Feels good to get back. A Merry Christmas to all.

Yesterday's weather was superb. Are you on to the big wedding next Saturday night?

The banks, public offices, etc., will be closed to-day.

The steamer Gen. Miles goes to Gray's harbor to-morrow morning.

The Sewell and Willamette crossed out yesterday. The Doxford sails to-day.

By comparison with other cities Astoria looks bright, lively and full of bustle.

The small pox scare is subsiding in Portland, and only two public cases are now reported.

Special waiters for private families in separate rooms at Hancock's Christmas turkey dinner to-day.

The display of Christmas beef, mutton, etc., is enough to make a healthy man's mouth water.

For cleanliness, comfort, convenience and good fare, the Astoria hotels are the equal of those elsewhere.

The Alliance sailed yesterday afternoon; the Signal arrived in, and will leave for Portland this morning.

There is a big rush for timber land in this section. It is valuable, and will become more so in the near future.

The handsome doll at the New York Novelty store will be raffled off at 7 o'clock this evening. Interested persons will please call.

The funeral of Mrs. Jas. Scott took place last Sunday afternoon and was largely attended by sympathizing friends and acquaintances.

Beaver Lodge, No. 35, and the Sisters of Rebekah will have a Christmas tree at the lodge room this evening, to be followed by a social dance.

Open, a noted Oregon trotter, the property of McKnight Bros., of Albany, trotted a mile on the Oakland, Cal., track last Thursday in 2:20 1/4.

Sheriff Smith yesterday sold the Max Warner property, including five lots at Williamsport and lots 5 and 6, blk. 54, to Alex. Gilbert, for $337.50, a good buy.

The man who predicts the weather for this coast has made some very accurate reports this season, nearly every prophecy regarding the weather proving true.

The mail service on this coast is next to no service at all. Papers mailed at this office for San Francisco do not reach there for two weeks, and often are never heard of at all.

At two o'clock yesterday morning Wm. Humbel was attacked by a fit in front of the Occident hotel, remaining speechless for half an hour. He was removed to a place of safety and yesterday afternoon had almost entirely recovered.

The main difference between Oregon and California is that this is a better country to live in. The Al mightily does the irrigating for Oregonians, and in our sister state, man's puny efforts to compete with the Creator are unsatisfactory.

A most tastefully arranged restaurant is that of G. W. Rucker, next door to Dement's drug store. Mrs. Rucker evinces her experience by the attractive manner in which the viands are set forth, and those who go once go again. To-day there will be a fine Christmas turkey dinner at 12 o'clock. You are invited.

A man can always tell exactly how tall he is by walking through a low doorway in the dark. Next morning he can measure the height of the door, and then measure from where it struck to the top of his head, add the two together, subtract the swearing and multiply by what o'clock it was when he got home, and the result will be his net height.

The S. G. Reed, brought down a singular bit of cargo yesterday morning in the shape of some stone sinkers for buoys, weighing 5,500 pounds apiece. They came all the way from Pittsburg—rather a long way to haul rock to Astoria and pay $50 a ton freight on it when rock just as good could be had close by. The mistake was probably that while iron sinkers were ordered by the officers here, the stone article was sent.

The fleet of small steamboats which ply these waters and at stated times make their regular trips to Skipanon, Knappaon, Ilwaco and the settlements along the banks of John Day's, Lewis and Clark's, Young's and Gray's rivers, have during the last few days brought crowds of visitors to this city, who have been liberally patronizing our stores in the purchasing of Christmas presents for young and old. THE ASTORIAN wishes them all a merry Christmas.

Messrs. Surprenant & Carruthers returned yesterday afternoon from Nancy Point, where they have been making extensive repairs to Capt. Flavel's wharf, the hydraulic process having been used. The piles were driven eighteen and twenty feet. Next February the former will go to Shoalwater bay, where he will drive piles for the railroad company to eighteen feet of water, building a roadway 24 feet wide, in which will be built a wharf 24 x 100 feet.

The Hume Packing company has filed articles of incorporation in San Francisco, to pack and preserve fish; to do a general merchandising, manufacturing and transportation business, and to transact all business incidental thereto in the states of California and Oregon, and in the territories of Washington and Alaska. The capital stock is $100,000, all of which has been subscribed by the following directors: Geo W. Hume, Leon A. Maison, M. Brigenau, Jay Deming and H. J. Dows.

