Almost Any Color Suited Her.

Ten years ago Miss Nettie Green, of Orange N. J., was married to Adol-phus Black, a Jersey City preacher. Her husband dying not long after ward, she repeated the journey to the altar with a Dr. Brown, of Chicago. He died within a month, and at the end of a year's mourning she became Mrs. Grey. But she was doomed to misfortune with her husbands, and soon lost Grey also. Since then she has been married twice, first to a Mr. White, and then to a Mr. Green. She is a widow to day, and says she will make no more ventures in matrimony. While it can not be denied that her experience has been a sad one, there is something decidedly droll about her having 'changed colors,' as it were, with each successive marriage, only to wind up event ally, with her original hue.
