

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: SATURDAY, MARCH 8, 1890. City and County Official Paper.

AN UNCROWNED KING.

In no other country in the world does any one man wield the influence which Mr. Parnell exerts in Ireland. Bismarck and Gladstone are the only two personalities besides Parnell, who dominate over large masses of men.

The movement to have the stars and stripes float over the public schools is receiving universal endorsement. The flag of the free should be over every public school in the nation.

There is said to be a little irritation among some of the Irish members at this rule, but no one openly rebels or Mr. Parnell might find means to eject him from the party.

There are many people in England, and some men of intelligence in America, who seriously believe that Mr. Parnell is a dangerous revolutionist in favor of a policy of violence.

It is this fact which has partially severed the Irish movement from continental sympathy. All progressive people in Europe sympathize with Ireland as against the British government.

WASHINGTON may seem to be more pushing than Oregon but she has a legislature the like of which never gathered in the capitol of this commonwealth.

TACOMA and Seattle are disgusted because they are left out in the cold, while Spokane will get the only appropriation for a public building.

Quite a force of men is engaged in active work on the Lewis and Clarke on railroad work on the line of the Astoria and South Coast road.

The attention of Astorians and the rest of mankind is directed to the fact that the Hunt railroad is coming to Astoria.

Is there any city of its size in the United States that can show a larger aggregate of real estate transactions for the first sixty-six days of 1890 than Astoria can?
