Cough medicines, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is in greater demand than ever. No preparation for Throat and Lung Troubles is so prompt in its effects, so agreeable to the taste, and so widely known, as this. It is the family medicine in thousands of households.

"I have suffered for years from a bronchial trouble that, whenever I take cold or am exposed to inclement weather, shows itself by a very annoying tickling sensation in the throat and by difficulty in breathing. I have tried a great many remedies, but none does so well as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral which always gives prompt relief in returns of my old complaint."—Ernest A. Hepler, Inspector of Public Roads, Parish Terre Bonne, La.

For Home Use.

I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults."—Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

"Twenty years ago I was troubled with a disease of the lungs. Doctors afforded me no relief and considered my case hopeless. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, before I had finished one bottle, found relief. I continued to take this medicine until a cure was effected. I believe that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life."—Samuel Griggs, Waukegan, Ill.

"Six years ago I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs and soon developed all the alarming symptoms of Consumption. I had a cough, night sweats, bleeding of the lungs, pains in chest and sides, and was so prostrated as to be confined to my bed most of the time. After trying various prescriptions, without benefit, my physician finally determined to give me Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took it, and the effect was magical. I seemed to rally from the first dose of this medicine, and, after using only three bottles, am as well and sound as ever."—Rodney Johnson, Springfield, Ill.

WANTS UNITY OF ACTION.

And Some Concentration of Effort.

ASTORIA, March 6th, 1889.

EDITOR ASTORIAN:

There has been a good deal of talk and some feeling about the railroad bridge, in the past two or three weeks.

"This I do not propose to open as there has probably been enough said.

I feel that there ought to be something done to unify this people, not only on railroad matters, but every other interest in the community.

I have a kindly word to those who have this railroad in charge. There is a sharp feeling in reference to it that has and will continue to divide this community so long as things stand as they are.

Will you not, gentlemen, sit down and coolly and deliberately and thoroughly investigate the whole matter with a view to harmonizing all interests?

If you will do this, and adopt a broad and liberal policy, I will guarantee you such a support by this whole community as will make you feel glad, and the road will go forward with a bound. If you can only make the whole people feel that they have a personal interest in the success of the road, the work is done.

Every man in this community is interested in the completion of that road. If a man has three lots he should sell one and put it into the road. If he has ten acres adjoining or near the city, he should sell five and put it into the road. If a man has a home in this county, or expects to have, if he can spare $10 he should put it into the road, and what we all have left will be worth twice or thrice what we had at first. There is no question about that. Gentleman of the management, it is in your power to bring about this state of harmony. Will you do it?

Another thing I would like to say: No great enterprise or undertaking was ever set in motion and carried to completion through barroom and street talk. Such processes are disintegrating.

They have the same effect on business life that light gossip and talking has on the social life. There must be design and system to promote healthy growth and develop undeveloped resources.

Lack of system and design is all that is wanting in Astoria today to make her take first rank among the cities of the great west.

A meets B in some barroom or on some street corner, and opinions are exchanged in reference to what ought to be done to promote this or that enterprise. B meets C in the same way and says to him, "A thinks that so and so ought to be done thus and so."

C replies that "A is an old crotchety crank, and don't know what he is talking about, has an ax to grind, wants to make himself conspicuous, this is the way it should be done," etc. And so it goes; an endless swirl of light, aimless talk is all that is visible, save a few cheap shanties occupied often by business that hangs like a dead weight on the community.

Is there some man or set of men in this town, that can step forward and bring order out of chaos.

Let the leading business men call a rousing mass meeting and let unifying speeches be made, not on any one enterprise but on the methods of promoting unison of action in everything. Let the meeting adjourn to the next night and let every one present do his best to enthrone those that were not present, and get them to turn out to the next meeting. Then let committees headed by wide awake active men be appointed, covering all the channels of business, in operation or that is likely to come into operation, such as commerce, railroads, waterways, manufactures, buildings, streets, highways, agriculture, timber lands, coal lands, subsidies, and so on throughout the whole list, then let all those committees gather all the information possible and report from time to time to the general meeting, which should be convened at least monthly.

In this way a vast store of information can be gathered and systematized so that it would be of incalculable value to strangers, and increase our knowledge of the great native wealth with which this lower county is blessed. It will turn the thoughts and efforts of the people into practical and successful channels, and make us broader and more liberal. It will strengthen the city government and make the officers feel that they have the moral support of the people. Each individual will feel that he has an interest in all that is going on. This is the spirit that pervades Tacoma, Seattle and every other live town, and it all comes from thorough organization.

