

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1889.

Knocked 'em out in one round.

It seems a short year since Harrison was elected. How Time flies!

It is now unlawful to kill deer in this state, and will be till next August.

There was a good performance and a good audience at the theater last night.

The La Grande Journal says W. J. Snodgrass is to be appointed U. S. marshal for Oregon.

The Chicago, Union Pacific and Northwestern is the name of the new big railroad alliance.

There is a difference of over ten inches between the annual rainfall here and the annual rainfall at Portland.

Mrs. B. C. Kindred of Fort Stevens has sold her portion of the Kindred tract at Fort Stevens consisting of 278 acres to E. J. Ford for $25,000.

At a meeting of the Astoria Building and Loan association held last evening $5200 was loaned at an average rate of 66 months, interest in advance.

One man who got a "timber claim," recently finds upon subsequent and careful investigation that the actual quarter section that he owns has six trees on it.

Experienced railroad men who have been over the road bed of the Astoria and South Coast railway as far as the locomotive runs, say that it is an excellent one.

Frank Silva, better known as "Dago Frank," and well remembered in Astoria, was shot in Spokane Falls last night and sent to the state prison as he joined the choir invisible.

A large quantity of iron arrived at Portland yesterday for the Astoria and South Coast railway company, and will be sent forward to its destination as soon as possible.

"Papa," said he, after he had had some sense knocked into him, "will I ever again be as pretty as I was?" "No, my son," said the financial parent, "but you'll know a d—d sight more."

E. S. Loomis, brother of L. A. Loomis, died in Portland yesterday. His body was brought down on the Telephone yesterday and taken over to Ilwaco to be buried.

On returning from dinner yesterday the editor of this paper found on his desk a hundred dollar Hammond type writer, complete, with a complimentary letter accompanying it, the gift of an old and valued friend.

City clerk Jewett was busy yesterday making up, for transmission to Washington certified claims of the city against the federal government, for expenses incurred in repairing and raising Third street and Benton street.

Astoria is now in instant communication with the surrounding points of Alderbrook, Fort Stevens, Ilwaco and Chinook. A cable will soon connect it with Tillamook Rock. And now a telephone line is talked of to Tillamook.

Yesterday morning while Parker and Hanson's delivery wagon was driving along Second street near their store it ran over Theo Bracker's dog Snoozer, the poor dog died without a struggle. Snoozer was between fifteen and twenty years old and he will be missed around the cigar store.

Engineer Granger goes right along with the corps of assistants laying out the preliminary line for the railway from Kinney's cannery, the proposed terminus, westward to the point. The Astoria and South Coast railroad company have not yet bought that property for a terminus, but there is an option on it for that purpose.

When the land offices notices were being sent into the Pioneer office in big wads, and they had to send after extra nonpariel and minion to set them in, The Astorian getting soup, it had no kick coming, and never said a word. It was a Democratic administration, and the Pioneer was a Democratic paper. That was all right.

The Postscript trying to let Curtis down easy says that he has "been as good a Republican in national politics as the editor of The Astorian." This is the biggest lie yet. In city, county, state and national politics Curtis was a Democrat and did his best or worst to help elect the Democratic ticket. But this is something everybody knows and is ancient history.

A few days since at one of the city schools, while a class was in recitation, a little boy kept half reclining in the corner of his seat. Miss—the teacher, had several times asked him to sit up, and finally reprimanded him very sharply. Then the little fellow, breaking into tears, said plaintively: "Well, I guess if you had a ball where I've got one, you wouldn't set up straight."

The latest invention in cheap mouth instruments comes from Austria, and is generally called the "sweet potato," though its right name is the ocarina. It is made of clay, and exactly resembles a sweet potato in shape. It is a kind of combination of the flute and clarinet, but is of course very much shorter. The ocarina is made in every key and can be played without difficulty, being probably the easiest learned musical instrument ever invented.

