

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON.
TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1909
City and County Official Paper.

WILLIAM LATE HILL will compile, annotate and rearrange the code of Washington as he did the code of Oregon.

The high water has been disastrous to many dwellers on the banks of the Willamette. At Oregon City, alone, a conservative estimate places the aggregate of the loss by flood at $125,000.

Among the effects of a man recently deceased in the east was a policy of insurance for $1,000 in favor of his mother-in-law. An effort is being made to break his will on the ground of insanity.

The consideration of those who think that the government should manage the railways and telegraph of the country is gently directed to the "management" of the mail in the recent blockade. Is there anything of merit in such management to warrant the laying of additional burdens of public nature and private duty upon the "government"?

The coldest region in the United States is the stretch of country on the northern border from the Minnesota lakes to the western line of Dakota. At Pembina, which lies near the 49th parallel, the lowest temperature recorded in the great storm of the winter of 1873 was 36 degrees below zero.

Down in Nashville, Tennessee, they devised a shrewd arrangement for enabling voters who could not read to place their cross in the right place on the ballot of the Australian system. They had tin plates made just the size of the ballot, and with slots cut in them at such intervals that the open spaces would come over those names which the voter desired to cross.

BUILDING cities to-day is very different from what it was twenty-five years ago. In those times real estate men could hardly thrive because it would have been foolish to talk of this and that outside plat. Only inside property had special value. Cable, electric, and motor lines in general were hardly known. No dealer could make a map with a picture of a motor line running through it and expect to sell the land. Everything then had to be compact. The city would spread solidly with no intervening gaps.

Held to Appear Before the Grand Jury.

The following are the cases which came up for Justice May and in which parties have been bound over by him to appear before the grand jury.

State vs. William Douglas, charged with grand larceny on the steamer Columbia.

State vs. Francis O'Connor, alleged assault on sheriff Smith with a revolver trying to prevent his coming on shipboard to make an arrest.

State vs. Frank Vaughn, charged with indecent exposure of his person in public.

State vs. Charles Hansen, for assault with intent to kill with a knife, on Ed. Lindberg.

State vs. Ah Quong, for opium smoking.

State vs. The Gin, for opium smoking.

State vs. John Dunbar, for stealing a gold watch from May Sullivan.

State vs. Ah Joe, Lee Yun, Cho Yo, Wong Sin, Ho Hin, Jong We, Loo Choo, Ju Hi, Ho Yung, Wong Hock, Wong F, for gambling.

State vs. Ah Goo, Ah Luen, Ah Hin, Ah Gung, Ah F, Ah Ching, for running a lottery.

State vs. Harry Whalen and William Woods, charged with robbery of Timothy Kelly at Dick McCarron's saloon.

State vs. F. R. Clough, on a charge of libeling P. J. Goodman by publication of his letter in the Evening Transcript.

There is No Terrible In Astoria.

The method of coating piles with asphalt to protect them from the ravages of the teredo, which is so destructive to submerged timber on the Pacific coast, is pronounced by engineer Hudson, of the Northern Pacific, to be entirely successful. Piles coated with this substance were driven into boulders without shattering the coating, which was the only trouble feared, and its cost is only about twelve cents per lineal foot of each pile. It has been enormously expensive heretofore to keep the wharves in repair on the coast, as the teredo eats the piles out in less than a year, and none remain longer than two years, but this new process is pronounced a sure protection.—Tacoma Paper.

A VIGOROUS KICK.

A Merchant's Wife the Bone of Content—A Feuilleton.

A well known merchant who has been greatly benefited by Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, desired to give it to his wife, who was very delicate, but out of caution first consulted his physician, Dr. W. H. Orswell, of 200 Market street. The doctor, who is one of our leading practitioners, objecting, saying he had never seen a sarsaparilla that did not contain potash, which thinned the blood; that his patient did not have any vitality to lose, and that what delicate people need is not depressed vitality, but more blood. He however consented when assured that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla was opposed to the blood thinning idea of other sarsaparillas, and that on the contrary by specific vegetable alkalies it promoted digestion, and resulted nutrition, hence created new blood and was the very thing for feeble people. The above explains the many cases in which aged, delicate and run down people, have been built up by Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla after the potash sarsaparillas failed. Its effects are creating a sensation.—S. P. Examiner.

MARINE NEWS AND NOTES.

The Santa Rosa is expected to-day from San Francisco with the usual large crowd. The Gen. Canby brought a load of drums over from Ilwaco yesterday. They all came at once.

The Clas. Colesworth came alongside the U. P. dock yesterday, after lying at anchor for several days.

