Surveyors started last Wednesday from Albany to run a preliminary line for the Astoria and Albany railroad. Another company of surveyors is re-ported coming down the south side of the Columbia, and now in the vicinity of Westport.

The blockade has again been raised on the road to Uniontown, and the great tide of commerce once more goes surging along. Sup't Clinton goes to-day with men and material to complete the work of repairing that ancient thoroughfare.

J. C. Clinton yesterday sold his bus iness establishment to a nephew of Councilman Bergman who will arrive here in a day or so from San Fran-cisco. Couch sold by reason of ill health. He had built up a nice business and gained a good reputatation for integrity and business capacity.

Just where the line of the railroad will strike through from the seashore to railroad connection in Yambill or Washington county, is as yet unde-termined, whether up the Necanicum or out Lewis and Clarke. Whichever is the best, in the judgment of the engineers and constructors, will be the route adopted.

A Portland man advertises Turkish baths. All the Portland people need to have a splendid Turkish bath establishment is to roof over that part of the city from Front to Eighth street, though even then it would be most too hot for a good many people who want the temperature not much more

Mrs. John Mackay has sued a paper for saying that her mother was a washerwoman. Well, she was a washerwoman and a good one; plenty of old timers remember when she washed clothes at Marysville, Cal. and supported her first husband, Dave Hungerford. But Mrs. Mackay needn't be ashamed of her mother. Possibly if the old lady was alive she might be ashamed of her daughter for being so silly.

"The devil delighted" is the heading of an editorial in the Pacific Christ-ian Advocate, of the 10th inst. Our reverend brother omits to state his authority for the assertion. Informa-tion to be reliable must be accurate. The irate brother states: "We doubt not that the tidings of the defeat of the prohibition amendment was early beard in Perdition and that a ratifica tion meeting has been held there ere this time." The writer respectfully expresses his disbelief in the latter statement, till Mr. Harrington can furnish more definite and authentic

The Manzanita goes this morning on a trip to Alaska; her annual journey along the Alaskan coast, a tour that extends to the Arctic circle, examining and replacing buoys, beacons etc., wherever placed by the govern-ment. A large lot of supplies is aboard, more will be taken on at Port Town-send, and the vessel will coal at Na-naimo. It will be a busy six weeks for all aboard, the intention being to get back by August 25th. There is too much work in this XIIth district for one vessel to attend to and do the work justice. There should be a vessel for the Washington and Alaskan coast, and both she and the Manzanita would have enough to do then every day in

The paper relying on THE ASTORIAN for authentic news. But the San Francisco evening papers of the 8th, to hand, show that at three o'clock last Monday afternoon, they didn't know anything about the Sullivan-Kilrain fight, and at four o'clock they printed it as reliable news that Kilrain had won the fight. At 3:30 P. THE DES MOTSES

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The attor-ney-general has appointed John Wise Stone, of Iowa, an assistant attorney general and authorize him to bring suit to quiet title to the Des Moines river lands. These are the lands re-ferred to in the bills which have been before congress for twenty-five years past and vetoed by two presidents. Mr. Stone, who is appointed and au-thorized to bring suit, is the present attorney-general of Iowa.

THE GIRL AND THE RING.

How She Kisses It on the Sly-Lots Human Nature.

"Did you ever have a chance to observe, unobserved, a young lady's conduct toward her newly acquired engagement ring?" It feels so strange upon her hand that she cannot refrain from examining it a dozen times an hour, always, however, on the sly. On the first night she sits up an hour later than usual to admire it boldly in the seclusion of her own apartment.

A frequent kiss is administered to the shining hand and its glittering gem, and during the night she dreams that it has fallen into a stream, and awakes, clutching the finger to assure nerself that the precious pledge is still

Then, on the following day, she wears it only in secret, taking care to transfer it to her pocket at table, and when in the company of intimates, but place her among strangers of among casual acquaintances, who cannot be inquisitive, and how bravely she will flaunt the token before their eyes as one who should say:

"I may not be the loveliest creature in the world, but you will observe that get there all the same.' Gradually it assumes its place in her daily life, and her blushes grow less violent with each succeeding explanation of its significance and each extravagant description of the donor's attributes. But before it finally becomes a part of herself, as it were, she must, of course, leave it a dozen times at least upon the wash stand, and suffer, in consequence, a dozen violent attacks of palpitation of the Figured Piques, heart until it is recovered.