The official records in the post office show that during a certain period ending Sept. 30th, THE ASTORIAN IN the ordinary course of business and without "special" effort, but as a matter of usual business, sent through the post office, 1807 lbs. of mailed newspapers to bona fide subscribers; the Bladler during the same time sent 1088 lbs, the Postscript sent 445 lbs; THE ASTORIAN sending far more than the two together.

Capt. Whitcomb, of the steamer Cascades, is having built a bizzoo. It is not as big as a calliope, but can make more noise than a dozen calliopes. He is also having the capacity of the boiler increased, so that the boat won't have to stop when he turns loose on lust lazoo. He doesn't expect to make the dead, but thinks when he gets that lazoo going every one in northwestern Oregon and southwestern Washington will know the Cascades is coming.

The Postscript goes as gentle as a sucking dove after making faces and calling names and making all sorts of dirty insinuations against this paper and its editor: it now says it doesn't want to abuse anybody, and assumes an air of injured innocence. It got off very light. If those who have it will try to be honest, and stop lying and let decent people alone, it may escape further castigation. Patience has its limits and they were exceeded in this instance. It has had its lesson. Let it profit by it.

On the county assessment roll, as it stands, THE ASTORIAN is assessed to pay on $4700; the Bladler is assessed to pay on $50; the Postscript isn't assessed at all. Of course being worthless it isn't supposed to have any tangible value, there being nothing to assess. The difference however is manifest, and the contrast noticeable. Even the mortgage on the Postscript doesn't appear on the county tax roll; a good many mortgages do, but like enough, this particular mortgage is worthless. Meanwhile THE ASTORIAN and other solvent institutions are compelled to pay higher taxes than if such as the Postscript had something on the tax roll to pay on.

The bill of THE ASTORIAN for postage for the quarter ending Sept. 30th, 1889, paid to the post office at this place was more than the bills of the Bladler and the Postscript together, for the same time. This is a fact interesting to advertisers. THE ASTORIAN paid just four times as much as one, and sixty per cent more than the other. Put the Bladler's postage bill and the Postscript's postage bill together for that time, and THE ASTORIAN'S bill is eighteen per cent more than theirs. This is not the irresponsible statement of a discharged employe of any newspaper office, but is from the U. S. official record. THE ASTORIAN has one thousand dollars that says that it has the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia river.

A well posted railroad man tells a representative of the Albany Herald that he had good reason to believe that the Union Pacific intends to reach Astoria by crossing the Cascades southeast of Albany, and that the Albany and Astoria railroad company recently incorporated in that city is a Union Pacific movement. The Union Pacific company has recently had surveyors in the field, looking for a route across the Cascades, and more improbable things have happened than that this company incorporated right beneath our noses should be a part of the plans of the Union Pacific in the extension of its lines to the Pacific ocean. This would also verify the assertion made by Col. T. E. Hogg while here, in reference to the building of the Oregon Pacific to an eastward connection, that it was no longer a question of whether or not the Oregon Pacific would become a transcontinental road, but a question of how many other such lines would be built in the near future.

CANNIBAL OEGIES IN AUSTRALIA

Midnight Oollision at Mahone's House.

The Hawkeye State Goes Democratic.

MELBOURNE, Nov. 6.—Cannibals of Solomon Island murdered and devoured an Englishman named Nelson, and three native boys. Learning of the massacre, the captain of the British cruiser Royalist proceeded to the scene and shelled villages along the coast. The natives fled to the hills. Other cases of cannibalism on the island are reported.

BIG ROW AT MAHONE'S HOUSE.

PETERSBURG, Va., Nov. 6.—A scene bordering on terror took place at Mahone's hotel, last evening. About 11 o'clock, a mob of drunken men came down the street, firing off rockets and Roman candles and shouting. When they reached Mahone's residence, they halted and fired their rockets against his house, accompanying their action by derisive remarks and shouting for Mahone: "Come out!" "Come out!" "We dare him to come out!" cried the ringleaders. Seizing a double-barreled shotgun loaded with buckshot, and with the butler and a number of his friends Mahone opened his front door and went out. For a time it seemed as if there would be bloodshed, as it was understood that revolvers had been displayed, Chas. N. Romain, a dealer in fireworks, was at the head of the crowd and shouting to Mahone, "Shoot! you d—d pack!" The crowd shouted again derisively and poured a volley of fireworks toward the house. By this time it was discovered that one of the party with fireworks had been shot and the entire party left.

