"CHINOOK" EXPLAINED AGAIN.

Alleged True Origin of the Word as Applied to Winds.

PORTLAND, Jan. 17. Editor Oregonian:

Perhaps no one knows the meaning of the word "Chinook," save that it was the name of a small tribe of Indians now extinct who inhabited the north shore of the Columbia river, at and near its mouth, of whom Concomly established his fur trading post at Astoria, in 1808.

As applied to wind, the "Chinook" was local, and had its origin at Astoria long before the inland empire was known to any but the adventurous trapper.

Chinook village was at Chinook point, about seven miles northwest of Astoria. The northwest summer wind, which prevails all along the North Pacific coast during the summer months, full upon Astoria in a direct line from Chinook point, hence the Hudson Bay company people at Astoria, and into whose hands Astoria had fallen, grew into the habit of calling the cool summer wind from the northwest a "Chinook wind," simply because it came to them directly from Chinook point.

Chinook was one time an important place to Astoria, as McDougall, her head man, married the Chinook princess, the daughter of the cunning old Comcomly.

Later on, the Hudson Bay company established a trading post at Vancouver, in Clarke county, Wash., and they called the cool summer wind a Chinooker, having learned it in their intercourse with the Astorians.

This is the correct origin of the word as applied to the wind. I have it direct from Major Birnie, the "old Hudson Bay man," who lived at Astoria eighty years ago, and who afterwards removed to Cathlamet where he died.

So the real Chinook wind is the cool northwest summer wind, and not the warm south wind, that sometimes, and often, in winter, rolls up from the south, and, taking a northerly course, sweeps with its warm breath, the snow from the boundless plains of the inland empire, and breaks up the icy letters of her rivers.

So "Chinook wind" has become a misnomer.

But there is no more harm in calling the warm south winter winds, that sweep the snow from the fields of eastern Oregon by this name than there is in calling white black, nor is there any more sense in one than the other; but it sounds very absurd to one familiar with its true meaning.

Waked Up Effectually.

A lethargic, dormant condition of the liver is hardly to be overcome with drastic cathartics and nauseous emetics. A gentler, pleasanter and far more effective means exists of arousing the system.

THE FIRST SYMPTOMS OF DEATH.

Tired feeling, dull headache, pains in various parts of the body, sinking at the pit of the stomach, loss of appetite, feverishness, pimples or sores, are all positive evidence of poisoned blood.

No matter how it became poisoned, it must be purified to prevent death. Dr. Acker's English Blood Purifier has been found to remove scurvy and syphilitic poisons. Sold under positive guarantee, by J. W. Conn.

Building a character is like building a house; we cannot make it broader than the foundation, though it is easier to make it narrower. Yet we can build upward and make the ground we have. Here the danger lies in over building till we over-balance.

THAT TERRIBLE COUGH

In the morning, hurried or difficult breathing, raising phlegm, tightness in the chest, quickened pulse, chilliness in the evening or sweats at night, all or any of these things are the first stages of consumption. Dr. Acker's English Cough Remedy will cure these fearful symptoms, and is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn.

There is a slight additional difference between a hill and a pill other than the difference of one letter. The first is hard to get up and the second is hard to get down.

THE RACE AROUND THE WORLD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—Miss Nellie Bly, who is racing around the world in the interest of the New York World, is expected to arrive here from China next Tuesday.

She will be met here by two representatives of the World, who are to have everything arranged for her and take her back as fast as steam can do it.

Miss Bly sailed from Hong Kong in the steamer Oceanic, December 28th, and was expected to reach Yokohama January 7. The Oceanic is expected to arrive here Tuesday.

Miss Bly's itinerary is by the Central Pacific, but that road is in very bad condition, as is the Northern Pacific at Seattle, it is believed she would, under the circumstances, have sooner reached New York.

Miss Bly, who is flying eastward from Astoria, and then reached the Northern Pacific at Seattle, it is believed she would, under the circumstances, have sooner reached New York.

NO HOME SHOULD BE WITHOUT IT.

It takes the place of a doctor and costly prescriptions. All who lead sedentary lives and are afflicted with indigestion, constipation, headache, biliousness, flatulence and mental depression, no loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocuous and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colic, Diarrhea, Hoarse Coughs, Feverishness and Nervousness. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest aperient and tonic they can use.

A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach, and sweetens the breath.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION. "I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to get a vegetable compound that would, like the Simmonds Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the liver to action, and at the same time (instead of irritating) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."

Dying with a Song on His Lips.

A peculiarly pathetic incident marked the closing of the life of Abner E. Stoddard, the well known barytone.

As he lay delirious in the hospital a sudden inspiration seemed to revive him, and to the wonder of all, he sat upright on his couch and began to sing in his familiar robust voice one of his favorite operatic solos.

He never sang with more feeling or more beauty of tone. The song was sung from beginning to end, the last notes died away and just as they ended the singer fell back in his bed dead.
