The New State's New Organic Law-Boiled Down For Busy Men To Read.

There shall be not less than 63 nor more than 99 members of the legislature.

The first legislature sits the first Monday in November. Contract convict labor is prohib ited, although the state may work its convicts.

Alien ownership of lands, other than mines, is prohibited, unless the alien acquires the land by mortgage or inheritance. In fact this is a section which pretends much and means nothing. Public officers are prohibited from using railroad passes.

The governor may veto the items a bill without killing the whole bill. His salary is fixed at $4,000. The supreme court is elected—the first election at the adoption of the constitution. There shall be in each county, with some exceptions, a superior court having the jurisdiction formerly exercised by, and superceding, the district and probate court.

Justices of the peace, and county commissioners shall be paid in fees;

all other judicial officers by salary.

The salary of the superior judge shall be $3,000. The county clerk shall be clerk of the superior court. A person will not be a voter, after the adoption of the constitution, un-til he has resided in the state one year. Until then a six months residence is sufficient.

The first county election after the adoption of the constitution, shall be held in November, 1890, and biennially afterwards. State officers shall be elected for four years.

In taxation debits may be deducted from credits, and corporation property shall be taxed as far as possible like property of individuals.

A three-fifths vote is necessary to bring the total indebtedness of a county, city or school district, up to a 5 per cent. maximum. However a city for light, water and sewerage, by the same vote, may incur a 10 per cent. indebtedness, all told. The common school fund shall remain inviolate.

No county seat shall be removed without a three-fifths vote. No new county shall be established which shall reduce the population of any county to less than 4,000 people, nor shall any portion of a county be segregated without the consent of the people of the segregated district.

No county officer shall hold his office for more than two successive terms. . The legislature may regulate railway and steamboat freight or passen ger tariff, and create a railroad com-No free passes shall be issued to state officers. Trusts and monopolies are prohibited in a section which has the ozone of the stump blowing through its The permanent location of the capital shall be decided by the vote of the people, October 1st.

A harbor commission shall establish harbor lines in front of the cities. Beyond the harbor lines the yond the harbor lines and tide lands shall not be sold. The area between the harbor line and high tide mark for from 50 to 600 feet from the harbor line, as the harbor line, as the commission shall determine, shall not be sold nor leased. This will give the commission great power. By running the harbor line 600 feet from ordinary high tide the commis may withdraw forever from sale all of the tide flats in front of a city. The legislature may provide for leas-

OREGON. ing this property.
School lands shall be appraised and sold to the highest bidder. The improvements shall not be appraised. Sales of school lands heretofore made by county commissioners may be confirmed by the legislature. within the area of incorporated cities. school lands may be platted and sold in blocks of five acres The state leaves the patented tide lands to the donation claimants, and their successors, unless the patents shall be impeached for fraud.

All officers provided for in this constitution, including the county clerk for each county, when no other time is fixed for the election, shall be elected at the election to be held for the adoption of this constitution, on the first Tuesday of October, 1889. All district, county and precinct officers hold over until January, 1891.

Prohibition, woman suffrage and the location of the capital will be voted on separately. Bucklen's Arnica Salve.