Everybody knows the handsome and gallant Dan O'Neil, now pursuer on the Reed, and everyone has noted the ever present button hole bouquet that he wears. On a recent visit to San Francisco, as he was about to depart he stopped at the Lotta Fountain and told an Italian flower vender to put him up some roses and violets and green stuff. The man did so, but on Dan handing him a dollar, the Italian said, "No, no, I see you on the Columbia. I know all the time you like the flower. I like a man that like the flower," and not a cent would he take. He had recognized him while salmon fishing as the man that "likes the flower."

The Ashland Record is informed that the deer skinners up on Rogue river have slaughtered 3,500 head of deer during the past season for their hides only. They follow the deer around all seasons in the mountain fastnesses in that region and make it almost impossible for anybody but experienced woodsmen to kill game on their route to the beautiful scenery of that section and Crater lake. These deer skinners are a crowd of worthless rascals and cut throats, and the people around there who can bear witness are intimidated by the fear that these fiends will seek revenge by killing their stock or destroying other property, so they are continuing year by year their criminal business without molestation.

Notice C. R. F. P. U.

The regular monthly meeting of the C. R. F. P. Union, will be held at Liberty hall, on Wednesday, Jan. 23, 1894, at 7 P. M., sharp.

All members who are in good standing, and interested in the price of salmon for the season of 1893, should attend this meeting.

A. SEEFELDT, President. A. SUTTON, Secretary.

How Men Die.

If we know all the methods of approach adopted by an enemy we are the better enabled to ward off the danger and postpone the moment when surrender becomes inevitable. In many instances the inherent strength of the body suffices to enable it to oppose the tendency toward death. Many however have lost these forces to such an extent that there is little or no help. In other cases a little aid to the weakened lungs will make all the difference between sudden death and many years of useful life. Upon the first symptoms of a Cough, Cold or any trouble of the Throat or Lungs, give that old and well known remedy—Boschee's German Syrup, a careful trial. It will prove what thousands say of it to be, the "benefactor of any home."

Card of Thanks.

I take this means of extending my thanks to the ladies, friends and brother firemen for their kindness during the sickness and last sad rites of my beloved wife. I shall always cherish a grateful remembrance of the same. Jas. Scott.

To the "Incurable" Sick!

Dr. J. B. Pilkington, Surgeon-Oculist and Medical Specialist, will be at the Occident Hotel, Astoria, all day Saturday, Dec. 23rd, 1893, and will give special free examinations to all sufferers from Eye, Ear, Nervous, Chronic or Rectal disease. Over 400 cases of Piles, Fissures, Fistulas and Rectal Ulcers cured without using knife or ligature.

I. O. O. F. Notice.

O. F. and sisters having presents for Christmas tree will leave them at hall on the morning of Dec. 25th. Doors will be open 7 P. M. Dec. 25th. Exercises to commence at 7:30 P. M. By order of N. G., Chairman of Committee

Carnahan & Co.'s show windows and counters are being filled with a very fine assortment of decorated French China of every description. Also silver and Plated ware, Carvers sets, Dinner and Tea sets. Extension and Electric Lamps. All for the holidays.

If you wish something in the line of canned vegetables, better than the ordinary brands, try the Dew Drop. Canned sweet corn, Maine Succotash, canned New Jersey pumpkin, tomatoes and Boston baked beans.

All of the Velocipedes, Wagons, Rocking Horses, Sleds and other bulky goods at the New York Novelty Store must be closed-out before Christmas, as we have no place in which to store them. They will be sold at a sacrifice. Go to Jeff's for Oysters.

MR. MOODY'S MESSAGE. A Christian Revival Last Evening.

The opera house was comfortably filled last evening to hear Mr. Moody in one of his Christian revival addresses.

After prayer and a choral service finely rendered by several ladies and gentlemen of the city, Mr. Moody announced a hymn, "God be with you till we meet again," the entire audience rising and joining in the melody.

Mr. Moody, a portly, clear spoken man about fifty years of age, announced that there would be three meetings to-day, one at 10 A. M., one at 2:30 and one at 8 P. M. Rev. A. Lecky announced that there would be a collection taken up to defray hall rent and incidental expenses, which was done, and another hymn, "Jesus, my Savior," sung. Mr. Moody then uttered a fervent prayer after which Mr. Burke sang a solo, "Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be made white as snow." Mr. Moody then cited Paul's epistle to the Galatians, "Be ye deceived: God is not mocked. Whatever man soweth, that shall he also reap." The speaker said he wanted to get that into the minds of Astorians. If any one present didn't believe the Bible, all right, let it go; say it isn't true, what are you going to do with this truth. It's a fact, whether you believe it or not. If any one got mad and went out, all right; if that truth hits any one so hard that he got mad about it, he'd do well to go out, but the text was true; it couldn't be denied.

