...medicines, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral...
"I have suffered for years from a bronchial trouble that, whenever I take cold or am exposed to inclement weather, shows itself by a very annoying tickling sensation in the throat and by difficulty in breathing. I have tried a great many remedies, but none does so well as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral which always gives prompt relief in return of my old complaint."—Ernest A. Hepler, Inspector of Public Roads, Parish Terre Haute, La.

For Home Use.

"I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults."—Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa.
"Twenty years ago I was troubled with a disease of the lungs. Doctors afforded me no relief and considered my case hopeless. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, before I had finished one bottle, found relief. I continued to take this medicine until a cure was effected. I believe that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life."—Samuel Griggs, Waukegan, Ill.
"Six years ago I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs and soon developed all the alarming symptoms of Consumption. I had a cough, night sweats, bleeding of the lungs, pains in chest and sides, and was so prostrated as to be confined to my bed most of the time. After trying various prescriptions, without benefit, my physician finally determined to give me Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took it, and the effect was magical. I seemed to rally from the first dose of this medicine, and, after using only three bottles, am as well and sound as ever."—Rodney Johnson, Springfield, Ill.

A TEST OF DEATH.

The Simple Way That Won a Large Prize.

If most people are afraid of anything it is being buried alive. That cases do happen where it is very difficult even for the most experienced physician to determine whether a person is really or only apparently dead without having recourse to means which, while they would at once settle the dispute, would place life, if it really existed, in jeopardy, may be judged from the fact that the French Academy of Sciences ten or fifteen years ago offered a prize of 40,000 francs for the discovery of some means by which even the inexperienced might at once determine whether in a given case death had ensued or not. A physician obtained the prize. He had discovered the following well-known phenomenon: If the hand of a supposed dead person is held toward a candle or other artificial light, with the fingers extended and one touching the other, and looks through the spaces between the fingers toward the light, there appears a scarlet red color where the fingers touch each other, due to the blood still circulating, it showing itself through the tissues which have not yet congealed. When life is entirely extinct the phenomenon of scarlet space between the fingers at once ceases. The most extensive and thorough trials established the truth of this observation.—Rochester Post-Express.

"Handy to have in the house"—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—a prompt and certain remedy for croup, colds, and pulmonary affections.

DYSPEPSIA.

It is that indigestion which we suddenly become aware that we possess a diabolical arrangement called a stomach. The stomach is the receptacle for food which every day and night we must feed it with, and it is the duty of the stomach to digest the food and to send it to the system. If it fails to do this, we have dyspepsia. Dyspepsia is a general term which covers a wide range of ailments, from indigestion to the most serious forms of stomach disease. It is a common ailment, and one which is often overlooked. It is a disease which is often cured by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

BIG FIRE IN MINNEAPOLIS.

And Great Loss of Life and Property.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 1.—Four blackened walls towering up above the smearing, smouldering mass of machinery, brick and building debris, is all that remains of the eight-story brick Tribune building, in which, until to-day, have been printed three daily and one weekly newspapers, and where were located a number of offices.

All to-day a constantly changing and ever increasing crowd of sight-seers thronged the streets, watching the efforts of the firemen to entirely subside the flames, which they brought under control about 2 o'clock this morning. The building has been considered dangerous for some time, its loose construction permitting heavy machinery to jar the whole building. There was but one fire escape, and it was at the end of the building where the fire raged fiercest. The single stairway was spiral, narrow and dark, and wound around the elevator shaft. Three years ago the inadequate fire protection of the building was considerably agitated, the matter being taken up by the trades and labor assemblies, and carried finally to the city officials, an attempt being made to have the building properly protected, or condemned, but nothing came of it. For some time the Union League clubroom, where the fire started, has not been used, and the origin of the fire is a mystery. The room is close to the elevator shaft, and the breaking of a window in efforts to extinguish the flames gave a draft which quickly carried the fire to the elevator and cut off the escape of those who had delayed. A few broke through the stifling smoke and scorching flame, but others sought escape elsewhere. Being at the south end of the building, while the solitary fire escape was at the north end, the printers were cut off. A number of them climbed out of the windows and clinging to the ledges, waiting for help, which in several cases, came too late. Their piteous cries attracted the attention of the firemen and a number of them were saved, while others fell off the ledges, or dropped from telephone or telegraph wires down which they tried to escape. The plight of the sufferers, burning, struggling men brought tears to the eyes of the bravest.

One of the most pathetic incidents was the attempt of James Igoe to escape. He had got clear of the building and was gradually working his way along the wires to a place of safety, while the crowd below anxiously watched his brave attempt to save to his wife and four little ones their bread winner. But his strength failed, and a groan went up from the crowd as he was seen to slip and fall to the roof of the boiler house, receiving fatal injuries. He was lifted gently and started to a drug store, but died in a few moments, breathing a last word of loving care for his family.

Seven bodies were found last night, all of which have been identified. They were Milton Pickett, assistant city editor of the Pioneer Press; James F. Igoe, Associate Press operator; Professor Olson, president of the South Dakota university; W. H. Millman, commercial editor of the Tribune; and Jerry Jenkinson and Robert McCutcheon, composers.

Other bodies are known to be in the building, but how many is unknown.

Perfectly Fleasish.
To be assailed by the three imps, dyspepsia, constipation and liver complaint—a trio of satanic birth—is a fearful disease. This often happens. The hateful three, however, soon whisk away to the nether inferno when Hostetter's Stomach and Bowel Remedy is employed to evict them. As a Stomach and Bowel Remedy, it is not in existence a medicine so widely known as this, and few indeed which have received such positive and authoritative sanction from the medical fraternity. The fact that it promptly relieves, then expels, the maladies of most common occurrence, and does make it the most popular of family medicines. But, in addition to that, it has achieved the foremost reputation as a preventative of, and remedy for shills and rheumatism, nervous and kidney trouble.
