

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1930.

A FLOURING MILL.

Go down to Wilson & Fisher's, or Thompson & Ross's, or the O. R. & N. dock, to-day, or any other day, and you will see large lots of flour arriving from the interior; hundreds of barrels, to feed the fifteen thousand people whose market of supplies is Astoria. You will see during the day a dozen little boats loading with chopped or ground feed for the various logging, lumber and other outlying camps. All the money paid to the interior manufacturers for this most necessary article could, under a better economic system, be kept in Astoria. It is for Astorians to say whether it shall or not.

Several years ago in one of our commercial discussions with the Oregonian, we proved that, irrespective of other tolls, wheat could be brought from Portland to this city, for 38 (thirty-eight) cents a ton. It was proved by a sworn affidavit from the secretary of the Astoria Transportation company, that it had been done and by accompanying figures, showing all the details, and that no loss had been incurred in so carrying it, allowing for and including every possible item of expense.

THE ASTORIAN argued from this undisputed fact that a flouring mill would pay. Irrespective of any railroad, a flour mill, rightly run, would pay then, and would pay now. And when the advent of the railroad is taken into consideration, the profitable nature of such an enterprise suggests itself still more strongly.

We are now assured of speedy railroad connection with the West Side. Those who have given this matter any attention cannot have failed to note two important and favorable facts: the best wheat comes from the West Side, and there is no mill of any considerable dimensions on the West Side. From the West Side will naturally come the chief supply of wheat for the Astoria flour mill.

THE ASTORIAN is of the opinion that the plant suggested—125 bbls. a day—is too insignificant to deserve serious discussion. A mill should be built; it would be a profitable enterprise; that is, we believe, agreed on all sides; but, in our opinion, nothing less than a 500 barrel a day mill should be thought of; and a thousand barrels a day would be none too much.

If a man is going to pack salmon, saw lumber, or print newspapers, or sell peanuts, it will cost him as much to put in a big plant as a little one; probably a little more; but when he has his plant in he can do something with it.

We doubt if a practical mill man would care to take hold of a flouring mill of so small a daily capacity as 25 barrels; while we are confident that a mill of a much larger capacity would pay a very good percentage on its amount invested. In this case, the costly experience of others would be found a profitable study, unless it were desired to learn the same facts by personal experience instead of personal observation.

Such a mill as we suggest would not cost $125,000, nor half that amount; could be built and equipped for $20,000 at the outside, and would save or should have a daily capacity from 750 to 1,000 barrels.

To make the mill greatly profitable, it will not do to depend solely on the local trade; flour must be exported, and in such quantities that vessels may be chartered. To start a vessel to advantage, the mill must be the original chartering party, and not be obliged to depend on the accommodation afforded by an opportunity to finish.

The time is ripe and opportunity favorable for the building of a flouring mill in this city. We send thousands of dollars away, that under better economic conditions could and should be kept here. Such a drain of money against the healthy growth of our community and in this as in other instances the drain of money away from us is totally unnecessary.

There need be no trouble about seeing a site; we have sites enough mills and factories, and an eligible location for the Astoria flour mill cannot be secured.

OUR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Great praise is due our chamber of commerce for the many improvements and matters of public importance that it has aided and accomplished. The list of achievements is a long and worthy one. The good results of its public labors are to be seen on every hand. But it is with members of commerce, and similar ones, as it is with individuals; they do not rest content with past achievements, and point to laurels won, but continue and do not grow weary in doing. It is for that commercial life to rise to the requirements of the present; and in this regard it may be said that while oratory is a potent aid, it is not all that is required. It is essential to all undertakings, great and small, and a due amount of energy is necessary.

There are, however, occasions when time to stop talking, and playing politics, and either take hold, or let go.

Congressman Reed's record on the dock and harbor bill in the past congress, it is believed, will defeat him in his speakership.

VERY HIGH TONED.

The Pacific coast chamber of commerce organized in San Francisco, last Tuesday. The San Francisco chamber of commerce and delegation has, however, seen fit to withdraw being too high toned and exclusive to suffer contamination with ordinary every-day people from other parts of the coast.

