ASTORIAN BUILDING, - - - CASS STREET.

Terms of Subscription. Served by Carrier, per week, 15 cts.

THE ASTORIAN guarantees to its advertisers the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia river.

Telegraphic news on the first page.

Ambuscade scales are the latest. They lie in wait.

There are about 150 pupils in the upper Astoria school.

A fire in the stove is comfortable nights and mornings.

A daughter was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Moore, upper Astoria.

The Gray's harbor papers report the run of salmon this season the largest ever seen there.

The State of California arrived from San Francisco yesterday with fifty tons freight for this port.

The Ancon was built at San Francisco in 1866, and was the last of the sidewheel steamers on this coast.

The domestic salmon market is not in first class trim at present: $1.90 and $1.62 1/2 a case is the best obtainable.

C. S. Dow has presented a school site to district No. 5, and a neat new schoolhouse will shortly be erected thereon.

At a recent meeting of the Pendleton building and loan association a lady secured the amount offered for loan by a bid of sixty-six months.

The Portland Telegram has perpetrated a joke, which will probably be charged to the compositor. It calls Sidney Dillon "a railway magnet."

The three canneries at Chilkat, Alaska, will pack 40,000 cases. Of this, F. H. Poindexter, of the Chilkat Packing company, will pack 15,000 cases.

The steamer Oregon sailed for San Francisco yesterday with the following freight from here: 2,765 bbls shoeks, 90 sks oysters and 10 tons assorted.

Considerable salmon is going to San Francisco. The State of California on her last trip took 7,500 cases. The Oregon took 2,250 cases yesterday.

Jonathan Bourne has dropped the "Jr." Bourne senior is dead, has left Jonathan big money, and he will make his Portland department livelier than ever.

An assessment which has just been completed shows the taxable valuation of property in Portland to be about $80,000,000, compared with $22,000,000 for last year.

The steamer A. B. Field arrived in from Nestsucca yesterday with 600 cases of salmon. There is another 1,000 at the cannery there ready to ship. The Field is off for Tillamook this morning.

From the child to the grandiose, they all read THE ASTORIAN. A line in its columns is seen by every one in the city or vicinity, who can read, and that comprises ninety-nine per cent of the population.

The Salvation Army screeched a psalm last evening. If David when his toils were ended had heard those hoodooes sing before him; to us his psalms had never descended, in frantic mood he would have tore 'em.

That camping party reported lost at Tillamook head, was in considerable trouble for a night and a day, but rescuers found them and brought them back before they had suffered more than temporary inconvenience.

Are you looking for an investment? Read the remarks about Riverside addition in another column. It will do you good, but don't put off buying too long. One man's money is as good as another's when it comes to buying desirable lots.

Messrs. Brown and Van Dusen, the owners of Tongue Point, are going to clear it off of brush and timber. From the neck south they will have cleared about 500 acres. They advertise this morning for men to take contracts to do the work.

The Methodist Book Concern gives a dividend to the Oregon conference this year of $532. The earnings of the Book Concern go to the support of the worn out ministers and the widows and orphans of those who have died in the work.

Over on Clatsop plains the prospective screeching of the locomotive has given everything a boost, property included. Many substantial improvements are planned, and buildings are being contracted for in various places along the line of the road.

Many horses from Montana will make the Oregon circuit this fall, and as the telegrams show that at Butte, the fastest time ever made in the territory was made last week, it is safe to say that the races this fall will be the best ever run in the state.

Yesterday afternoon a man named Lebeck was badly hurt at the Clatsop mill by a lumber pile falling on him; and somewhat later in the afternoon a boy named Casper Brownhold, employed at the mill, had his right hand badly cut by having it come in contact with a saw.

The funeral of the late John Hagen will take place at 10:30 this morning from his residence, at upper Astoria. From there they will go to the Catholic church, where requiem mass will be said for the repose of his soul. Electric leaves Wilson & Fisher's dock at 12:45 sharp.

The report of the burning of A. W. Berry's cannery at Tongue Narrows, Alaska, is confirmed. The cannery was burned on September 1st, with all it contained. The warehouse, in which was stored all the salmon already packed, was saved. All the loss is fully covered by insurance.

