ANOTHER SURVIVOR'S STORY.

A Man Who Saw Engineer Swains Die. Some Facts Not Hitherto Published.

(Cove Bay News, 22.)
One of the unfortunates came ashore on a life raft several miles above the entrance to the bay last Saturday.

His name is James McGarry, and he served in the capacity of water tender on the ill-fated vessel. He came to the News office Monday afternoon, and from him we learn of his awful experience. The vessel went down with thirteen men on board, between 2 and 2:30 o'clock Monday morning—McGarry's watch stopped at 2:30, but he may have been in the water some time before the works were affected. After coming to the surface he seized a piece of the deck and crawled on top. A man named Welch, a coal passer, also got on the same piece. One of the sailors came along with a raft and the two men got on board with him. Shortly afterwards they met another raft floating in the debris with another sailor on it. They managed to get alongside, and lashed both rafts together, and drifted in this manner about three hours, when they decided to separate, thinking the chances were better for being picked up. McGarry and Welch stayed on one raft and the two sailors, whose names we did not learn, went on the other. After separating they picked up chief engineer Swain, who was floating on a plank in an exhausted condition, and about an hour afterward, picked up another man. Swain died about an hour and a half after getting on the raft, and they rolled the body overboard. The other two died a few hours later. One of them got delirious before dying, and attacked McGarry with a piece of drift wood, striking him a severe blow on the head. The man was finally pacified and laid down on the raft as though he had fallen asleep, and when McGarry shook him, he found he was dead. He kept the body on board for a day, and then rolled it overboard, as he had done the others. He drifted all alone then, and on the third day got close land. He had no food of any kind, but as it was storming and raining all the time he managed to catch enough water by holding up a board and taking the water that dripped from it.

On Friday last he got in close to Cove Bay bar, and heist a signal of distress, but could not attract attention. He was off the whistling buoy in the evening when the Cape Arago lamp was being lighted, but shortly afterwards drifted to sea again. On Sunday morning the raft set shoreward, and got into the breakers north of the Teu Mile creek. The first breaker captured the raft, throwing McGarry into the surf, and he struck out for shore, which he only to be carried off again by the undertow. This was repeated several times, till a wave larger than the previous ones threw him higher upon the beach, where he laid for a time to recover his fast failing strength, and then crawled out of reach of the angry surf.

The raft came ashore a short distance below him. He walked from there to the point below Empire, where he met a Chinaman, who took him to his shanty and gave him some clam soup, which was the first food he had tasted for six days, his last meal being on Sunday. The Chinaman took him to Empire, where he was well cared for, and from thence he came to the marine hospital at Marshfield.

We venture to say that there are but few men who could have lived through the hardship endured by McGarry. Six days and nights on a frail raft, 100 feet, exposed to the elements with nothing to shelter him, a horrible death from starvation staring him in the face, it was a wonder he did not become delirious and end his sufferings by a plunge overboard. During the time he was on the raft he saw many vessels, but could not make himself seen, yet he never despaired; his wonderful pluck and grit stayed with him through all.

It will be some time before he is ready for active service. His hands are yet swelled, and various portions of his body are badly chafed from his enforced position of sitting or lying on the raft. He looks well, however, considering everything, and the effects of his thrilling experience will only be temporary.

Nothing has been heard of the remainder of the crew up to time of going to press, and it is feared that a majority at least of 35 yet unaccounted for have found a watery grave.

The magical cure of colds and coughs, with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, is indisputable. As a family medicine it is unequalled.

There were 1,233 voters in Iberia parish La., who had to make their cross when they registered, for they couldn't write.

A DUTY TO YOURSELF.
It is surprising that people will use a common, ordinary pill when they can secure a valuable English one for the same money. Dr. Ayer's English pills are a positive cure for sick headache and all liver troubles. They are small, sweet, easily taken and do not gripe. J. W. Conn, Druggist.

The Swiftest Fish.

I asked an old salt the other day which was the swifter, a flying fish or a dolphin. "Why, a dolphin, of course. I have seen it proved. One day our ship was in the doldrums down near the equator, and all hands were lolling about deck grumbling and whistling for a breeze. I had just gone aloft, and, standing upon the top-gallant cross-stress, with my body resting upon the royal yard, was looking off on the starboard beam. I saw a flying fish spring up out of the water, followed by a dolphin, and both made straight for the ship. When they arrived at the vessel the dolphin went under and the flying fish went over, dropping square into the dolphin's mouth as he struck the water on the other side. The ship drew eighteen feet of water and only about nine feet above water. So I say, in this case, the dolphin was the swifter fish."

ARE YOU SKEPTICAL?
If so we will convince you that Ayer's English Remedy for the lungs is superior to all other preparations, and is a positive cure for all Throat and Lung troubles, Croup, Whooping Cough and Colds. We guarantee the preparation and will give you a sample bottle free.

Raising a Seal on a Bottle.
The most popular and most talked about individual in all Kalama, at present is Dr. Darnell's "infant." In behalf of the Dr's friends in the east who are readers of this paper we will state, that this infant is a baby seal, caught by Geo. Hugill in the Columbia, and which the Dr. bought and is now raising on a bottle. It will weigh perhaps 30 pounds and is a great pet. —Cavett's Bulletin.

Do not wait until to-morrow, when you feel sick, but take immediately a dose of Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier and prevent a serious attack of sickness. It is the best liver regulator and blood cleanser in existence. Try it.

Three big lager beer breweries in Newark, one in Albany and one in New York have combined, with a capital stock of $4,750,000.

A Sea Sick Passenger.
On the ocean, cares little about a storm. He is positively indifferent whether he is washed overboard or not. But, set right by a wineglassful or two of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, he feels renewed interest in his personal safety. This fine corrective neutralizes in brackish water—often compulsorily drunk on shipboard, the grievous detriment of health—the pernicious impurities which give rise to disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. To the mariner, the tourist, the Western pioneer and miner, the Bitters is invaluable as a means of protection against malaria, when its seeds are latent in air and water. To the effect of orework, mental strain, it is a most reliable antidote, and to the debilitated and nervous, it affords great and speedy relief and vigor.

Fort Worth, Texas, has eight national banks and eleven railroad outlets. Banks and railroads tell the tale of future supremacy.

CAUTION TO MOTHERS.
Every mother is cautioned against giving her child laudanum or paregoric; it creates an unnatural craving for stimulants which kills the mind of the child. Ayer's Baby Sooter is specially prepared to benefit children and cure their pains. It is harmless and contains no Opium or Morphine. Sold by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

A deposit of tin of good quality has been discovered twenty miles from Topeka, Kan.

PEOPLE EVERYWHERE
Confirm our statement when we say that Ayer's English Remedy is in every way superior to any and all other preparations for the Throat and Lungs. In Whooping Cough and Croup it is magic and relieves at once. We offer you a sample bottle free. Remember, this Remedy is sold on a positive guarantee, by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

It takes the place of a doctor and costly prescriptions. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of and cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocuous and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colic, Diarrhoea, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness and Feverish Colds. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest and most palatable tonic they can use. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.
"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons' Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."
L. M. Hixson, M.D., Washington, Ark.
