence that the Alpine and Spanish hats with high-peaked crowns and standing brims threaten to be popular this winter.

French walking skirts are two and one-half yards round the bottom with fitted front and side gores and yoke at the back breadth is gathered, and have either a hem with trimming put fall below it or lace trimmed flounce set upon the skirt.

There is still a rage for plaids, and their reign is likely to prove a longer one than was at first prophesied—extending at least through the fall and winter seasons. Plaided surahs combined with cashmere or Henrietta cloth are made up in many stylish ways, long effects being particularly popular.

There are any number of fancy straw bonnets for the coming autumn, made in colors, mixed or not, to tone with the new tweeds and bright chevrons which are made into tailor walking and traveling costumes. The shape of these bonnets is rather small.
