Gold at Oregon City.

OREGON CITY, Sept. 25.—It has been known for a long time to mining experts that color was to be found in the vicinity of Oregon City, but no attempt has been made to find gold. One day last week a man approached E. E. Charman, proprietor of Clackamas heights, adjoining Oregon City on the northeast, and wished to negotiate for the purchase of one of the roughest lots on the tract. It was in fact a piece lying in a canyon. A bargain was at length concluded and the man went on his way owner of the desired piece. A few days later Charman was driving in the vicinity of the lot and heard some one work-ing down in the gulch. He hitched and went down to the bottom where he found the new own-er mining gold, which seems to exist there in considerable quantities as he secured color from every pan washed. The gold is in clear particles, about the size of small The present owners of the lot are Sam and John Forsyth and A. Hart They are working their claim with very good success, a single pan yield-ing as many as a dozen pieces of clear gold the size mentioned.

The men were very cautious about their find and worked on the sly, keeping the thing quiet, but they thought they had too good a thing, and could not keep it quiet, so to-day it began to leak out, but this article will be the first reliable information given to the public. The deposit is in a clay and sand formation, freely mixed with gravel, and is easily washed. It bids fair to attract much attention, as it is so conventently lo-
