

The Daily Astorian. ASTORIA, OREGON: TUESDAY, JULY 30, 1889. TELEGRAPHIC.

Specials to The Astorian. ESCAPED SCALDING TO DEATH. By the Fortunate Bursting of a Tank. Late News Items from Various Sources.

PORTLAND, July 29.—There is no doubt now regarding the cause of the accident to the Southern Pacific south bound passenger train near Albany last night at 9:15. Mr. Brandt, superintendent, said to THE ASTORIAN reporter to-day that he feels satisfied that the switch had been tampered with, probably by tramps. The switch bar was found to be broken, and the nut had been taken off on the fireman's side of the track. When the engine ran into the switch it moved over to the left and let the engine through. Engineer Jack Miller, his fireman, E. O. Guthrie, were saved from being scalded to death by the escaping steam by the bursting of the water tank on the tender, allowing a large supply of cool water to pour out upon them. It is thought that this occurrence is the only thing that saved their lives.

GOODING'S STATEMENT. Mr. W. E. Gooding, Pat Killen's manager to-day made the following statement of last night's affair: "I went down to Astoria, Sunday and returned this morning, and upon reading the Oregonian went to Killen's room, at the Esmond, and woke him up. He said he had had some trouble with Hart over an old score in St. Paul. Hart threatened to make 'run play' whereupon Killen slapped him, and the Coon ran around behind the bar. He went to bed at one o'clock, and was perfectly sober. Killen also stated that he was with no woman, or was not drunk as reported, neither did he have any trouble with any other person. We do not want any of the best of this report, or worst, and will appreciate it if you can give this matter as wide publicity as the article in the Oregonian."

SENT TO JAIL. Chinaman Ah Goo, who attempted to rob Mrs. Hollawell Saturday night, was to-day sent to the county jail in default of $500 bail, to await the action of the grand jury.

JUSTICE MILLER'S RULING. WASHINGTON, July 29.—Many officials of the treasury, including acting secretary Bateheller, believe that the adoption of the attorney-general's opinion on the transit of Chinese means the virtual repeal of the exclusion law. They admit that the safeguards established by the circular of January, 1883, are but flimsy at best, and that coolies can manage to come to this country under the tourist's character, and remain when they are in. Mr. Bateheller believes that the only safeguard the country can now have would be the detailing of special treasury agents to accompany each party of coolies from the time they enter the country until their departure. This would mean an expenditure of probably $100,000 annually. It is safe to state that if Mr. Bateheller had had the say the president of the Southern Pacific or any other road could not have secured this permission, for the attorney-general's opinion would have been held up and not adopted.

Among politicians here the matter is being discussed, and fears are felt as to its influence on the coming elections in the northwest, and especially as to Washington territory, where the anti-Chinese feeling runs high.

JUDGE HEPBURN'S OPINION. Judge Hepburn, solicitor of the treasury, in discussing the question, says: "Up to about two years ago there was no question about the right of the Chinese to pass through the country in the manner suggested by the decision, and now the old order will be restored. The Southern Pacific railroad company has been the chief mover in the case, one of its attorneys, Mr. Tweed, arguing the matter before the treasury department and the department of justice. The precedent has been set and hereafter Chinamen who desire to pass through the country without sojourning anywhere on the way will be allowed to enter Uncle Sam's domain."

tion the New England Republican senators will be to blame. NORTHERN PACIFIC BONDS PLACED. NEW YORK, July 29.—Dow, Jones & Co.'s circular states that the new $15,000,000 Northern Pacific collateral trust has been placed in Berlin, provided the stockholders authorize them. Also, that $10,000,000 of the above amount may be used to take up the 6 per cent. bonds, for which the Northern Pacific is responsible.

THE BOND STORY DENIED. NEW YORK, July 29.—Parties acting with Villard for Berlin banking interests in the Northern Pacific say the report that $15,000,000 collateral has been placed for the company in Berlin is nonsense. As to what disposition may be made of the proceeds of the loan when authorized, it would, they say, be premature to say anything now, although a part may ultimately be used to retire 6 per cent. of the bonds.

THE BEER SYNDICATE. PATTERSON, July 29.—An English syndicate has purchased five or six breweries here. The price is $2,380,000. The owners retain one-third interest.

SPECULATING IN TEXAS PROPERTY. PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—John C. Bullitt, A. J. Drexel and others, local capitalists, have purchased valuable lands in the suburbs of Dallas, Texas, for $500,000. The property is to be immediately improved for speculative purposes.

AN ASTONISHING CHANGE. "My dear madam, I never saw you looking so well, and you were so poorly, too." "Yes, doctor, Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the grandest thing in the world for run-down, nervous and debilitated women. That's the secret of my appearance."

Up to a month ago Mrs. Bolden, an elderly lady, living at 610 Mason street, San Francisco, was falling in health and flesh so rapidly as to seriously alarm her relatives. She now writes: "I have taken but one bottle of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, but it is astonishing. I am regaining my lost flesh and have not felt as well in years."

A Shutter and a Moral. During change hour yesterday a shutter slowly and carefully carried by two men, was borne into the exchange hall, followed by Commodore Gutte. This unwonted spectacle drew all members around the commodore and every one looked for the man that is naturally supposed to go with a shutter, but every one appeared perfectly sober. The shutter was placed gently against one of the Corinthian columns that adorn the room, and the crowd eagerly inspected the relic, for it was a relic of the Seattle fire. In its prime, adorned with gaudy paint, it had protected a window in Frye's opera house, Seattle. When that city was recently a mass of flames the same shutter battled nobly to protect its charge, as the record seared on its surface shows. Built of wood and encased in tin, it held on when an iron shutter would have curled up with the heat and deserted its post. The audacious claim that had this shutter been carefully built according to the instruction issued by the inspection bureau, it would have "been better than new" after the fire. This historic window covering now leans against the pillar, a disreputable looking affair, like the awful example of a temperance lecturer, and the lesson it teaches is one that should be kept well in mind: It is, don't let your building stand next to one on fire, but if you do, see that the windows and doors are well protected by shutters of wood sheathed in tin. They are the safest. - S. F. Comm. News.
