An old river man informs the Portland Telegram that the government will never open up the Columbia river channel; it is too low. He says there is no more water in the channel now than when he came to Portland, sixteen or seventeen years ago.

The amount of patent medicine that is consumed is astonishing. We saw a little boat loading for a settlement a few miles from here, last week, and among the cargo were four large boxes full of patent medicine, shipped from eastern manufacturers.

There is but little new to report regarding railroad matters except that E. A. Taylor has resigned the secretaryship. The directors, at their last meeting, balloted several times, unsuccessfully, to elect his successor; the vote each time standing, E. C. Holden, four, H. G. Smith, four.

The American ship T. F. Oakes was libeled last Tuesday by deputy U. S. marshal Roberts, on the suit of Messrs. Rafferty and Organ, two of the crew, who have filed a libel in the United States court against the ship and captain to recover wages in the sum of $100, which amount they claim to be due each of them.

During the past year there have been filed with the secretary of the state 242 articles of incorporation. Of this number October furnished 22, November 23, December 19, January 22, February 16, March 21, April 20, May 29, June 20, July 17, August 23, September 12. In September 1887, the number filed was 12.

Lieut. Edward Barr, U. S. A. engineer corps, in charge of the works at the government Cascade locks, reports lively times up the river. He has 140 men at work already, and will increase the number rapidly, and will be progressing favorably, and work is pushed forward energetically until high water drives them out.

The Geo. W. Elder is due from San Francisco to-day or to-morrow with the following passengers: Geo. Thulter, J. T. Nolter, J. H. Farney, J. Sayer, J. H. Bashford, Miss K. McGrath, J. B. Barber, H. Schweder, J. T. Shaw, Annie Blue, J. Harris, M. Telspur, J. W. Bervidge, P. H. Johnson, J. Curlow, F. Holcomb, J. Hawes, J. T. Wernbe, A. P. Swenson.

George Guistin, who has several men employed in fishing in the vicinity of Tacoma reports to the Oregonian that a day or two since when he was over there at one haul of one of his nets six tons of sea trout, as they are called, were caught. People who came along were given all they wanted and Mr. Guistin salted a lot and still many were wasted, although the lead line was lifted and many allowed to escape. It is the general opinion that these so called trout are young salmon.

State superintendent E. B. McElroy is now engaged in the work of preparing a school teacher's register, which will conform to the blanks and public school system of the state, the use of which will be made obligatory in every school district in Oregon. He has also placed in the hands of the state printer the copy for a compendium of information to the county superintendents, giving them information in regard to the keeping of the county superintendent's register issued from his office last spring, and other instructions of a useful character.

During the month of September, '88, there was a rainfall of 2.32 inches. In September, '87, the rainfall was 4.82 inches; in '86, 4.33 inches; in '85, 4.33 inches; in '84, 6.32 inches; in '83, but that's far back enough. It was a dry September. There was only one foggy day in the whole month. There were no frosts, no high winds; the highest temperature was 80° on the 25th, the lowest, 49° on the 19th and 22nd. The prevailing direction of wind was southwest; its highest velocity was 24 miles—northeaster—on the 14th and 25th. The mean barometer was 29.988; nothing mean about that.

James McGrath, Peter Treganasi and H. Nelson were drowned last Monday morning while fishing off Arch rock. The fishermen who reported the matter to the authorities says that their boat capsized in the swell just after the steamer Queen of the Pacific passed it. The fisherman was a quarter of a mile distant in his boat, and before he could reach the men who were struggling in the water, they had disappeared. A telegram from point Bonita says the Queen of the Pacific stopped and picked something up, but from the fisherman's statement it is not likely that any of the men were saved.

Upon her arrival from Portland yesterday afternoon the Telephone was about to land bow on at her dock. The bell had been rung to stop, and the jingle bell to reverse; two bells were pulled to back, but only one sounded, the boat going ahead, bumping into the piles on the end of the Canby's dock, and hit the Canby's smashing blow in the bow, flattening out the latter's nose and doing a little damage to the bow of the Telephone. Just astern of the Canby was the R. R. Thompson, which received a rap from the Canby when struck by the Telephone. There was a lively scampering when the bows of the Canby and Telephone collided, but no one was hurt, and there is some resultant damage. It was an unavoidable accident, one of the kind that may not occur again for ten years.

Regarding the recent sudden death of Mrs. Dr. G. J. Hill, of North Yakima, W. T., it is learned that the deceased lady had been suffering from a severe attack of neuralgia, from which she could find no relief. In the absence of her husband she went, as was her custom, to his medical chest and took a dose of morphine to relieve pain and put her to sleep. The first dose not sufficing, she took a second and went to sleep. The doctor returning late from his round of visits was pleased to find his wife asleep, thinking she was better. He turned in by her side and slept soundly until morning, when he was awakened by their little three-year-old boy, who complained that he could not awaken "mamma." It did not take the doctor long to realize what had happened. Frantic with grief he speedily secured all the medical talent available, and everything possible was done to snatch the doomed woman from the jaws of death, but to no purpose.

One of the fossilized absurdities and inconveniences of our time is the ungentle use of the book or magazine. The trimming of each book can be done by a machine in the fractional part of a minute. The reader is now required to do this part of the publisher's unfinished work. The custom is almost "Early English" in its origin, and dates as far back as the time when the Englishman hadn't many printed books, and was so proud and careful of his periodical as to want it sent him with the leaves uncut as a proof that no one had read it before him. Two hundred and odd years ago it was a "big thing" to have any kind of printed matter, and books were then regarded with actual reverence. But the uncut leaf is one of the many barnacles of custom and usage we stagger under and endure, along with the idea still current with a class that a woman has had no head for business, or that a man can learn no new art, trade or profession after fifty.

