NO HOUSEHOLD SHOULD BE WITHOUT Measuring Hay.
 There is so much difference in the quality of hay that it is impossible to decide the matter accurately. It is generally believed that 400 cubic feet in a large barn taking it right through, or 500 on a long, wide, deep scaffold, will represent a ton. When the hay is cut early, is stored evenly over the mow, is well trodden when stored away, and is allowed to settle two or three months before measuring, perhaps it will hold out at the above figures. When grass is allowed to stand until nearly ripe before cutting it will occupy nearly, if not quite, twenty-five per cent. more bulk, especially on a scaffold, than the early cut, and require about that many more cubic feet for a ton. Coarse hay, as timothy and clover, will not weigh as heavy, bulk for bulk, as that which is fine like common prairie or wild hay. It is much more satisfactory to both buyer and seller to weigh the hay when possible. In estimating by measurement, multiply together the figures representing the length and width, and height of the hay, and divide the product by the number of feet in a ton. For example, if the hay is forty feet long, sixteen feet wide and eighteen feet from the bottom to the top of the mow, and the bulk agreed is 400 feet to the ton, the mow will contain 40 times 16 times 18 equals 11,520 cubic feet; 11,520 divided by 400 equals 28 tons and 320 feet, or 28 4/5 tons. It would require considerably more than 400 cubic feet from the top of such a mow for a ton; while at the bottom it will have become packed so solidly from the great weight above it, that 400 cubic feet will weigh considerable more than 2,000 pounds.

 Do not allow the accumulation of Scurf or Dandruff, when it can be easily prevented by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor.
 It is computed that 20,000,000 persons have thus far visited the Paris exposition. If we allow 4,000,000 as the number which will visit it during the present month of October, this makes a total of 24,000,000 for the entire time that the exposition is to be kept open, and this total will be short of that which was counted upon, and will leave 6,000,000 tickets yet unused.
 When your blood is impoverished the remedy is at hand. Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla.
