Across the Continent.

Aeross the Continent.

From the Atlantic seaboard dally journey thousands of immigrants, hosts of enterprising tourists for pleasure, occasional European seekers for material for books on America, multitudes of hardy native and foreign agriculturists and artizans, all eager, all expectant, but all unaccustomed to the new cumate of the frontier, and all unfituness protected with a medical safeguard-to encounter malaria, the chief foe to health in regions newly cleared and opened up for settlement. These western-bound travelers will find in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters the safety from malarial infection they might valuly seek from other sources. Tried in all parts of the world, under exigencies the best fitted to show its value, it has falled nowhere under the most exacting conditions. In so many lands is it in request that the demand for it may well be term-d universal, Not only malaria, but constipation, dysp-p-sia, biliousness, rheumatism, debility, nervousness and inaction of the kidneys, are thoroughly relieved by it.

"I don't say marriage is a failure," said Adam, candidly, as he sat down on a log just outside the Garden of Eden and looked hungrily at the fruit on the other side of the wall, "but if I had remained single this wouldn't have hap-

CARELESS MOTHERS.

Many mothers have permitted their chidren to die before their eyes when they might have been saved. Any mother who keeps house without a bottle of Acker's English Baby Soother at hand, runs a risk which she may sometime regret. It has saved the lives of thousands of children, and is doing so every year.