About midnight the chief of police appeared with warrants sworn out by Romain charging Mahone with assault with intent to kill one W. M. Morrison. Mahone was held in $2,500 bail which was furnished. Mahone said that the gun which he brought out of the house when the crowd appeared there was not loaded.

THE RESULT IN IOWA.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—A special dispatch from Des Moines, Iowa, at 3 A. M. to the Herald (Den) says the Republican state committee concedes the election of Boies by from 5000 to 8000 plurality. Later returns show the election of the entire Democratic state ticket by a majority probably exceeding 10,000. A dispatch to the Tribune (Rep) admits that if the gains so far are kept up the Republicans are defeated.

THE WETZEL DIVORCE CASE.

PORTLAND, Nov. 6.—A report was circulated to-day that Mrs. W. A. Wetzel and the professor had about decided to pool their trouble, and that the divorce suit would be withdrawn. An Astorian reporter tried to pump several friends of the couple upon the subject, but they declined to commit themselves one way or another.

ORIO DEMOCRATIC.

COLUMBUS, O. Nov. 6.—The Republican state committee at 1 P. M. concedes the election of Campbell and admit, the legislature to be Democratic in both branches. Governor Foraker has telegraphed his compliments to Campbell.

DEATH THWARTED HER PLANS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Crocker left a will, but not the one she would have left had she lived a few days longer. One of the sons of the deceased lady made his will last Sunday week, and although Mrs. Crocker was then in her usual health, advised her to make her will at the same time. She did so leaving her property to her four children, but it was understood between her and her attorney that on the following Wednesday he should call and receive her instructions for a will of a different and more elaborate character; for, although Mrs. Crocker intended to leave the bulk of her property to her children, she also intended to make provision for carrying on the various charitable enterprises in which she had interested so deeply of late years. The second will was never made, for Mrs. Crocker died on Sunday.

A Great Chance For Great Capitalists.

John Jacob Astor is worth $150,000,000. John Jacob can never spend all that money in the world unless he starts an option paper somewhere, to fill a long felt want.—Somerville Journal.

"Tis weary watching wave on wave, And yet the tide leaves no grave. We build, like corals, grave on grave, But pave a pathway seaward. We are beaten back in many a fray, But never strength we borrow; And where the vanguard rests to-day, The rear shall camp to-morrow."

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise.—A purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Petit Brothers new steamer the Vauter will be launched at Chinook to-morrow. The Cascades arrived down yesterday with three barges loaded with rock for the jetty.

According to the returns of the British board of trade to hand, over 220 vessels, with a tonnage of about 150,000 tons, cleared from London for ocean voyages during the fortnight preceding the strike, while in the same period after the date of the strike there were only about 100 vessels, of 60,000 tons.

The Port Townsend correspondent of the Daily Commercial News says: "Vessels are experiencing less difficulty in obtaining crews on the Sound for deep water ports than heretofore. The seamen's unions' demands for $40 per month for the round trip is being generally opposed by the ship brokers. The barkentine Modoc had some trouble with a union crew which had shipped at the rate demanded by the union, and it was promptly discharged. A non-union crew was obtained by the vessel's agents in this city at $30 per month to Melbourne, to be discharged at that port after the vessel's cargo was unloaded. The ship Edward O'Brien secured a non-union crew at the same terms."

The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative and if the father or mother be castive or bilious the most gratifying results follow its use, so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle.

You Won't Have Much Competition.

Nineteen out of every twenty citizens are ready to contribute a dime apiece for a monument to the property owner who keeps the nail heads in his sidewalk pounded down flush. Get out with your sledge and take advantage of the occasion.—Detroit Free Press.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, I would have died of Lung Trouble. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at J. C. Dement's Drug Store.
