Hustler's dock, the personal effects of a seaman who was killed last August by falling from aloft, on board the coasting barkentine Whistler, consisting of clothing of all descriptions, trunk, silver watch and chain, and various other articles.

Monday evening, while the Walruski was towing a raft from Knappa to the West Shore mills, a ring pulled out of a defective boom-chain and some eighty or one hundred logs were set adrift. Some of the stray logs were floating abreast of the city yesterday. Capt. J. H. D. Gray gives notice this morning for those securing any of the logs to deliver them to J. C. Trullinger at the West Shore mills.

Yesterday forenoon one of H. B. Parker's dray teams took a run down Main street, striking one of Dick Marion's teams loaded with merchandise from the New York Novelty store. Marion's team was hurriedly backed down between the bill board and the Sunnyside saloon to get out of the way, but they got there just in time for the runaway to strike them broadside. The horses fell down when they struck but the momentum of the dray forced the pole through Marion's load and almost carried the whole outfit over the dock.

There is a good deal of philosophy that might be applied with advantage to the worries of life by most of us, in the following remark, from the lips of a bright little five-year-old girl, whose father was getting in readiness for a three-months' trip. Alice, her older sister, was feeling badly over her father's prospective long absence, and Pearl, seeing her cry, approached her father, saying,

"What day is to-day, papa?" "Why, Friday, my dear. Why do you ask?" "Then to-morrow is Saturday, and the next day Sunday, and then comes Monday, and you are going away on Monday, papa?" "Yes, my little darling, I am sorry to say I am." "Well, then, papa, I ain't going to cry till Monday."

The local inspector at San Francisco suspended the license of Capt. Wallace, commanding the steamer City of Chester, because of his alleged responsibility for the recent collision with the steamer Oceanic. The supervising inspector of the California district reversed the action of the local inspectors, on the ground that Capt. Wallace had not been furnished, prior to the investigation, with a copy of the charges on which the suspension of his license was based. The question as to the legal necessity of such a step in cases of investigation by inspectors was referred to the solicitor of the treasury, and that officer has given an opinion that it is not necessary. The decision of the local inspectors will therefore stand.

The supreme court, through a decision of chief justice Fuller, has rendered an opinion of unusual interest to holders of life insurance policies. Thomas L. Hume, of the district of Columbia, died in 1881, totally insolvent, but leaving $35,000 in life insurance policies, that were, by their terms, payable either to the widow or children of the deceased. The administrators and creditors sought to force application of the proceeds of the policies to the payment of the debts due creditors, on the ground that the premiums paid by Hume were by a fraudulent transfer of the insolvent estate. The supreme court holds that the beneficiaries are entitled to the proceeds of all the policies, without any reduction on account of premiums paid, holding that a husband and father has a full right to insure his life in the interest of his wife and children, and where such policies are effected in the name of the beneficiaries, they are no part of the estate of the deceased insured, and therefore cannot be regarded as a fraudulent assignment of any part of the estate when so elected.

A queer experience was that of a gentleman, he shall nameless be, from the country, who came into town a few days ago. He had accumulated quite a little sum of money by hard toil and saving, and felt that his season of abstinence was an excuse for a little indulgence. So he rented a room and prepared to do the town. He first got him a watch and chain, Saturday evening, and then proceeded to inspect the various art galleries in the city, and returned to his room at a late hour. But this was just a primer for him, he had had a little taste of fun, and he was bound to have more. However, he had presence of mind enough on Sunday evening to leave his watch and most of his money with a prominent business man, and took only enough money along to pay his traveling expenses. Where he went or what he did, is useless to tell. But some time in the night a young fellow was kind enough to take him back to his room where he stayed with him till morning returned, some time in the morning. He woke up with a feeling of apprehension and felt under his pillow for his money, etc. It was not there; he was robbed there was no one there but the young fellow, who had been lurking in the room. With a wild and murderous eye he accused him of the theft. One look was enough for the object of suspicion; he turned and loped down stairs just in time to escape a bullet from a pistol at hand on the table. Our friend concluded his best plan was to see the chief of police. Barry found the man that was shot at and also that he was innocent of any theft, and that the money and the watch had been left with somebody, but our friend couldn't tell, nor could he tell for certain who he was himself. It was a hard case and little clue, but Barry traced the business up and found where he had left his watch and money and pocket book, in which his name was written. When he saw his own name where he had written it himself, he was one of the tickledest men you ever saw. When he goes on another voyage he will wear a tag so he can identify himself without the aid of the chief of police.