These kid-glove gentry are very near sighted, and need toning down. Yesterday's San Francisco Examiner gives them a needed reproof; it says:

"The Pacific coast chamber of commerce is deliberating without the San Francisco delegates, who have withdrawn in accordance with the instruction of the local chambers. We have never been able to understand the reason for the refusal of our merchants to cooperate with other mercantile bodies of the coast, and Captain Merry's explanation leaves us more in the dark than ever. The San Francisco chamber of commerce, in Captain Merry's mind, seems to be a sort of mercantile '400,' and its chief end in life is to keep itself fittingly exclusive. It would rather not get congressional action for the benefit of our steamship lines, our harbor and our defenses than to get them at the cost of associating with people with whom it could not consistently co-operate. It treats the San Francisco bricklayer more than a subsidized Canadian corporation. If that is the spirit of our merchants, they may well claim to be conservatives, but they have not reached their ideal yet. The mummies of these are more conservative still."

Meanwhile the coast conference goes on while the home delegation sullenly holds aloof. Harmony in such matters is necessary, and the snobbish action of the San Francisco chamber of commerce is in every way to be regretted.

A MAN named Nicely is to be hanged in Pennsylvania. Evidently that is not the way he has behaved himself.

THE Brazilians seem to have caught the big pedro.

MARINE NEWS AND NOTES.

The steamer Oregon goes to San Francisco, this morning.

The British ship Cliomene, from San Diego, Cal. in ballast, arrived in yesterday afternoon.

The Hermione is lying loaded at the O. R. & N. wharf, and will clear for the U. K. to-day.

The barkentine Webfoot arrived from San Francisco yesterday to load lumber at Knappa mills.

The steamer Idaho came down stream yesterday afternoon, and sails for the Sound this morning.

The Potter arrived down as usual yesterday morning, and left up, as usual, last evening. She will be taken off about the first of next month, and the Thompson will then go in her place.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. J. W. Comp, Druggist.

AUNTIE PERPLEXED.

"Please, auntie, she gives us Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla and its awful good."

T. E. Milton, of 511 Post street, San Francisco, writes: "I had been sitting for weeks with a disorder of the liver and kidneys. Finally, my wife, becoming frightened, procured a bottle of 'The California Remedy'—Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. It cured me right up. My doctor did so much for me that I sent for a bottle and gave it to my children, with the most satisfactory results."

NEXT THURSDAY IS THANKSGIVING DAY.

Thanksgiving Day will soon be here. How thankful we should be. We've all been spared another year. How thankful we should be. But there are other blessings yet. Whose absence fills us with regret. Which if we could, in some way get, we should be so thankful we should be.

If ladies who attend the play, Would put their Riffel hands away, How thankful we should be. If fate would condescend to choke The joker with his ancient joke, And the croaker with his chronic croak, How thankful we should be.

If tongues were all attached to brains, How thankful we should be. If "bogs" were barred from railway trains, How thankful we should be. If fads and foibles were tabooed, If guano were not by girls chewed, If death would kindly steal the duds, How thankful we should be.

But let us be to fate resigned, How thankful we should be. For Providence is good and kind, How thankful we should be. There's many things which we regret And wish were otherwise, and yet If we a nice, fat turkey get, How thankful we should be.

A Safe Investment. Is one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised Druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case when used for any affection of Throat, Lungs or Chest such as Consumption, Inflammation of Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup, etc., etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe, and can always be depended upon.

A Good Idea: Only They Haven't.

The Astoria board of trade has ordered 15,000 extra copies of the local papers by way of advertising. We wish to remark that Astoria has a sensible board of trade. - Chehalis Vi-dette.

Catarrh

is a constitutional and not a local disease and therefore it cannot be cured by local applications. It requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease, and you feel renewed in health and strength.

Catarrh

affects a permanent cure. Thousands of people testify to the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh when other preparations had failed. Hood's Sarsaparilla also builds up the whole system, and makes you feel renewed in health and strength.

Catarrh

"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pain in the back of my head. The effect to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I can never without Hood's Sarsaparilla in my house as I think it is worth its weight in gold." Mrs. G. E. GRAY, 1023 Eighth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.