There was a lively bit of weather at 5:30 yesterday afternoon. The sunlit waters of our quiet bay were ruffled out of their usual placidity and were lashed into foam, the storm cloud frowned blackly, the rain fell and the wind blew, and three Chinamen lost their hats overboard.

The United States land office at Washington, D. C., promulgated a decision last Saturday, holding that in Washington territory the United States has a vested title to the tide lands on the shores of the territory, and that Washington territory does not possess the sovereignty attached to statehood.

Albert H. & L. Co., No. 1, held a meeting last evening at which they elected the following officers: president, L. W. Holt; secretary, F. I. Dunbar; treasurer, R. N. Carnahan; foreman, F. N. Green; 1st assistant, C. E. Miller; 2nd assistant, H. A. Langley; delegates, P. W. Weeks, E. A. Taylor, F. N. Green.

At the last meeting of the Nanaimo council it was decided to have the Indians removed outside the city limits, and one of the aldermen moved that the natives be served with written notices. The clerk said the Indians could not read the notices. Alderman Peck—Write them in Chitook. The clerk faints.

An advertisement of Laurel Park addition appeared for the first time in Sunday's ASTORIAN. Yesterday was the first day lots in Laurel Park were put on the market. Ben Worsley, of the firm of Worsley & Carruthers sold 66 (sixty-six) lots in Laurel Park yesterday. Moral—if you want to buy or sell, let people know it by putting an advertisement in THE ASTORIAN.

Upper Astoria needs a fire engine badly: our neighbors should supply themselves with one, for, should a fire break out to-night they would be powerless to prevent its spreading. As for the city department, while the boys are ever ready and always willing, it would be impossible to get a fire engine over the roadway in its present condition, and it is not likely the effort would be made.

The schooner Norway left San Francisco on May 22nd for Holham inlet, Alaska, being cleared by the Silver Salmon Packing company. She carried up a full cargo of cannery supplies for a cannery company which intended establishing there. It was learned that on account of the shallowness of the water the Norway could not get to the inlet and she returned last Thursday with the same cargo she took away.

Judge Deady has rendered a decision regarding public lands that is to this effect: an entry and certificate is issued to a settler under the homestead act for land subject to entry thereunder, cannot be set aside or canceled by the land department on its own motion for fraud or mistake committed or occurring in obtaining or issuing it; in such cases the government must seek redress in the courts, where the matter may be heard and determined according to the law applicable to the rights of individuals under like circumstances.

Beyond the incidental revenue from "pulling" opium joints it is not apparent to some why the Mongolians should not be allowed to smoke opium. People who have tried both say that opium produces a drunk that is in every way superior to the drunk that whisky produces. It also kills quicker. The man under the influence of opium is serene and not hilarious. He courts repose, rather than disturbance. "Why not let the heathen Chinese smoke their weed since Caucasians smoke theirs?" ask those who think it is inconsistent to pull an opium joint, and let another kind of joint alone.

Deputy sheriff Lounsbury's trip down here from Portland was to secure the necessary signature of Jos. Holladay to an advertisement officially making notice of the sale of the personal property of the late Ben Holladay. Judge Sterns made the order last Wednesday but to avoid signing it the subtle Joseph slipped seaward to the seclusion of the placid Neacum. After searching all over the city for him, one of the deputies learned from a copy of THE ASTORIAN that Mr. H. was at Clatsop, and immediately took the night boat for Astoria, bringing along the necessary papers, which of course he couldn't refuse signing when presented to him.

Jos. Tagg, a man who lately bought Jos. Furtado's milk business, was driving his blind horse attached to his milk wagon, yesterday afternoon, down the narrow roadway from the old gasworks to Cedar street, when the horse became fractious, and in carting around the rail broke, and horse, wagon and driver were precipitated to the rocks below, a distance of sixteen or eighteen feet. Tagg fell under the wagon and received very severe injuries: one leg is probably broken, his head is badly gashed, one ear is almost torn off, and he is hurt internally. He was taken to the hospital and given surgical attendance. The horse was badly banged up and the wagon is a total wreck.

