Where Sarah Was.

A farmer had some wheat stolen a few nights since, says the Preston (Min.) Times, and he was so sure that he knew who the thief was that he came into town and secured a warrant for a certain young man living near him. When the case came up for trial the defendant said he could prove an alibi. In order to do this he had brought in "his girl"—a buxom lass of 22. She took the stand and swore that he sat up with her from 7 in the evening until broad daylight the next morning.

"People can be very easily mistaken," observed the plaintiff's lawyer. "I don't care—I know he was there," she replied.

"What did you talk about?" "Love!" she promptly answered. "What time did the old folks go to bed?" "I gave 'em the wink about 10."

"Sure he was there at midnight, are you?" "Yes, sir."

"Why are you looked over to her lover and laughed, and getting a nod to go ahead, she said:

"Well, sir, just as the clock struck 12 the old man hollered, 'Get up, Sarah, get up and wash some of that catnip tea, and we got such a start we broke the back of the rocking chair and went over backward kerpunk!"

"Then the jury must understand that you were seated on Samuel's lawyer?" "I object!" put in Samuel's lawyer, and his honor remembered the days of his youth and sustained the objection.
