

The Oregon Shrimp Beds.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Thomas Henderson, an old fisherman of Stoughton, Conn., who is in this city, says as regards beds of shrimps and codfish on the Oregon and Washington coasts: "I am not of a particularly avicious disposition; nevertheless I am going up to sound those shrimp beds, and if I find them as extensive as reported in the few lines devoted to the cruise of the Albatross on her return a few weeks ago, I shall go into the shrimp business. The Albatross, if you remember, reported the virtual finding of these beds. Her officers set forth that the beds are not only numerous, but that they were very extensive. They said that near Coos bay, Yaquina bay, Shoalwater bay and on up toward the Straits of Fuca there were beds where shrimps existed in such quantities as had never before been known. I have looked into this business considerably. There is money in shrimps, if you can get them in such great beds, and I represent men who can come to the front with all the means necessary to make it a success."

A Communication.

EDITOR OF THE ASTORIAN: There having been some little controversy between Mr. Ole Settem and myself through the Pioneer, I wish through your columns to state that in my reply to the first statement of Mr. Ole Settem, I gave the true statement of the case, and I will here again say I have no time asked for subscription for my church without having presented my subscription paper, and anyone can have the privilege of examining the list as to who have put their names upon it, as they are all there in the handwriting of the contributors, under the heading before published. We are grateful for all aid rendered, and the church building is the evidence we have to give as to the use to which we put the money collected. Not wishing to prolong the discussion in this public way longer, I most respectfully refer all who want to know what and where the true facts are to Mr. Christanson, as he is better able to state them than any third person to the transaction in question. J. W. JACOBSON. Astoria, Nov. 24, 1888.

A. O. U. W. Complimentary Resolutions.

At the meeting of Seaside Lodge, A. O. U. W., a committee appointed to draft complimentary resolutions to Industry Lodge No. 8, of Portland, presented the following, handsomely inscribed by Frank L. Parker in ornate letters on vellum and enclosed in a handsome gilt frame: WHEREAS, Seaside Lodge No. 12, A. O. U. W., having been most royally entertained by Industry Lodge No. 8, upon the occasion of our recent fraternal visit to Portland, October 15, 1888; and

WHEREAS, Fraternity is one of the chief tenets of our order, at all times to be considered one of the strongest links, binding us together as members of a great brotherhood of mankind, causing us to feel like children of a common parent; therefore be it Resolved, That to our brothers of Industry Lodge No. 8, A. O. U. W. of Portland, Oregon, we tender our sincere and fraternal thanks, for the kindness and courtesy extended to us as a Lodge upon this occasion, and that we shall cherish a recollection of the incidents of our trip to Portland, as long as memory shall hold a place in her earthly tabernacle with any one of us.

Resolved, That a copy of this preamble and resolution be suitably inscribed, framed and presented to Industry Lodge No. 8, with compliments of Seaside Lodge No. 12, of Astoria, Oregon.

Respectfully submitted in C. H. P. L. E. SELLIS, S. T. MCKEAN, JOHN RYDER. Attest: W. B. ROSS, Recorder.

Who Is Your Best Friend?

Your stomach, of course. Why? Because if it is out of order you are one of the most miserable creatures living. Give it a fair, honorable chance and see if it is not the best friend you have in the end. Don't smoke in the morning. Don't drink in the morning. If you must smoke and drink wait until your stomach is through with breakfast. You can drink more and smoke more in the evening and it will tell on you less. If your food ferments and does not digest right, if you are troubled with Heartburn, Dizziness of the head, coming up of the food after eating, Biliousness, Indigestion, or any other trouble of the stomach, you had best use Green's August Flower, as no person can use it without immediate relief.

The Fish Hatchery.

Fish Commissioner Thompson paid the Clackamas hatchery a visit yesterday. He reports Commissioner Reed in charge, and that everything is in fine shape. The eggs and young fish are doing remarkably well. Already several hundred thousand young fish have been turned out. The commission took charge of the hatchery on the 16th of this month. From present indications, the hatchery will turn out 4,500,000 fish this season. This will make 6,000,000 fish in two years, a very creditable showing. The season will close shortly after the end of the year. The commissioners are trying to make arrangements for distributing some of the fish into other waters besides the Clackamas. The only hitch at present is the question of expense.—Nets, 24.

Notice to Mariners.

OFFICE OF LIGHT-HOUSE INSPECTOR, THIRTEENTH DISTRICT, PORTLAND, Oregon, Nov. 23, 1888.

Notice is hereby given that on and after 1st Dec., 1888, the characteristics of the range lights at Columbia City and Elliott's landing, will be changed, so that the front light at each place will be a white light. The aforesaid range lights mark the channel across Martin's Island bar, Columbia river, and both the front and rear lights will be white lights. On the 1st Dec. the following named lights will be established: Cathlamet channel. A fixed white light, 15 feet above low water, on a white stake, ten feet from the water's edge, on the N. W. end of the upper small island, in Cathlamet channel opposite the shoal near Nagas's wharf. Cathlamet is distant 2 1/2 miles, N. W. by W. 3/4 W. Cape Horn, W. T., is distant 2 3/4 miles, E. 1/2 S. The light serves to guide vessels passing through the upper part of Cathlamet channel.

Westport Reach—Columbia river. A fixed white light, about 15 feet above low water, suspended from an arm on a tree at the water's edge, on the Oregon side of the river. Westport, W. T., is distant 2 1/2 miles, N. E. 1/2 E. The light serves to guide vessels through the Westport reach of the river. Warrior Point, Oregon. A fixed white light about 20 feet above low water, on a white tripod 15 feet high and 10 feet from the end of Warrior Point. The town of St. Helens, Oregon, is distant one mile below the light.

By order of the light house board: U. SERRER, Inspector 13th L. H. District.

Two surveying parties started out yesterday to run two preliminary lines for the Seattle & Southern railway from this city to Portland. One party will work southward from Seattle, and the other northward from the Columbia river. It is stated upon reliable authority that building operations will commence early next spring.—Seattle P.-I., 23.
