Long-Standing

Blood Diseases are cured by the persevering use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

This medicine is an Alterative, and causes a radical change in the system. The process, in some cases, may not be quite so rapid as in others; but, with persistence, the result is certain. Read these testimonials:—

"For two years I suffered from a severe pain in my right side, and had other troubles caused by a torpid liver and dyspepsia. After giving several medicines a fair trial without a cure, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was greatly benefited by the first bottle, and after taking five bottles I was completely cured.—John W. Benson, 70 Lawrence st., Lowell, Mass.

"Last May a large carbuncle broke out on my arm. The usual remedies had no effect and I was confined to my bed for eight weeks. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Less than three bottles healed the sore. In all my experience with medicine, I never saw more wonderful Results.

Another marked effect of the use of this medicine was the strengthening of my sight.—Mrs. Carrie Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

"I had a dry scaly humor for years, and suffered terribly; and, as my brother and sister were similarly afflicted, I presume the malady is hereditary. Last winter, Dr. Tyson, (of Fernandina, Fla.) recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year. For five months I took it daily. I have not had a scratch upon my body for the last three months.—T. E. Wiley, 146 Chambers st., New York City.

"Last fall and winter I was troubled with a dull, heavy pain in my side. I did not notice it much at first, but it gradually grew worse until it became almost unbearable. During the latter part of this time, disorders of the stomach and liver increased my troubles. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after faithfully continuing the use of this medicine for some months, the pain disappeared and I was completely cured.—Mrs. Augusta A. Furbush, Haverhill, Mass.

Delays Are Dangerous.
A woman walked into an insurance office the other day says the Indianapolis Journal, and said she wanted the policy she held settled. The agent took it, saw it was a paid-up policy, and told her he had no notification of the death of the man named therein. She said: "No, of course not, he only died night before last, and I guess they are just putting him in now." He told her he thought it was rather soon for a widow to be after the life insurance before her husband was buried. "Well," she said, "we are divorced, and it's made out to me, and I learned by living in this world that when you've got business to do the best way is to do it right off, and so soon as I heard of his death I came right down." The agent told her he would "have to have a death certificate, and she went away. She was evidently had experience with the saying, "Delays are dangerous."

RATHER AN AWKWARD FIX.

A Barber Leaves a Customer Half Shaved to Go to a Fire.

"Funny thing happened to me once," said the doctor. "I was at a little town in the western part of Iowa last fall, where I had stayed over night to see a friend, and expected to go on to Sioux City next morning. The train was scheduled to leave at 10 o'clock, and shortly after 9, having seen that my trunk was duly checked, I decided to get my sideburns shaved off, so strolled into a barber shop nearly opposite the station. There was only one chair in the place, and that was run by a little fat barber. He received me cordially, worked along quite leisurely, and had one side nicely shaved when a bell began ringing furiously and a man ran along the main street yelling 'Fire! Fire!' at the top of his lungs. Without waiting to explain or apologize, my fat friend threw down his razor and rushed out of doors, leaving me in the chair to await his return. I sat very patiently for ten or fifteen minutes, or until it was very near train time, and then I began to grow restive. It was absolutely necessary for me to get to Sioux City that day, and there I sat with a beautiful sideburner on my left cheek and the right one as bare as the palm of my hand. Finally I threw away the cigar I was smoking and went outside, where sat a small lame boy, the only creature in sight. 'Where in thunder is the barber?' I asked.

"O, he's down ter the fire, mister, Yer see Billy's foreman o' ther hook and ladder company, an' specs ter be 'lected chief of ther department next spring, an' he don't miss no fires, Billy don't!"

"I groaned and went back in the shop; it loked two minutes of train time, so seizing the scissors I clipped off the left whisker as close as I could, then rushed for the depot just as the train pulled in. I sneaked aboard and hid in the smoker until we arrived in Sioux City, where I had the job properly finished. Nice experience, wasn't it?"

Value of a Capable Man.

Some ingenious estimates of the pecuniary value of a man have been made by the Montreal Trade Review:

"For example, a bookkeeper receiving $2,000 a year. In a purely financial view it required $50,000 bearing 4 per cent. interest to yield $2,000 a year. If a man is worth the price he commands—and men who receive salaries are more apt to be undervalued—the bookkeeper is equal financially to the capitalist who has $50,000, which he loans out at 4 per cent. and lives on his income. But some men get much larger salaries. Let the man who received only $1,000 a year pause to consider before moaning over his hard lot, that he commands an income of $20,000, or, perchance, $25,000. If he persists in considering his situation unfortunate let him ask if he would choose to be placed in the condition of some acquaintance, whom he may know and who having $25,000 at command is deficient of ability to secure or fill a lucrative position and one commanding honor and respect. Is it not probable that the appointments over a safe and prudent investment for the capital, with the chances of loss, fully equal such as are ordinarily encountered by those in responsible positions?"

The great fact which the Review seems to have overlooked is that the man wears out and dies, while the $25,000 after drawing interest for a thousand years is as good as new.

Ayer's Ague Cure stimulates the liver and neutralizes the malarial poison in the blood. Warranted to cure.

How They Catch Fish in Georgia.
Last Monday morning it was our pleasure to go fishing with a party on Alapah, near Grover, and see how fish are caught the "new way." From four to six men go into the water with a log in front of them, and a sheet with one edge on the log and the other edge held up by the men so that the fish can't jump over, but fall on the sheet. The log is pushed along to the land, and when near it the fish begin to try to make their escape back to deep water by jumping. If they fail to make a good leap they lodge on the cloth, thereby becoming victims of their own destruction. It is amusing to see how they jump. It is supposed that about three hundred pounds were caught.—Abbeville, S. C. Times.

After a sea diet, to prevent boils and assist acclimation, use Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Do not be afraid to go near your enemy. The nearer you get to a kicking horse the less damage will result to your person.