We've all been deceived some time; if nothing else our own hearts have often deceived us, but the God of the Bible deceives no one, nor can He be deceived. But the latter part of the text he would call attention to. We all reap what we sow, the same kind and more of it. A man reaps his crop himself; wrong always comes back on the wrong doer. The man who steals your pocket book loses more than you do. All you lose is your pocket book, but he loses his peace of mind and his hopes of heaven. So with all who in greed for gain tempt their brother man. The curse comes back to all such. In God's kingdom the same crop comes from the same seed as in the natural kingdom. The question was not how good men can get to heaven, but how bad men can get there.

That's what the most of us is interested in. The story of Jacob and of David was told in proof that they reaped what they sowed. And they reaped misery a hundred times more than they sowed. So with all wrong. When we reap the wrong comes a crop a hundred times as much.

He argued that retribution is inevitable, and that there is no escape from the commission of crime, and because of that men should be careful of the seed that is sown. Consequences are something that no one can dodge.

Plain, hard, common sense prose, unwelcome truths, bluntly expressed, was the thread of his speech, on which he strung argument, advice, example, warning, anecdote, pathos and sympathy, moving many of his audience to tears, forming a most effective address.

In a straightforward way, calling things by their right names, he held his audience with marked attention, as in an essay, conversational manner he illustrated his text by examples from his rich and varied experience, and urged his hearers to bear well in mind the fact that as a man sows, so will he reap.

After an intermission, during which the choir sang the 173rd psalm, "I hear Thy gentle voice," Mr. Moody resumed his remarks, and said that ex-attorney general Williams, of Portland had been interested in Paul's epistle to the Romans, and had been impressed favorably with the promises and declarations contained therein. Mr. Moody argued that unbelief was the crowning sin of the world to-day, for unbelief was giving God the lie. The speaker held that a man is necessarily affected by what he believes, and that the first thing necessary is to believe.

In a most convincing manner he closed his address, and called for converts, and while the choir and audience sang Old Hundred, many came forward in response to the call.

Mr. Moody is worth hearing, and everybody is invited to-day.

Children Cry for Dr. Carter's Castoria

PERSONAL MENTION.

Joe. Bryce, Jr., is in the city. Mrs. Allen Noyes is in the city. Rudolph Prael is in the city for the holidays.

J. P. Dickinson is confined to his house by illness. Mrs. P. L. Cherry returned from up river yesterday.

W. E. Dement and family were in San Jose, Cal., last week. Mrs. Lamley returned from Portland yesterday morning.

Lou Allen will remain in San Francisco till March next. W. J. Strong and wife are in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Holden.

F. E. Shute has a situation on a government steamer in San Francisco. J. F. Halloran and family returned yesterday from a six weeks' sojourn in California.

J. W. Hume is in San Francisco, and may be $28,000 richer before he is any poorer.

Dwight Moody, the distinguished revivalist, was a passenger on yesterday morning's boat.

Louis McLean, night clerk at the International Hotel, of Portland, has fallen heir to $35,000.

S. Schlusel was reported very low last evening, and grave fears are entertained for his recovery.

Capt. I. Smith, the first settler in Albina, has gone to Aberdeen to take charge of the steamer Aberdeen.

Dan Priest, late of St. Paul, now of Oakland, is taking in the city. He thinks our fire department is hard to beat.

State senator J. H. D. Gray has the thanks of THE ASTORIAN for a generous Christmas remembrance of fat and juicy oysters.

J. T. Kinney, R. Hunselman, J. C. Adams and wife, H. C. Hipple and Amos Kendall went to Portland on last evening's boat.

D. P. Thompson and E. L. Smith are mentioned in connection with the speakership of the lower house of the Oregon legislature. Either gentleman would worthily and creditably fill the position.

Mrs. Clayton, of San Rafael, Cal., is in the city, the guest of Mrs. Kate Hobson. Mrs. Clayton was a former resident of this county, for many years, residing at the Seaside, at which place she will make a sojourn, returning with her daughter.

Mr. Reem Kanaga and Miss Tillie Hartwig were married at the residence of the bride's parents last Saturday evening. The bride is one of Astoria's favorite society young ladies, and the groom has an enviable reputation as a painstaking and thorough lawyer. THE ASTORIAN joins a host of friends and well wishers in tendering the young couple hearty congratulations.

Notice.

To patrons of the Columbia Water Co. We will allow no water closets or urinals to be attached to our works except self closing. And we would recommend the Detroit Sanitary closet as the cheapest and best for all. Jas. W. WELCH, Supt. C. W. Co.