Death of Mrs. Elizabeth Brown. Mrs. Elizabeth Brown died quietly and peacefully at her home in this city, last evening at 10 o'clock, aged 84 years, 6 months and 24 days. She was familiarly known as Aunt Betsy to a large circle of acquaintances. She was a sister of Mrs. M. Nowlen, of this city, and mother of Mrs. W. H. Twilight and Mrs. D. C. Ramey, of Knappa. She leaves a large number of relatives and friends in this city who will miss her kindly face and mourn her death.

Vaccinate! Vaccinate! The best guarantee against small-pox is vaccination. If all the people in Astoria, men, women and children, had been vaccinated with good reliable virus, we might laugh at the smallpox. The city ordinance requires the health officer to vaccinate free of charge, all who are unable to pay; the health officer is prepared to vaccinate all who desire it.

Mrs. David West, of Westport, has been quite ill, but is somewhat better.

E. W. Tallant and wife who have been absent from Astoria for over three months are expected home today.

M. Studzinski returned from Knappa yesterday. He is master of several languages; but with the assistance of all of them he could not find adequate expression for his disappointment and disgust. He waded in the mud, crawled through the brush, was impaled on the dreaded "Devil's walking stick," forded creeks, lost his way, and finally got back half drowned and exhausted.

More Railroad For Seattle.

SEATTLE, W. T., Nov. 19.—Articles of incorporation were filed today for the Seattle & Northern Railroad Co., by the following incorporators, many of whom are well known throughout the United States: Elijah Smith and W. H. Holcomb, president and general manager respectively, of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Co.; James H. Benedict, Charles F. Tagg, John S. Tilney, Prosper W. Smith, E. L. Frank and E. S. Hooley, of New York; T. J. Milner, superintendent of the O. T. Co.; J. C. Haines and Harry Tibbals, Jr., of Seattle. Capital stock, $5,000,000, divided into 50,000 shares. Lines are to be built by this company as follows: Main line from Seattle north to Skagit river; then three branches, one eastward to Spokane Falls by the easiest route; another westward to Fidalgo island, where the company owns valuable harbor property and 3,000 acres of valuable coal lands. The third branch continues on to Skagit river to Blaine, on the line of the boundary. The lines will traverse a country immensely rich in mineral, coal and timber.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that every one, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and it allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boscchee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

Towage Service Criticized.

Incoming shipmasters at the river's mouth are disposed to criticize the towage service for the practice of giving outgoing vessels the preference over those which are waiting to come in. One of them stated to a reporter yesterday that he was kept waiting on his arrival here for two or three days, while no less than four ships were taken out to sea. Meanwhile a strong landward wind was blowing and the ship in imminent danger of going ashore, though standing at a proper distance out. "In other ports," continued the gentleman, "the opposite rule is observed, and a ship standing outside the harbor is brought in at once, in preference to those which are safely at anchor in the harbor. This practice should be instituted here."—Oregonian, 20.

"After Swinburne."

"Mine eyes to my eyelids cling thickly. My tongue feels a mouthful and more. My senses are sluggish and sickly. To live and to breathe is a bore. My head weighs a ton and a quarter. By pains and by pangs ever split, Which unaided washings with water. Believe not a lie."

After Swinburne these lines may be a long way after for that matter, but what a description of the man whose bowels are constive, liver disordered, blood out of sorts. Such an individual needs Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. They are pleasant to take and powerful to cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all those peculiar weaknesses incident to females.

Children Cry at Pitcher's Castoria

Scatched 28 Years

A Sealy, Itching, Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $200 (two hundred dollars) and a immense amount of suffering and disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my sufferings were endless, and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but I feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was incurable, some ring-worm, psoriasis, etc. I took..... and..... Sarsaparilla over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and so-cure. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of CUTICURA, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP. If you have been here and said you would have cured me for $200.00 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two, "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through foresting of my hands over my arms and legs once in a while, but to no purpose, I am all well. I scatched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it. DENNIS DOWNING, WATERBURY, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1887.

Sneezing Catarrh.

The distressing sneeze, sneeze, sneeze, the acrid, watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the itching, burning, smarting, causing choking sensations, cough, ringing noises in the head and splitting headaches, how familiar these symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of CUTICURA MEDICATED SOAP CATARRHIL will afford instantaneous relief. But this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh gives but faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic forms, where the breathing is obstructed by choking, purid, mucous accumulations, the hearing affected, smell and taste gone, throat ulcerated and hacking cough gradually fastening itself upon the delicate system. Then comes the marvelous curative power of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE manifests itself in instantaneous and gradual relief. Ours begins from the first application. It is rapid, radical, permanent, economical, safe.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHIL SOLVENT and an IMPROVED INHALER; price, $1.
