

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON. TUESDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1889.

West 6th street is being repaired.

The Columbian skating club began this evening with a skating party at the rink.

So far this is even a finer season than one year ago, when the weather was exceptionally fine.

Switches for the Astoria and South Coast road are among the railroad materials now arriving.

The state is selling and giving title to land in township 3-6. Lets see if township 3-6, surveyed?

Prof. A. Dohlin's private pupils, and class for advanced singers, will commence study immediately after holidays.

The Astoria are fond of valuable real estate. They will soon be sending a representative of the Astoria to buy Astoria property.

Dr. C. Bateman, of Mt. Tabor, will lecture for the Y. M. C. A. on the 10th inst. Subject "Wit and Humor in Life and Literature."

The Oregon board of pilot commissioners held a business meeting yesterday and ordered a new set of sails for the pilot schooner.

The funeral of the late Luigi Serra took place last Sunday, under the auspices of the Odd Fellows and the firemen, and was largely attended.

D. K. Warren brought down 96 head of cattle and 150 sheep from the Coquille last Saturday. Four of the sheep weighed 900 pounds—good sized mittens.

When one reads about the terrible disaster in the tall Minneapolis Tribune building, he is apt to congratulate himself that should a fire break out in a one-story or two-story print shop the outfit could get out alive, any how.

R. M. Moores died at his residence in the southeastern part of the city of kidney disease last Sunday morning. He leaves a wife and two children and an aged father. The funeral will be from the Baptist church at 12:30 this afternoon.

The City of Topeka, from Alaska, arrived at Port Townsend last Sunday. She brought about 2,000 barrels of salmon and a mixed cargo of Alaska products. She also brought 800,000.25 in gold bullion from the Alaska Mining company.

The Oregonian is informed that telegraph operators are using the typewriter instead of pen or pencil as formerly. May be so, and yet it is hard to see just how an operator can, for the click of the typewriter drowns the sound of the receiver.

John Siemans, foreman of the bridge-building firm of Hoffman & Bates, came down from Portland last evening. He will begin to-day, on the two draws across Skipanon creek, each of which are 28 feet, and are to be built of iron and wood.

Married women who have filed or proved up on timber claims must take an appeal from the decision of the Register and Receiver of the Land Office within 30 days from the time they receive notice of rejection, or the land will revert to the Government.

At Siletz agency near Yaquina last Sunday, says the Albany Herald of the 1st, an Indian drove his team and wagon into the Siletz river for the purpose of cleaning his wagon, and on account of a rise in those waters the whole bunch were sent to the happy hunting ground.

H. W. Parker, of Mehama, says the Statesman, is perhaps the only man on the Pacific coast who was present when John Wilkes Booth was killed. After shooting Abraham Lincoln at the theater on the evening of April 14, 1865, Booth effected his escape, but was traced to Virginia, where refusing to surrender, he was shot.

There was a fine praise service and an appreciative audience at the congregational church last Sunday evening. A fervent prayer by the pastor Rev. G. O. Hall, a pleasing programme was presented, and rendered in such a manner as had the numbers been presented elsewhere would have elicited deserved applause. Meetings will be held in the church and conducted by Mr. Clapp during the week.

Last Sunday night Peter Cameron, a young machinist, living at Natsimou, suicided at the door of a young widow to whom he had been engaged. After the betrothal was broken off Cameron blackened her character by stories which he circulated. Then, regretting his action, he tried to obtain a reconciliation. Failing in this, he swallowed a bottle of laudanum and died at her door, holding her photograph in his hands.

In the inspectors' office, says the Telegram, is an electric bell button, which was picked up by Mr. McDermott while on his southern Oregon trip. He was walking along the beach and accidentally fell down. On finding himself lying flat on the earth, he caught hold of a piece of wood to assist himself to arise. On getting up he found it to be a piece of a stove-room from the wrecked Alaskan, and detached the button which was on it.