The damages received by the steamer Oregon will be required in time to allow her to sail on her regular trip next Monday.

The Telephone yesterday showed that the number of travelers is increasing by the many people who came down on her.

The Clara Parker took the brig Tanner up to St. Helens yesterday. The former will go on to Vancouver and being back a load of bricks for Astoria.

The Latest Woman's Whim.

The very latest, absurd, mischievous, and wholly incomprehensible woman's whim is a fancy for embroidering motes and precepts all over those mysterious garments she wears beneath her gowns and is supposed to reveal only in the solitude of her chamber. The garments themselves have developed wonderful tendencies of late, with their silken, clinging folds, their transparent, capricious draperies, and their diverting decorations of sacred and interesting sentiments twined in and out, a front-front of filmy lace, or a tangle of flower petals wrought in silk.

Now many a decorous and conventional woman need only lay aside her sweet tailor dress, don another gauzy skirt, and she is suitably equipped to pose in the front ranks of the ballet with a Bible text embroidered on her stockings—which isn't a stocking at all, though that is what the wearer asks for as she slides up to the counter to buy it.

So the garment which does duty for stockings now has the wicked and suggestive name of tights. Just fancy that degraded little garment fitted out with "a line of letters" for Sunday wear, wrought in letters of gold on a bronze ground, or a text of silver sheen on a shield of black. And then the others of pale flesh or soft blue tinting, or delicate silver to match the evening gown, with the small work around each leg, spelling out some cute precept. The girls that aren't quite up to the new hose that fastens around the waist with a single strap wear what is called the opera stocking, built on the plan of an opera glove, and so long that they are held by a satin girdle. The effect is quite as startling as that of the garment already described, which is called discreetly and modestly "the combination stocking."—Chicago Herald.

Deep Sea Fishing.

The Deep Sea Fishing company's steam schooner Geo. H. Chance has been fitted out for a cruise, and Capt. Adams will ship a crew to-day, and will probably sail for the fishing grounds to-morrow. She will doubtless return in a short time with a full fare of halibut and other fish, for which there will be a good demand here and elsewhere, as the Lenten season is at hand. The loads of the Chance exceeded three persons during the week. A man floating on a log was the first saved, and afterward a woman and child were taken from a little scow.

Out of the Fire

Tormented with Salt Rheum—Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Only those who have suffered from salt rheum in its worst form know the agonies caused by this disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla has had great success in curing salt rheum, and all affections of the blood.

I owe the gratitude to Hood's Sarsaparilla that one would find in his rescue from a burning building. I was tormented with salt rheum, and had to leave off work altogether. My face, about the eyes, would be swollen and scabbed, my hands and a part of my body would be raw sores for weeks at a time. My flesh would seem so rotted that I could roll pieces from between my fingers as large as a pea. One physician called it type Poison. I was told that salt rheum cannot be cured in that way. Finally I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It helped me so much that I took two more bottles, and was entirely cured. I have not troubled with salt rheum since. I also used Hood's Olive Sulfur for the itching sensation immediately. I will recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla not only for salt rheum, but for humors, and all "all gone" feeling so often experienced.

N.B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any other.

100 Doses One Dollar. Hay Already Sailed.

There is a big demand for hay among the outlying settlements so that every boat carries a good cargo along with it. Yesterday as one of the tugs was landing a bale fell into the water and was thoroughly saturated before it was recovered. This may seem to damage the hay but in reality it has been nicely salted as the tide was in and ought to be more palatable to the ordinary beast. A horse or cow should relish hay if they enjoy the clear salt itself.

The Pull on a Street Car Cable. The following record of a street cable that recently wore out its life doing duty on the California street road will be read with interest:

The diameter of the cable when laid was one inch and a quarter, but twenty months of constant hauling and wear over the pulleys and through the grip thinned it down one-eighth of an inch. Its length was 17,513 feet and its weight 44,604 pounds. For nine-tenths of a day it kept moving every day for twenty months and as its speed was seven miles an hour, the distance it traveled was 79,800 miles. It transported about 6,000 passengers, or about six times the population of the state, and turned over to the company $300,000 worth of nickles, being at the rate of $15,000 a month, or $500 a day. As the total power of the road was 400 horse power, it may be calculated this rope was doing as much hauling while in motion as 200 horses, and as each car hauled by horses uses four teams a day, the daily work of this cable was equal to that of 800 horses, with a deduction, however, for the great power required to move 44,604 pounds of cable. The cable was composed of six strands of steel wire cables, each one containing 19 wires, varying in size from six to eight wire gauges, and twisted around a stout hempen core five-eighths of an inch in diameter.
