

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: TUESDAY, JULY 9, 1889.

DR. JOHN A. BROOKS is lecturing in Portland. He is the gentleman who was the Prohibition nominee for vice president last year, and who in one stump speech lost 100,000 votes. He had been telling a number of things in this life that he had done, and for which he was sorry, "but thank God," said he, "I never was a Republican."

A CENTURY of oratory has come to its close. There remains no question before us capable of creating a Henry, a Webster, or a Phillips. Slavery is abolished; creeds have softened their tone from the roar of an Apollyon to the cooing of doves. This is the day of laboratories and not of platforms. It is hardly probable that any issue will speedily arise to pull at men's heart-strings and goad them to eloquence like that of the past. The cry for freedom was heard in its rising demands until the land was fully free and every man could think for himself. A heretic may now be as happy as an orthodox saint. Bond slaves are abolished. We have only side issues to contend over—some litter to sweep up. There is nothing to create a higher type of oratory than that of Robert Ingersoll and De Witt Talmage. Neither in pulpit nor on platform do kings any longer appear. The decadence is worst of all in the pulpit, for while the platform was temporary the pulpit remains. But there is no cause for lament. Each age has its own special duties and its special glory. Our boast is now of great inventors. We have passed out of the age of destruction into that of construction. It is well.

They Have the Enterprise.

If Astorians are possessed of sufficient enterprise they will soon be linked with the productive portions of the state by iron rails, and will utilize the Columbia river as an open highway from the inland empire to their wharves. — Dalles Times-Mountain, etc., 6.

Thought to Be in San Francisco.

A young gentleman named Merrill, from Astoria is after one Geo. Lee, who has been forging Merrill's name to telegrams and express money orders. Lee is believed to have gone to San Francisco. — Ashland Tidings, 5.

A Fortunate Druggist.

Mr. Edwin W. Joy, a prosperous druggist on the corner of Stockton and Market streets, in San Francisco, probably never dreamed of rising in wealth the medicine king of the country. But various rumors having been floating around to the effect that he has struck it big, an Examiner reporter was detailed to unearth the cause. It seems that about seven years ago an English physician, a great student of Botany, located in this city. His practice was not extensive, and yet the few cases that came to him attracted no little attention. His great success seemed to be in the treatment of liver and kidney disorders and vitiated blood. He seemed almost infallible, and his well-kept secret was as much a mystery as himself. After his departure Mr. Joy determined to fathom the secret, and copying all the prescriptions he had filled for the erratic doctor, he began a systematic analysis. He discovered running all through the prescriptions for liver and kidney troubles, vitiated blood and stomach disorders a couple of vegetable extracts indigenous to California so simple and so well known under home every day names to every school boy as to entirely dissipate the suspicion that they were the active principles involved. So certain, however, was Mr. Joy that he had discovered the secret that he embodied the new elements in a preparation of Sarsaparilla to disguise the taste, and put it before his customers under the modest name of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Immediately the same stories came back of its astonishing effects, and the mystery was solved, and the talk it has created has already caused it to step into prominence, and orders pour in daily from all over the coast. And thus another California industry leaps into existence. — S. F. Examiner.

Despatches stating that the Northern Pacific company intended to issue $15,000,000 in new bonds are confirmed at the offices of the company in New York, and one of the officials made the following statement: "A plan for raising money to improve additional equipment, and also to take up the Oregon Transcontinental bonds, permitting that company to wind up its affairs, has been discussed, but nothing definite has been decided on. It will probably be in the shape of a collateral trust loan."

The New Discovery.

You have heard your friends and neighbors talking about it. You may yourself be one of the many who know from personal experience just how good a thing it is. If you have ever tried it, you are one of its staunch friends, because the wonderful thing about it is, that when once given trial, Dr. King's New Discovery ever after holds a place in the house. If you have never used it and should be afflicted with a cough, cold or any Throat, Lung or Chest trouble, secure a bottle at once and give it a fair trial. It is guaranteed every time, or money refunded. Trial Bottles Free at J. W. Conn's Drugstore.

Realizing the Situation.

If Tillamook county will not help us, we know Clatsop will, as it is, it is profitable to pack over the mountain from Seaside. We would be in a better county, than we are at present, taxes not so high and Clatsop would do something for us instead of stripping us of every cent we get, and giving nothing in return, all the county funds are spent about Tillamook and south of that place, now if she wants to continue to claim Nehalem she had better treat Nehalem as a slave, as she has heretofore. Clatsop county would be more convenient to us, and we are willing to join her if not treated with more respect by Tillamook. — Bill Nye in Tillamook Headlight.

Surveyor Barr, of Albany, is in Salem to-day and says that next week he will begin running the preliminary survey of the Albany & Astoria railway company from Albany to Astoria. Awake Salem! — Salem Journal, 6.
