The dangerous accident to the Amphion, the finest vessel in the large British squadron, seems to show one thing very conclusively, and that is that the rules of the service compelling officers of war ships to pilot their own vessels in inland waters ought to be changed. Had there been a pilot on board thoroughly familiar with the winding passages through the maze of islands, the violent tide rips or whirlpools, and the other things which render navigation between Victoria render navigation between Victoria and Vancouver excessively daugerous in time of fog, the lives of the governor

SIX MILLION DOLLARS INVOLVED.

an investigation.

DENVER, Nov. 21.—The second legal fight for the six million dollars' worth of ore said to be in sight on Aspen Mountain is in progress in the United States court before Judge Hallett. The best legal talent in the west is employed and all the mining experts in the mountains are on hand. The case is known as Durant vs. Bonnybell. It was tried before and won by Bonybell. In the beginning the owners of the Durant claimed to have the apex of the vine and consequently the right to follow the vein on its dip. In this way the Durants gobbled up some of the best mines on Aspen mountain. The defeated parties to the suit, known as feated parties to the suit, known as "side-liners," then located the Bonny-bell and followed the vein into the Durant side lines, thus playing the same game that had robbed them of much valuable property. The contest rests almost entirely upon the ques-tion as to whether the Bonnybell ore oody is an ore vein in places. If so, the Bonnybell owners have a right to follow it upon its dip whether it may lead, but if, as the Du-rant owners claim, it is but a broken mass of rock and ore which has be-come detached and fallen down from the apex of their vein above, then the Bonnybell people are entitled to only so much of it as happened to lodge within their lines at the spilling. Merit Wins. We desire to say to our citizens, that we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Saive and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. J. W. Conn, Druggist.

Putting Up a Boy's Lauch.

A recent writer and she writes as one whom any boy would love—tells how she saw a mother put up a lunch for her boy to take to school, and then she tells very prettily how daintily she would have put up that lunch, and I know she would have done just as she said, says Burdette. But she didn't go far enough. Now, if I were didn't go far enough. Now, if I were going to put up a lunch for a boy thirteen years old, I wouldn't take a little tin pail nor yet a neat little covered basket; I would just take the market basket, if the family wasn't going to use it that day, and I would cut up a loaf of bread and trim off every bit of the crust to keep the boy every bit of the crust to keep the boy from lying about it and telling me that he ate it and didn't fire it over the fence when he came home. I would cut that loaf into slices and sugar as long as it would hold. Then I would load in a couple of links of sausage and some slabs of ham, a dainty cluster of hard boiled eggssay half a dozen-all the cake there was in the house, and fill up the rest cupboard, pantry, cake chest and fruit closet, and yielding to dark despair go out to the barn and hang myself.
