West Sixth Street Grade.
NOTICE is hereby given that the Common Council propose to alter and reestablish the grade of a portion of West Sixth street in the city of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, as laid out and recorded by J. M. Shively, as follows, to wit:
At its intersection with Water street, at a height of 12 feet above the base of grades, as established by ordinance No. 71, entitled "To establish a base of grades for the streets of Astoria."
At its intersection with Cushing's street, at a height of 21 feet above said base of grades.
At Cedar street, at a height of 33 feet above said base of grades.
At Wall street, at a height of 58 feet above said base of grades.
At A street, at a height of 114 feet above said base of grades.
And unless a remonstrance signed by the owners of two-thirds of the property fronting on said portion of said street be filed with the Auditor and Police Judge within ten days of the final publication of this notice, to wit: on or before Tuesday, April 9th, 1889, the Common Council will establish said grade.
By order of the Common Council.
Attest: T. S. JEWETT, Auditor and Police Judge. Astoria, March 14th, 1889.

A HORSE IN TROPICAL AFRICA.
Several incidents of recent African exploration call to mind the stories that were told of the early travels of white men in this country. A white man on horseback is an unusual spectacle in tropical Africa, and the animal Mr. Hodister rode a few months ago made almost as much of a sensation as the horses that Cortez introduced into Mexico. Hodister's journey was a short one, extending only from Landana on the coast to Boma on the Congo, but it led the traveler through a densely peopled region, of which little is yet known.
"My horse," he writes, "made a great sensation. At sight of him all the women in the village at first were petrified with astonishment. They stood motionless, with their eyes fixed on the strange animal. Coming to themselves at last, with hands raised above their heads, they raised the cry of 'Ho, ho, ho!' expressive of boundless astonishment. Some of them threw themselves upon the ground, smiting their breasts. Could it be, they said, that such a great beast, with a white man above him, was harmless? Such an animal must certainly eat black people."
"When we convinced them at last that the horse was harmless, and that he was a useful animal, they ventured nearer. They had no eyes for anything but the horse. As we passed through the villages many of the inhabitants followed us. The men turned back after a mile or so, but many of the women, who showed the greatest curiosity, followed us for three miles. When my horse trotted they trotted, too, their eyes fixed on the beast. Unmindful of where they were stepping, they fell into the furrows of the manioc fields and tumbled down in the tall grass. They kept pointing the animal out to the babies that were fastened on their backs. From some of the villages deputations came to me, asking me to stop awhile in their towns, that they might have time to admire the prodigy."
A whole menagerie of African curiosities would not excite so much attention in the civilized world as this horse aroused in a part of Africa where the zebra never roams and no species of the horse family is known.

IT MADE MOTHER STRONG

"My mother has been using PAIN'S CELYBY Compound for nervous prostration, accompanied by melancholia, etc., and it has done her a world of good. It is the only medicine that strengthens the nerves." G. H. BEERS, Orbisonia, Pa.

Paine's Celyby Compound
Strengthens and builds up the old, and cures their infirmities. Rheumatism, indigestion and nervousness yield quickly to the curative power of Paine's Celyby Compound.
A Perfect Tonic and Invigorator, it GIVES NEW LIFE.
It restores to you old and have failed several times to get any direct benefit from it. I feel entirely different. I can now do my work, and I can sleep well. My spirits and appetite are almost like those of a young man." S. C. KINKAID, D. D., Gonzales, La.

Paine's Celyby Compound is of unequalled value to women. It strengthens the nerves, regulates the kidneys, and has wonderful power in curing the painful diseases with which women so often silently suffer.