A CHAPTER ABOUT DOCTORS.

Right here and now THE ASTORIAN rises to remark that it is not fair, nor right, to call a disciple of Esculapius "Doc." Call him doctor or don't call him at all. It knocks all the dignity out of a man to cut him off with a bob-tailed "Doc." Doctors have enough of annoyance and bother without being whittled down that way. Talking of doctors, it is not likely that there is a more overworked and thankless lot than that of a doctor. When a doctor pulls you through and saves you from joining the majority, your first impulse is one of Heaven-born gratitude. (That is the time for the doctor to bring in his bill). "God bless you, doctor, you've saved my life." Three weeks after: "Oh, yes,—this is your bill, is it? All right, I'll look it over." Three months after: "Look here, Doc; good God! seems to me that's a pretty steep bill of yours." And the doctor who devoted all his skill, time, energy and effort to save the man from dying has to stand around and defend himself and explain about his bill. First the man has the doctor save his life and then tries to beat him out of the cost, thus illustrating the value he puts on it.

Of course there are doctors and doctors, but there are very few doctors that charge more than their services are worth. It's funny to see how men will dodge paying a bill that they justly owe. A certain physician of this town had been remarkably assiduous in medical attendance on one man, and after a tussle with Death, by skill and science and main strength had managed to get his patient out of bed. Three months after he brought in his bill. He got a few dollars; his visits to that family were no longer called for; a year after he got a few dollars more, on account. Finally, after three years he ventured to suggest that he would like a little on account. "Well, Doc," said the man, "I've had a heap of sickness in my family lately, and I've been so busy paying doctor's bills, I've got no money. You'll have to wait."

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only one form of disease in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvellous.

Advance in Flour.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 2.—Flour has advanced here $2 within two months, and it is predicted that it will touch $10 a barrel. Pillsbury, head of the largest steam mill in the world, said: "We have quite a little squall in prices, but that is nothing to the cyclone that is coming later."

The Y. W. C. T. U. will give their first social on Friday evening, at the residence of Mrs. W. V. Parker. Several unique and novel features will be introduced during the evening's entertainment. All are cordially invited to attend.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA.

News Notes From the National Capital.

The Samoan Difficulty a Serious Matter.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The steamer State of Georgia, which sailed from New York Sept. 20, for Glasgow, has not yet arrived. Much anxiety is felt.

GOING TO STRIKE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The North Side street car conductors and drivers decided this morning to strike on Saturday morning. Seven hundred men are involved with a probability of a thousand more on the West Side. If they all strike two-thirds of the residents of the city will have to walk.

A WHOLESALE ARREST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—The police raided Platt's hall, on Montgomery street this afternoon where, it is alleged, a gambling scheme, known as "clock game," has been in operation for some time. About two hundred persons were in the hall at the time, and the police quickly closed the doors and placed them all under arrest. They were then taken to the old city hall station and those who were able to furnish bail were released.

A WILD DAY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The full force of the Chicago wheat manipulations struck the New York market this morning like a thunderbolt. The market closed last night with December at $1.11 and opened at $1.14. May deliveries from last night's close at $1.12, advanced to $1.14 on the first movement. Everybody ran wild. All other interests on the floor were temporarily neglected. December soon touched $1.17. May, $1.20; operators acted more like Indians than civilized beings, and a general buying movement was set in by all parties, the foreign house included. They generally expressed fear that the December and October would be cornered by northwestern millers, who are all bullish.

1:20 P. M.—Wheat stands at the highest of the day with continued wildness in trading. Everything is all right, with no more failures.

THE SAMOAN EMBROGGLIO.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—A Washington special says the Samoan trouble has reached a point which makes its satisfactory settlement a matter of very great concern to the United States, and most careful attention is now being paid to it by our government. President Cleveland has recently taken hold of the subject, and there is reason to believe that it will soon be laid before the cabinet for consideration.

The recent course of Germany in carrying off the Samoan king and setting up an insurgent in his place, certainly appears to be a flagrant violation of the agreement between that government and Great Britain and the United States that the autonomy of the Samoan island shall not be disturbed. The Samoans have revolted against the king set up by Germany and had him and his party cooped up in the capital. It is easy to see that complications more serious than any that have gone before may follow the present situation, and there is a strong feeling here. It is time for the United States to take some decisive steps toward curbing Germany's aggressions. The continued independence and neutrality of the Samoan islands is of high importance to the government, especially because the islands lie practically in the track of all vessels using either of the projected isthmian canals. Opinions are divided as to the best course for the government to adopt, but from what can be learned in the state department circles a move of some kind may be expected soon, and it may not be in the direction of consenting to any further aggressive violations of Germany's agreements.

THE WHITE PASHA.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Sir Francis de Winton, president of the Emin Bey relief committee, says that further reports this week from Khartoum have convinced him that captain Van Gele was mistaken in his assertion that he was the White Pasha that had been reported by pilgrims. The news which has been received by the Emin Bey relief association, he asserts, has strengthened the opinion that the White Pasha is none other than Stanley. Europeans on the Congo, who are the people best able to judge, also still maintain that the White Pasha is Stanley.

A VOTE OF CENSURE.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The British cabinet will resume its councils about October 10th. Immediately upon the opening of parliament Gladstone will call attention to the evictions in Ireland and will propose a vote of censure on Balfour.

FOSTER'S WHEREABOUTS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—There is a rumor that W. R. Foster has been located in Canada, also that counsel has gone to attempt a settlement and secure part of the money secured on bogus mortgages.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. G. Herrick & Co. of Shelbyville, N. C.—Get a free trial bottle at W. E. Dement & Co's Drug Store.
