

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1889.

No one man is just like other men. Nor is any one man wholly unlike all other men. Yet many a man makes the mistake of thinking, either that every man is just like himself, or that nobody is. As a matter of fact, every person is typical of a large class of persons, while no person stands as the type of all persons.

The Earl of Onslow has been appointed by Lord Salisbury governor of New Zealand. This is the nobleman who once created such fun in Chicago while on his way to the northwest as a guest of Henry Villard. When he reached Chicago he bought a suit of warm underclothing and had the bill sent to Mr. Villard. As he traveled in Mr. Villard's private car, and all his other bills, such as hotels, wines and cigars, were paid by that gentleman, it was not perhaps unreasonable for the thrifty nobleman to think that underclothes went in the deal also. Villard paid the bill but got even with the earl by giving the story away to the newspapers.

New Hampshire has lately had a constitutional convention, which has adopted some amendments to the organic law of the state. One of the most important of these was an amendment providing that no person shall hereafter be eligible to citizenship who cannot read the constitution in the English language and write his name. Another amendment places all religious sects demeaning themselves quietly and as good subjects of the state equally under the protection of the law. An amendment providing that all civil officers be elected by a plurality instead of a majority vote was proposed but was rejected. A like fate befel an amendment providing for a division of the state into senatorial districts on the basis of population instead of on that by direct taxes paid. So an amendment providing for annual instead of biennial sessions of the legislature was rejected. An amendment fixing the salary of members of the legislature at $200 per annum was adopted, as was also an amendment changing the time of the meeting of the legislature from June to January. This latter change puts the state in line with a majority of the states as regards the time of the session.

When Johns Hopkins died at Baltimore at the end of 1873, he left to the university and hospital which he had founded six years before, what was regarded as a magnificent endowment. It amounted to more than $6,000,000 invested in favorite securities. There were included in the bequest 17,500 shares of Baltimore and Ohio railroad stock. That stock was looked upon as the safest and best of investments. It was then selling at nearly 200, and yielded a net annual income of $175,000. The value of this part of the endowment alone was set down by all Baltimore as about $3,500,000. Yet now, only fifteen years after Johns Hopkins' death, the university is in great financial difficulties. Instead of paying $175,000 a year, the Baltimore and Ohio stocks pays nothing at all. Instead of having been a good investment it was a very bad one. In the whole history of endowments there is nothing more remarkable than the outcome of Johns Hopkins' credulity with regard to this railroad. And yet he was a man noted for his business shrewdness and nobody in Baltimore except Mr. Garrett himself knew more about the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and its prospects for a permanent investment.

Congressman LeFevre's Bath.

Once upon a time congressman LeFevre was taking a bath in the senate bathrooms. While he was in the height of his tepid enjoyment and the perfumed soapsuds were redolent around his rotunda a messenger announced that there were some people who wanted urgently to see him at once. "Who are they?" called the general. "I don't know, sah," was the answer. "I think they is some constituents of yours from Ohio, sah." "Good heavens," exclaimed the general excitedly, "don't let them come near here; keep them away. If they find out in my district that I bathe in a marble tub and am rubbed down by a nigger instead of going down to the creek to wash and drying myself with my shirt, I'll lose a thousand votes." The general has never denied this story.—Washington Post.

HOUSE BILL NO. 218.

For an Act to Protect and Promote

The Fishing Industry of The State of Oregon, and to Collect Money from Certain Persons Engaged in Said Industry to be Used to Protect and Promote The Same.

Whereas, The fishing industry of this state constitutes one of its greatest sources of wealth; and Whereas, Said industry is fast decreasing by reason of the lack of proper and adequate protection, and want of proper care and means for promoting and increasing the same; and Whereas, It is necessary that large sums of money be expended to promote, protect and increase said industry; a portion at least of which should of right be drawn therefrom; and Whereas, The individuals and corporations engaged in said industry as cannerymen, dealers, preservers, shippers, speculators and dealers therein are desirous of contributing a certain per cent. of the profits of their business for the purposes above mentioned; therefore

Be it enacted by the Legislature Assembled by the State of Oregon: Section 1. That every person, persons or corporation within the state of Oregon engaged in canning, packing, preserving, dealing in, shipping from first hands for profit, or speculating in salmon or any variety of species thereof, including those catching or taking the fish used by them, shall be required to keep an accurate account of all such fish handled in his or their business during each year, and shall, on or before the first day of March and the first day of September of each year hereafter, make to the secretary of state a full and correct report of the number of each variety of salmon taken, purchased or received by him or them for the purpose of and used in canning, packing, preserving, shipping, buying from first hands for profit, or dealing in or speculating in for sale or profit, with the name of each person from whom said fish were purchased or procured, or if taken or caught by such person or corporation, the number thereof, which report shall be duly subscribed and sworn to before an officer authorized to administer an oath in this state.

Section 2. That for the purposes of this act the state shall be divided into three fishing districts, known and designated as follows: District number one to include all streams and bays included between the California state line on the south and Hecla Head on the north; district number two to include all streams and bays from Hecla Head on the south to Tillamook Head on the north; and district number three to include all district of Tillamook Head, including the Columbia river and its tributaries in Oregon.

Section 3. That every person or corporation within this state, engaged in canning, preserving, dealing in, packing, shipping, buying from first hands for profit or speculating in salmon or any variety thereof, shall pay one-half of one cent apiece for Chinook salmon and one-sixth of one cent each for steel-heads, and one-sixteenth of one cent apiece for blue-backs, and one-fourth of one cent apiece for silver-sides, taken in district number three; and every such person or corporation shall pay one-half of one cent apiece for each Chinook salmon, and one-fourth of one cent apiece for each silver-side taken in districts numbers two and three.

Section 4. That all moneys made payable or collectible by this act shall be due and payable semi-annually within thirty days after the first of March and the first of September of each year hereafter, to the state treasurer, which money shall constitute a fund to be known and designated as the fund for the benefit of the salmon industry, the money to be credited to each district respectively in proportion to the amount received from each, and appropriated as may seem proper by the legislative assembly for the benefit of the industry in the respective districts of the Columbia river and its tributaries from which it accrued only.

Section 5. That if the money made payable by this act shall not be paid when due, as specified in section 4, the same shall be deemed delinquent and the secretary of state shall certify to the respective sheriffs of the counties within which the same is due the names of all delinquents and the amount due from each, and they shall proceed and collect the amounts so delinquent from any person or corporation, with ten per cent. added for fees of collecting, in like manner as delinquent school taxes are collected under existing laws.

Section 6. That any person or any person or persons representing any corporation in any manner, who shall violate the provisions of this act, as specified in section 3, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail not less than five days nor more than six months, or by both fine and imprisonment. Any person acting as informant, in case of conviction under this act, shall be entitled to one-half of the fine imposed, and the other half of such fine shall be transmitted by the justice of the peace before whom such conviction is had, to the state treasurer, and be placed by him into the salmon industry fund and credited to the respective districts from which the conviction is had.

Section 7. That justices of the peace shall have jurisdiction to try any offence made a misdemeanor by this act.
