"CHIPPY" DRUMMERS.

What an Old Stager Has to Say About Them.

To us old-timers on the road nothing is so amusing as the "chippy" drummer. We can always tell him at sight. He may look as fly as a thoroughbred, but his baggage gives him away. He comes on his first trip with a trunk full of clothing, and when he gets on a car he is loaded down worse than an old maid who is going sixty miles. He is sure to have two valises and a satchel with a strap hanging from his shoulder. A hat box, two canes (one for every day wear and the other for Sunday), an umbrella, three railway guides, a half dozen Rand & McNally state maps, a silk traveling bag, a new novel, a pair of slippers, a rubber coat, a mohair duster, a flask and a pipe, are a few of the things which he surrounds himself with. We know him because he kicks at everything. The road is rough or crooked, or the time is slow. He notifies the conductor of the Pullman before he leaves the depot of his intention to report him. He discourses for an hour upon the extortion of the baggage master.

When he gets off at a station he refuses to pay fifty cents to the omnibus man and walks to the hotel, and swears later when required to pay a drayman seventy-five cents for hanling his baggage from the depot. He asks for the best room in the hotel and does not get it. Meet that same fellow four years later and he has dropped all his valises except one small one, and he no longer travels with canes, umbrellas, slippers, railway guides, maps, rubber coat and all that. One side of his valise will contain his samples, and all the clothing he will need for a two months' trip on the other side. He carries two suits of under clothing, two white shirts and a change of socks. When the train is sidetracked while the road is being cleared of a freight wreck, he takes a nap. When he goes into a hotel the clerk recognizes him as one of the boys and gives him the best the house affords, and then he takes a hand in having fun with the "chippies" himself.—Chicago Drummer in Globe-Democrat.

Children
Often need some safe cathartic and tonic sickness, or to relieve colic, headache, sick stomach, indigestion, dysentery and the complaints incidental to childhood. Let the children take Simmons Liver Regulator and keep well. It is purely vegetable, not unpleasant to the taste and safe to take alone or in connection with other medicine.

A Picturesque Georgia Lie.

The story is told by a resident near Rocky Ford that while the recent flood was at the highest point in the Ogeechee he was navigated around in a batteau looking after some hogs he had in the swamp. His attention was attracted to the peculiar actions of a man, who was seen to climb upon a fence, the top of which was just peeping out of the water, and then dive again, repeating this time and again. On approaching nearer he discovered that it was one of his neighbors, that worthy old gentleman, Mr. Henry Brigdon. He would dive off the fence, and for twenty yards the bubbles would rise to the top of the water as though a huge alligator was making his way along the bottom, and then he would rise and swim back deposit something in a sack fastened to the fence. On inquiry he found that old friend Brigdon was picking cotton, having a field of it there completely hid by the flood. —Sylvania Telephone.

HOW DOCTORS CONQUER DEATH.
Doctor Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Acker's English Cough Remedy were only carefully used in time." This wonderful Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

A little negro boy thirteen years old has been preaching before crowds in Perry county, Ga., and astonishing every one with his eloquence and his knowledge of the Scriptures. Frequently an audience of 1,500 people has listened to his discourses and wondered at the maturity of thought shown in his sermons.

COURTING IN AUSTRALIA.

"Our blacks," said Mrs. J. R. Reid, a native of New South Wales, "are different in type from the African. Their hair stands up wiry and bushy, like that of the Circassian women in your dime museums. In the bush they wear no clothes, but when they come in town the authorities compel them to be clad. The women object strenuously to clothing. If you give a woman a gown she will seldom put but one arm in a sleeve, letting the garment hang from her shoulders and displaying one side of her bosom. The blacks find an abundance of food, and there is thus no incentive for them to accept civilization and learn to work. The country swarms with kangaroos, walvarbies (an animal similar to the kangaroo), rabbits and birds. Then the blacks make a large part of their diet of snakes and worms. Worms they eat raw, just as they dig them from the earth. They eat snakes of all kinds.

"The blacks are not prolific, a couple seldom having three children. The women, of course, are brutally abused by the males, and kept in the most degraded state of servitude. When a black wants a wife he falls upon a young woman, chokes her so she cannot cry out, and runs with her into the brush. There he must stay with her for three or four months. He cannot return to his own tribe till the expiration of this period. When he does take her back, if she utters no complaint of hunger against him—that is, if she does not show that he has utterly failed to supply her with sufficient worms, kangaroo meat and snakes—he can keep her. But for a year he must stay out of the way of her tribe, for if they catch him they will kill him and take the young woman back. The sign of the married state adopted by the woman is the pulling out of one front tooth. When the male becomes a Benedict he indicates the joyful fact by cutting off the little finger of his right hand at the first joint. They live in low skin covered huts, and I think in every respect are beneath the North American Indian in intelligence."

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria
When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria

W. B. Bradford, agent for eight years among the Piutes and Apaches in New Mexico, is a firm believer in the doctrine that "the only good Indian is a dead Indian." He thinks it useless to spend money on them for education. The boys, he says, return from the eastern schools more full of the devil than ever, and it is not long before they are as degraded as they ever were.

Palpitation of the Heart.
Persons who suffer from occasional palpitation of the heart are often unaware that they are the victims of heart disease, and are liable to die without warning. They should banish this alarming symptom, and cure the disease by using DR. FLINT'S REMEDY. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

A soap mine has been discovered near Crawfordsville, Ga. It is said to make as good a lather as manufactured soap, and to be fully equal to it in cleansing powers. It is exactly the color of turpentine soap and has a peculiar smell.

DYSPEPSIA, DESPAIR, DEATH.
These are the actual steps which follow indigestion. Acker's English Dyspepsia Tablets will both check and cure this most fearful of diseases. Guaranteed by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

It is said that the consumption of rye flour has increased enormously since the late rise in the price of wheat flour. "Black bread" has an unfamiliar appearance upon American tables, but its wholesomeness is undoubted.

CARELESS MOTHERS.
Many mothers have permitted their children to die before their eyes when they might have been saved. Any mother who keeps house without a bottle of Acker's English Baby Soother at hand, runs a risk which she may sometime regret. It has saved the lives of thousands of children, and is doing so every year. J. W. Conn, Druggist.