The ladies of Grace church will give a fair and supper at the Opera House, Thursday evening, Dec. 5th. A good, substantial supper will be given at any time during the evening, commencing at 5:30. "The six days wonder" will be one of the attractions. At different booths will be found articles for sale, some suitable for Christmas remembrances, and others good and substantial for home use. All are invited. Don't fail to come. Admission, free.

The Silverton Appeal says that a Portland printer was seen wading through the mud of the Santiam bottom the other day with a foot of long primer and a couple of galleys done up in his extra shirt, looking for a location on the Oregon and Pacific roads to start a timber land sheet. In his back pocket were half a dozen column rules, while in his hat he carried a bodkin and a job stick. Inside of six months he may be a rich man—and may be not.

R. L. Polk & Co. have just issued their new "Oregon, Washington and Idaho Gazetteer and Business Directory for 1889-90." Some idea of the wonderful growth to this northern country may be gained from the fact that this directory is fully twice as large as that of last year, the increase in the lists of names and places being remarkable. Brief sketches of all towns are given, over 400 pages are devoted to a classified business directory of Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

Real estate was as lively as ever yesterday. The Astoria Exchange made their first sale in the property bought by them of Geo. W. Hume last July, disposing of 54 1/2 feet on Third street to A. Young, for $160 a foot. Mr. Young will soon begin the construction of a $10,000 building on his property. Dement's Astoria is about closed out. The Real Estate associations are directing attention to Warrentown; Keen & Cook are selling lots at Williamsport, and Warren & Wright have Astor addition for sale.

Mr. T. S. Simpson, of Omaha, formerly associated with Mr. B. F. Allen, in the graining and decorative painting business in the east, is expected in this city this week, where he will join Mr. Allen in the painting, graining and decorative business. Mr. Simpson is an artist of the highest order. He brings the latest designs of paper decorative art from the east, also interior and exterior styles of decorating and painting. Mr. Simpson has been employed in the largest painting establishment in Omaha for the last six years and worked exclusively at paper decorating, and ornamental work with the brush.

At a meeting of the chamber of commerce last evening, M. C. Crosby read a portion of the contemplated memorial to congress, calling attention to the necessity for adequate congressional appropriation for the successful prosecution of the work of improving the entrance to the river. The committee on incorporation was granted further time to report. Dr. O. B. Estes was elected a member. M. C. Crosby reported that during his recent visit to San Francisco, as a delegate to the Pacific coast commercial conference, he had engaged the services of John E. Sheppard, commissioner of immigration for California and Oregon, to distribute matter relative to Astoria and this section of the northwest, the chamber ratifying his action.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS

The Ticket Nominated Last Evening.

The Democratic delegates from the first and second wards, met in the county court room at 7:30 last evening, to nominate candidates to be voted for at the coming city election.

Chas. DeFrance was chairman, and E. Z. Ferguson, secretary.

A caucus was first held with closed doors, and at its close the outside public, or as much of it as desired, was admitted, and the following nominations announced, in succession: Mayor.....J. P. Dickinson. Chief of Police.....H. A. Smith. Auditor and Police Judge.....W. A. Pohl. City Attorney.....Geo. Noland. City Treasurer.....W. W. Berry. Street Supt.....Thos. Logan. City Assessor.....Thos. Boelling. City Surveyor.....N. D. Raymond. Harbor Master.....John Nelson.

For councilman in the first ward Ed. C. Hughes was nominated, and for councilman in the second ward J. E. Ferguson was nominated. P. W. Weeks and S. E. Harris, from the first ward, and C. Francisco and C. DeFrance from the second ward, and C. J. Tranchard, chairman, composing the city central committee. The convention then adjourned, after sundry speeches had been made by the candidates and others.

A Telegrapher's Sad Death.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The western circuit wires of the Associated Press were burdened with outgoing matter to-night, and sending operator Chandler was hurrying the lads along the line. Suddenly Chandler paused, and shut the key, as Associate Press telegrapher Igoe at Minneapolis had "broken," and all the men on the line had paused like Chandler to listen. "There's a fire on the third floor of the Tribune building," said Igoe on the wire, "and I am on the seventh," and then, after a moment's pause, "Go ahead."

