WOOD CHOPPER TO BANKER.

How One of Portland's Millionaires Made His First Start.

He Came Here a Poor Boy—Slept in the Woods in This City—Made a Raise at Oregon City.

Calling at the office of the Commercial National Bank a day or two since, a reporter of the Oregonian found the president of the bank, Hon. D. P. Thompson, for a wonder, at leisure and ready for a chat. The reporter wished to inquire about a matter pertaining to the early history of the city and asked Mr. Thompson how long it was since he came here.

"It is just thirty-five years the 12th of this month since I landed here in company with a man named Coon Easter," said Mr. Thompson. "We had our blankets with us and we went back about two blocks from the river and made our bed and slept under a big log, just about where this bank stands. It rained like blazes, but the log kept the rain off us and we slept very comfortably."

"The next morning I went up to Oregon City on a boat, commanded by Capt. 'Dick' Williams. When I landed there I had not a quarter of a dollar. I had an order from Mr. R. R. Thompson on Col. John McCracken for $40, which I presented. The colonel was extremely polite, as he always was, but he had no ready money. I proposed to take half the face of the order and finally got down to $2.50, but the colonel had no money."

"I inquired how long he had been in Oregon City, and he replied 'a year or two.' I told him if I had been there that long and could not borrow money enough to cash an order I would hang myself."

"I found out afterward why he did not care to pay the order. He had purchased the Island mills from Mr. Thompson in 1852, and had made a large payment. In the winter of '52-'3 the warehouses at the mill had been swept away, with a lot of wheat, and he found that he would be unable to pay the balance due Mr. Thompson and must sacrifice what he had already paid. So if he paid me anything it would have been merely throwing the money after what he had already sacrificed. I did not blame him after I knew the facts and he told me he had to borrow $10 to get out of Oregon City. I was mighty mad and did not speak to him for over fifteen years afterward. However, years after we talked the whole matter over and had a hearty laugh about it."

"Things looked rather blue. So I walked up on the bluff and took a view of the country. There I met a stranger and asked him if he knew where I could get anything to do."

"He said that he did not, and that he was looking for a job himself. I asked him if he had any money, and he said not a cent. He remarked that he knew a man at Canemah, Capt. John McClosky, who wanted 200 cords of wood cut. I inquired whether he had ever cut any wood, and he replied, 'Not a cord.'"

"I said I had never cut any either, but we could take that job and get away with it if we had any tools. The stranger said he knew a fellow in town, Tom Charman, who could help us get some tools."

"'Couldn't he let us have a little money?' I asked.

"'No,' was the reply, 'he is as bad off as we are, he hasn't got a cent.'"

"We went down and saw Charman, and he said he could get us an order for two axes, and we borrowed a crosscut saw and got some maul rings and wedges on credit, also some provision for which Charman went security, and with our blankets, tools and provisions on our backs we struck out for the tall timber, six miles up the river, and sailed in."

"We began in October and in February had the 200 cords of wood cut and earned $400."

"We burned down the trees at night and worked like the deuce all day, and became quite expert wood cutters. We borrowed a gun and one day killed a deer. The smell of this meat in camp attracted all the skunks in the country, and they would crawl into our Doing Her Share.

"So your husband sowed all his wild oats before his marriage," remarked a visitor to a Porter avenue mother of five harum-scarum small boys. "Yes, and I've been sewing tares (tears) ever since," was the reply, as the youngest of the quintet came in to exhibit the results of climbing through a barbed wire fence.—Buffalo Express.

PARENTS CRIMINALLY LIABLE.
More than half of all deaths occur before six years of age. An army of innocent, lovely children are swept needlessly away each year. Parents are criminally responsible for this. The death rate of children in England is less than half this. Acker's English Baby Soother has done more to bring this about than all other causes combined. You cannot afford to be without it.
J. W. Conn, Druggist.

Of the fast trains of the country the longest continuous run is that of 113 hours 25 minutes upon the Southern Pacific line from San Francisco to New Orleans, 2,495 miles. The average speed upon this line is twenty-two miles per hour.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Mothers and nurses may give Simmons Liver Regulator to children and to the most delicate home-bound invalid with the utmost confidence in its safety and efficacy. It saves no end of doctors' bills. Always keep it in the house, for it is a household remedy, and there are many ailments that the Regulator will cure. It is safe to take in any condition of the system. No fear from exposure after taking this medicine.

The number of children born alive in Boston in 1887 was 12,137, or 147 over the number recorded in the preceding year. The males exceeded the females by 285.

Liberated from Their Fetters
By the helpful, genial action of that most beneficent of aperients, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the bowels soon throw off the burden that paralyzed and weakened them, and resume their normal freedom of action. The action of the Bitters, unlike that of average purgatives, involves no gripping or drenching. If it did it would, like them, be valueless for ordinary use. There is nothing suggestive or unnatural attending its operation. Open the liver, no less than the bowels, its action is most benign, promoting a healthful bilious secretion, and directing out of the wrong and into the right channel. Conjointly with costiveness, other bilious symptoms disappear when it is systematically used, and the stomach is strengthened as well as regulated by it. Malarial complaints, rheumatism, debility, nervousness and kidney troubles are completely relieved by it. Sleep and appetite are invariably promoted by it.

New York is the "Empire state" of the Union, with sixty counties, and will probably cast 1,200,000 votes at the presidential election.

VERBIBLE FOREWARNINGS
Cough in the morning, hurried or difficult breathing, raising phlegm, tightness in the chest, quickened pulse, chilliness in the evening or sweats at night, all or any of these things are the stages of consumption. Acker's English Cough Remedy will cure these fearful symptoms, and is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

In 1872, for the presidential election, the total registration in New York city was 149,010. In 1876 it was 183,064. In 1880 it was 217,023. In 1884 it was 240,906. The probable total this year is 265,000.