I ask again, will not the business men of this place take this matter systematically in hand, and put to flight individual selfishness, that creeps into any town where no general effort is made for the public good.

Astoria has resources beyond what any of her most sanguine citizens have imagined, should these resources remain undeveloped, for the want of united action?

W. HAMPTON SMITH.

As a toilet luxury, Ayer's Hair Vigor cannot be equaled. It is highly perfumed, and keeps the scalp clean and cool.

Going Into Business.

NEW YORK, Mar. 5.—The name "Grover Cleveland," in big gold letters, is painted on the window at 45 William street, with the names of Bangs, Stetson, Tracy and McVeagh. Cleveland is expected by his partners to resume his law practice immediately.

Nothing equals Ayer's Sarsaparilla for purifying the blood, and as a spring medicine.

New England is regarded almost exclusively as a manufacturing section; but within its limits $350,000,000 are invested in agriculture, and the value of the annual farm products is placed at $45,000.

Doubt Brightening into Hope.

A hope into certainty is the pleasing transition through which the mind of the nervous, dyspeptic invalid passes who tries a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is alike incomparable and inimitable. Inevitably a gain in weight, tranquillity of the nerves, sound appetite and sleep are among the blessings which it is within the beneficent power of this medicine to confer, and it is not surprising that after acquiring this new dowry of health the grateful sick should sometimes utter their praises of the Bitters in terms bordering on extravagance.

"Out of the fulness of the heart the mouth speaketh," and the proprietors of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have sometimes been obliged to suppress these eulogiums lest they should be accused of blowing their own trumpet too loudly. For constipation, biliousness, kidney complaint, rheumatism, the Bitters is also a deservedly popular remedy.

A notable feature of the railway extension now going on in various parts of Japan is the enormous rise in the price of land in the vicinity of proposed stations and termini.

HOW DOCTORS CONQUER DEATH.

Doctor Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Acker's English Cough Remedy were only carefully used in time." This wonderful Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

Delaware is one of the oldest states in the Union; yet its farm lands are so sparsely occupied that it has established a board of immigration with an agent in England.

BETTER THAN BLOODY BATTLES.

General Wheatcroft Nelson, says: "My experience in the English army as well as in America, convinces me that nothing so thoroughly purifies the blood or adds to health, vigor and life as Acker's English Blood Elixir." This great Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

Near East St. Louis is a place called French Village. It has 800 people, all French, including 300 farmers, and every one is well off.

Catarth Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarth, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a recipe which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren St., New York City, will receive the recipe free of charge.

There is still 15,000,000 acres of arable land in Virginia uncultivated.

DYSPEPSIA, DESPAIR, DEATH.

These are the actual steps which follow indigestion. Acker's English Dyspepsia Tablets will both check and cure this most fearful of diseases. Guaranteed by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

Signed The Bill.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—President Cleveland signed the Dolph bill for the forfeiture of certain wagon road land grants in Oregon. Under the provisions of the bill suits will be brought at once against the Oregon Central Military Wagon Road company, the Willamette Valley and Cascade Wagon Road company, and the Dalles Wagon Road company, to test the question of law and fact involved, and to forfeit their title to the lands if it is determined that the conditions of the grants have not been complied with.

FOR SPRING AND SUMMER

I am receiving direct from the factories the best values and most handsome designs in Men's imported, all wool Scotch Cheviot Suits; also in Navy Blue Flannels and Yacht Cloths, besides BOYS' and CHILDREN'S SUITS, MEN'S FINE PANTS and light weight OVERCOATS. In Soft, Felt and Stiff HATS, direct from the best manufacturers, I have obtained the latest styles and shapes, which I sell at as close a margin as can be sold, as well as any line of goods that I carry, for I do not believe in bunkum in business, such as resorting to any faking scheme as is often used by advertising a stock as bankrupt goods; an underwriter's sale; on account of removal or repairs, and selling off at cost to make room for new goods, etc., when it is merely done to force goods. The only true and honest way for merchants is to charge an honest and fair per cent. Mark his goods in plain figures, and give to each and every customer alike the same goods for the same amount of money. "One person's money is as good as another's."