One of the lucky real estate deals which sometimes come upon a fellow unaware, culminated in Hoquiam recently, says the Washingtonian, whereby a young man made a small fortune—a fortune, which if rightly handled, is capable of making in this country, its possessor independent. Eight months ago Chas. Lyons, of this town, discovered and secured 160 acres of government land adjoining the Gray's Harbor townsite, paying therefor the government price of $1.25 per acre. He has recently effected a sale of one-half his claim at the price of $150 per acre (one hundred and fifty dollars) per acre, $24,000. This is no fish story, but one of the streams of good fortune which visits a fellow in a new country if he keeps his eyes open, and is always ready to grasp opportunities.

Alaska fairly teems with animal life. The sea along its shores and the rivers, inlets and lakes are filled with an inexhaustible supply of the largest and finest food fish. Fishing is one of the principal industries of the country, and fully fifty large factories are engaged in packing the fish that are shipped to almost every country in the world. It is a perfect paradise for sportsman. The islands in Behring sea, as well as the mainland, were fairly overrun with great herds of all kinds of fur-bearing animals. Along the north coast are great herds of walrus, which are valuable for their meat and ivory tusks. The sea cow, which used to be found here, has become extinct. In the interior parts of the country and in the north are the greatest breeding-places for birds in the world. For miles the country will be covered with myriads of geese, swans, ducks and a hundred other varieties of the feathered tribe. They feed on the wild berries and become so fat toward the close of the season that they can hardly fly and the natives knock them over with clubs by the hundreds. The canvas-back ducks have their breeding-places on the Yukon, the principal river of Alaska. There is one point on the western coast of Alaska where, on a clear day, it is possible to see the Asiatic coast, thirty-eight miles away. The natives of eastern Siberia and Alaska often exchange trading visits and cross the strait in open boats.

Peck's Bad Boy.

Everyone is more or less familiar with the mad pranks of that embodiment of mischief, Peck's Bad Boy, as chronicled in the newspapers all over the country, and in its presentation to the public in its dramatized form by the company, at the opera house, on Wednesday evening, full justice was done to the exasperating ingenuity of the irrepressible imp. The orner grocery was excellently represented, and hearty laughter greeted the various scenes enacted. Harry Comors, as Peck's Bad Boy, was the hero of the piece, and he was ably seconded by Frank Calhoun as Shultz, the groceryman. The company is square in its dealings, and the managers exhibit a sense of refinement and courtesy that is sure to make permanent friends of all whom they come in contact.—Martinez Gazette.

Albany's Advice to Salem.

Keep your temper, good people of Salem. While you are deciding "what to do about it," business men of Albany have incorporated a company with a capital stock of $1,000,000. Its stockholders are among the city's wealthy citizens. The line is nearly surveyed and the money will be forthcoming to build the road. Before you have finally decided what to do about it the graders will be throwing up the dirt on the line from Albany to the sea.—Herald, 8.

Tourists.

Whether on pleasure bent or business, should take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectively on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50c and $1.00 bottles by all leading druggists.

Within Eighteen Miles of Tillamook.

Henry Susens, one of the surveying party of the Albany and Astoria company, returned to this city yesterday. He says the party is within 18 miles of Tillamook.—Albany Herald, 7.

Epoch.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health to the use of the Great Alternative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of the Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c, and $1 per bottle at J. W. Conn's Drug store.

E. C. Payson, advance representative of the Lawrence & Conner's Peck's Bad Boy Co. was in the city yesterday making arrangements for the appearance here of the company next Friday evening.

Florence Fishing Troubles Settled. From Geo. A. Dorris, who returned from Florence last Wednesday evening, we learn that the fishing troubles on the Siuslaw river have ceased and that the fishermen are now at work catching salmon. It appears that the Siuslaw fishermen's union has ceased to exist. The fishermen accepted the prices offered by Meyer & Kyle, the cannerymen, viz: Forty cents for large salmon and twenty-five cents for small ones, and one-third off from these prices when the cannerymen furnish the outfits. At one time they were offered 35 and 50 cents, but refused to accede to the terms, hence at last accepted the first prices offered. The fishermen had been out three nights when Mr. Dorris left and quite a number of the boats caught 100 salmon nightly. Both Siuslaw and Columbia river men are fishing.—Eugene Guard, 7.

Warm weather often causes extreme tired feeling and debility, and in the weakened condition of the system, diseases arising from impure blood are liable to appear. To gain strength, to overcome depression, and to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, take Hood's Sarsaparilla.