Chandler began again, and after another brief space yielded to Cleveland, who had a rush dispatch, and this was all in Cleveland's message that Igoe received: "Cleveland, O. Captain Joseph Moffett, a well-known lake man, was killed to-day by falling into the hold of his vessel. Just three Igoe 'broke.' "Boys," he ticked on the wire, and then there was another brief pause, and all the men on the circuit were listening with interest. "Boys, I've got to stand you off. I'm the only one left on this floor. Everybody is gone, and I can't stay any longer." Click shut went his key, and some operator on the line quickly "opened" and shouted after Igoe, as it were, "take the machine along, save the machine," referring to the typewriter machine, but there was no response. The clicking instrument had ticked its half-jocular message in an empty room. Near by sat the machine with the last item taken, which was the Cleveland item about the violent death. Then the work went on again, and no one of his colleagues thought seriously of Igoe's good-bye, until there came bulletins of the loss of life in the burning of the Minneapolis Tribune building, until there came bulletins of the loss of life and among them the bulletin stating the fact that Igoe had stayed too long. Those last 200 words he remained to take were fatal. They cost him his life, and the men at their keys were grave as they worked on to "Good night."

Prices Haven't Begun to Climb Yet.

A citizen of Portland who recently went to Astoria to purchase real estate, says that it is advancing to fabulous rates, lots on the tops and sides of the adjacent mountains finding ready purchasers at high figures. He also says that a recent purchase of a small tract of land, about 100 acres, for half a million of dollars has developed to be a Union Pacific purchase, and land holders are wonderfully elated over it.—Albany Herald.

The Wrecked "Idaho."

VICTORIA, Dec. 1.—Nothing from the wrecked steamer Idaho. Three Victoria steamers are at the scene of the disaster. The steamer Maud came from the wreck at 1:30 p. m., and reports the same position with weather calm. The chances of saving her are good. The Maud is now loading the steamer pumps and will go down with the diver.

Going to Make a Confession.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—It is reported to-night that Daniel Coughlin is about to confess all he knows about the Cronin murder, he being compelled thereto by his wife who was in court yesterday for the first time since the trial began.

The Latest Out.

A Daily Through Car Service has been established by the Chicago, Union Pacific & North-Western Line between Portland and Chicago via Council Bluffs, thus offering to the public facilities not given by any other line. "The Limited Past Mail," which runs daily between the above points, carries the Overland Past Mail, a limited number of first-class passengers without extra charge, and is composed of Pullman Vestibule Sleepers and Pullman Dining Cars. Portland to Chicago via Council Bluffs. This is an other indication that the Union Pacific is desirous of meeting the requirements of the people. For information in regard to this and other trains on this line, apply to E. A. NOYES, Or. M. B. BOZORTH, Agent O. R. & N. Co. Or to A. L. MAXWELL, G. P. & T. A. Portland, Or.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at J. W. Conn's Drug Store as his giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article for the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

SOME STYLISH GIRLS.

And How They Fix Themselves Up.

At the present time the fashionable girl is busy experimenting with her flowing locks. She tries various schemes—all equally desirable for the promenade. She ties it up in a Robespierre loop, that is altogether killing, and fastens a coquettish knot of black ribbon in the center.

For the evening she draws her hair upon the top of her head and coils it in two loose rings through which she sticks a long pin with jewelled head, or a tortoise-shell comb. For the ball these are replaced by ostrich plumes, with Ribstone brilliant center. To do the "Catogan" effectively the hair has been parted across the head, the front locks are parted down the middle, combed back and both strands crossed on the top of the head, to form double loops fastened with ornamental hair-pins. The back hair which generally requires a false strand, is braided, turned under at the nape of neck for the catogan, and then taken up and pinned under the front loops. A lillet or hair pin fastens the catogan.

