THE SATANIC PRESS.

A SATANIC press is a sheet claiming tude and moral responsibility of the ed. itinerant quack who sells cheap nos trums, sings flash songs, and expecto-there is a safe market for it within will soon follow. the law. It gives itself no concern about principles: is always silent (for its silence can be secured) when corporations or individuals betray public capacity or worth. Its concern is not of present investment. with the defense of principles that underlie the public weal, but it is concerned chiefly with the dissemination of personalities, or questionable attacks upon those who evince contempt for its uncleanness. It is the buzzard, the carrion fly and the polecat in its public function; not a surly mastiff that is mute and inoffensive steal. It levies blackmail, directly and indirectly, on the weak, the timid, the unfortunate. It sometimes succeeds on the wages of its sin, just like other prostitutes, who lay by money and coin infamy into purple, fine linen and filthy lucre.

The Satanic press sometimes fastens transiently, like a barnacle to good men and noble causes, but, barnaclelike, it is sure to make the best ship unseaworthy, unless it be scraped off and a clean keel secured. The Satanic press has a good many readers, because those who do not reflect exceed cause those who do not reflect exceed it ain't for me to contradict. Is the in numbers those who do, but its fol-judge in?" lowing is the uncomplimentary crowd of listeners who always hang on the lips of seandal-mongers, and yet for I'm going to make a little comwhile malignant gossips always have a munication and reckon maybe it'll jar larger constituency than men of wise, discreet speech and useful action, this is not because it has any character, but because of its very lack of character. The Satanic press is constructive of nothing but falsehood; it is destructive of everything that is not disreputa ble. It crawls, like a snake, on its belly over whatsoever men or things
Washington city appears to have are honest, or of good repute, and silenced Governor Pennoyer's batter then pointing to its own slimy track imputes the smutch it has placed on his scutcheon to the hand of the man who is stainless, and sometimes it Pennoyer; but his position on the shop, soiling everything it omits to shiver.

These are salient features of the These are salient features of the Satanic press that has a representation of the satanic press that has a representation of the satanic press that has a representation of the sature of tive in every considerable town. The most practical manner. life of the Satanic press does not lie altogether in the support of those the people of the inland empire if this who are bound to it by the cohesive great waterway were opened to navi-attraction of deprayity. Men of decent lives and humane impulses sometimes treat the engineers of the Satanic press in the spirit of mean and truckling affability: they are as cordial tunity to demand it.—Portland Jourin their welcome, nay, often more bland and deferential to journalistic shysters and social scavengers everywhere than they are to newspapers that honorably refuse to consider that a rag picker's hook and a whitewash and therefore it cannot be cured by local ap brush are the noblest implements of plications. It requires a constitution their calling. Why should decent edy like Hood's Sarsaparlila, which, working men be deferential, when in their hearts they despise these fellows, prodding every man's ash barrel, searching right and left for soiled linen, creating smut where they can not find it: persunding one man by people testify to the success of Hood's Sarsa fulsome personal laudation, and another by impending libels to support their enterprise. It is largely on the gou feel renewed in health and strength. moral cowardice and moral indifference of reputable and decent men, who lack the moral courage to defy defamation, that the Satanic press leans for public toleration and secret and received great relief and benefit from it support. We impute no sincere sympathy or admiration to this class of men, my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and palm who know better, for this sort of in the back of my head. The effect to clear journalism; nevertheless they suffer but just retribution for their weakness and cowardice, when the Satanic journalist soils them by his contact, or, in his capacity of hired mercenary, turns and rends those who carelessly pitch the pearl of their own self-respect within reach of such swine.

Let no man, who in his heart loathes a Satanic paper, consent to support it on the contemptible and cowardly plen soldby all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass that "I'd rather take it than have him abuse me," or on the worse plea that "I want to see the latest batch of smut and rot." That is the kind of weakness that helps the Satanic press to pull even its patrons down to lower levels and make the community like itself devoid of all that makes life honorable

How to change the assessment laws in the legislature, to get rid of the silly allowance of "indebtedness," fictitious and otherwise, is still being discussed. The way to do it is very easy. Breaking it Gently.

"Yes, I remember" he said, with the old pathos in his voice, and a sad look in his eye. "It was about a simple creature named Higgings, who used to haul rock for old Maltby. When the lamented Judge Bagley tripped and fell down the court house stairs mustiff that is mute and inoffensive and broke his neck, it was a great until burglars seek to break in and question how to break the news to poor Mrs. Bagley. But, finally, the body was put into Higgins' wagon, and he was instructed to take it to Mrs. B., but to be very guarded and discreet in his language, and not break the news to her at once, but to do it gradually and gently. When Hig-gins got there with his sad freight, he shouted till Mrs. Bagley came to the

Then he said: "Does the widde: Bagley live here?"

"The widow Bagley! No, sir."
"Til bet she does. But have it your own way. Well, does Judge Bagley live here?"
"Yes, Judge Bagley lives here."
"I'll bet he don't. But never mind,

"No, not at present." "I jest expected as much. Because, you know—take hold of suthin', mum, mum. I've got the Judge out here in the wagon, and when you see him you'll acknowledge yourself that an inquest is about the only thing that could be a comfort to him!"

Another record was lowered. Count Valensin's "Faustina" broke the yearling stallion record at Bay District to-day. He trotted in 2:35; the record was 2:3814.

JOHNSTOWN FLOODED AGAIN. Johnstown, Nov. 9.—The rain for the past thirty-six hours has raised the rivers to a dangerous point. They are overflowing the banks. A temporary bridge across the Conemaugh at Cambria City has been carried away. Woodvale is flooded. Some of the nouses erected since the flood have been abandoned by the inmates. The river is still rising.

THE RELEASE OF SULLIVAN. CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—The matter of the application of Alexander Sullivan for release from bail in which he was held by the coroner in July last, came up before Judge Baker this morning. The state did not contest the motion and the obligation was discharged by order of the court.

THE CRONIN CASE.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.-In the Cronin ase to-day Archibald Cameron, saloon keeper, testified that he heard Coughlin introduce Kunze to another man as his friend. The rest of the session was occupied with technical expert testimony concerning speci-mens of blood and hair from Carlson's cottage and trunk. Professor Tolman, a microscopist, testified that he found microscopical hairs such as only exist on the human body, in a a drop of blood examined; that the blood and hair appeared to be of a