To do the braids, the hair, which must be long and thick, is parted in front and combed back over the ears, where it is braided loosely in two plaits, slung once together and taken up so that the ends come under the top of the same, and then fastened with a tortoise shell pin.

Perfection in a visiting toilette has just been arrived at, in both color and shape. It is made with plain skirt and bodice, and a short jacket of the same material with rolled-back collar. The entire dress is of brown cloth richly embroidered with gold and black cloth, jacket and corselet being en suite. The chemisette, rising in graceful folds from the top of the square-cut corselet to a plain band collar, may be of a pale lawn or a rich green, and suggests the tone of the hat garniture and the gloves. The entire toilette is the perfection of severe elegance.

Another style which is finding favor with those who are on the qui vive for elegance and freshness of design. It is an evening dress for an elderly lady, and is built in a pompadour as to bust and shoulders, with a straight paneled skirt. The front panel is of point lace, the bodice nicely decorated with passementeries, and the remainder of the toilet is in striped moire silk. It would be difficult to design a more perfect toilet for an elderly woman of well-preserved figure.

A jaunty little cap is the rage now. Any girl of age to "set her cap" at anything can make one, so simple is it with its cloth top, velvet band, and saucy, nodding feathers. Here is the receipt for the benefit of the Astorian girls: Take a strip of stiff muslin 1 1/2 inches wide, increased on the left side to four inches, and covered plain with brown velvet, trimming the edges with a narrow black-beige border. A round piece of beaded cloth 1 1/2 inches wide across forms the crown, being well puffed and gathered at the band. A feather rigette gives the trimming, and the whole affair, though simple, is most fetching when seen on the head of a pretty young girl.

Skeleton Items.

ENTOR ASTORIAN.—Grin death has swung his scythe in our midst and cut down our most prominent citizen. L. K. Scovell quietly departed this life on Saturday morning, Nov. 23rd, and was buried on Sunday evening. Deceased was in his 71st year, but as he had been sick for 12 years was apparently much older. He came to the Nehalem valley in 1870 and so became and continued until his death a central figure in its society. A kind, generous, noble, Christian citizen; he made few enemies but many friends. He leaves a host of relatives and friends who sincerely mourn their loss. After long years of waiting the deputy United States surveyor has come and surveyed S. 1/2 of T. 4 N. R. 9 W., and every acre has been taken as fast as surveyed, except a few 40s that were considered worthless, and they will be soon gobbled up by some parties more anxious than wise, who want to speculate in timber land. The township has now about 60 residents. How many will it have one year from to-day? I doubt if it has 20. Many now here will sell to speculators as soon as they get their titles and lie to other fields of operation. Col. Barr, chief engineer of the Albany and Astoria road, passed through this section a few days ago looking for the most practicable route for a rail road. We would suggest that he look further to the east, where he will find a much lower summit and an easier ascent from either side. A man to realize how anxious we are for a rail road connecting us needs to come here and live awhile and suffer the inconveniences we suffer. For instance, it costs about $40 per ton to get freight from Astoria to this point a distance of only 35 miles. This is one inconvenience. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla if you want an honest, reliable medicine. Do not take any other which is alleged to be "about the same" or "just as good." Insist upon having Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself. Sold by all druggists. Try it.

Barbers Have Good Eyes.

Ever get a shave by a barber who wore glasses? Just think over now and if you can remember any barber who ever wore glasses, I've been in the business twenty years, I've been a writer, and I would be more apt to see such barbers than you. I don't believe that I ever saw more than three. A man who can't see well has no business fooling around another man's face with a razor. I want into a recruiting office once thinking I would enlist. They asked me several questions, [one of them being an inquiry about my business. I said I was a barber. The recruiting officer replied at once: "Your eyesight is all right." I don't think I ever saw a cross-eyed barber in my life. As a rule, the barber's eyesight is better than any class of business or professions which you find.—Ez.
