TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: Served by carrier, per week 15 cts. Sent by mail, per month 50 cts. Five of postage to subscribers.

THE ASTORIAN guarantees to its advertisers the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia river.

CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER: Police business is very quiet of late. Everybody is growing good.

Carpenters and builders report considerable in the way of building being contracted for this season.

The Salvation army have removed up Third street several blocks, and last night were singing merrily.

Residents up the river are pleased at the prospect of the extension of the street car line in their direction.

The wires were working badly last night and telegrams commenced coming several hours later than usual.

The managers of the opera house have canceled the engagement of the Augustin Daly Co., and the repairs to the theater will begin to-day.

The rapidly increasing population of the city will soon require two general delivery windows at the postoffice, one for males and one for females.

The police last evening arrested a Chinaman for smoking opium, but one of his associates brethren put up the collateral and he was allowed to depart.

There were rather more than the usual number of passengers who went up the river last evening, as will be seen by reference to the list in another column.

In the police court yesterday Wong Chung, Long Chung, Ah Sing, Charley Long, Jim Chung and Ah Long, each forfeited $5 bail on a charge of smoking opium.

Serenity and peace prevailed in the upper story of Uncle Sam's stone building yesterday, where the custom house holds the fort, and the officials were not crowded with work.

Remember the meeting of the Astoria Athletic association, which takes place at the opera house this evening at 7:30 o'clock, and be on hand if you desire to become a charter member.

All the maps or plats recently filed in the recorder's office, have been neatly copied in the book kept for that purpose, by Mr. Stengle, the last one having been finished yesterday.

All quiet in the sheriff's office yesterday, and sheriff Smith is gradually receiving the taxes. Those who have not yet paid had better "look a leetle sadder," or they will have additional sums to pay.

The Boston Fish and Fir company yesterday bought the steamer CHAS. for use in Alaskan waters this season. The price paid was $5,000. She will be fitted up before going to Bartlett bay.

The police of Astoria are good looking men, but they would look much better if wearing nice uniforms. Put on style, boys, and look like officers, for this is a city, and not a village in the backwoods.

At the last, or rather the latest shindy at the starvation army barracks, one of the revelers put his foot through the big lass drum, temporarily destroying its usefulness. Contracts are being awarded for its repairs.

The Finnish paper Uski Kotimaa has discontinued publication, and the proprietor, Mr. Nylund, is going back to Minnesota. G. W. Dunbar is figuring out buying the press to use in the office of his forthcoming Sunday paper.

It is hoped that the day is not far distant when a person standing in the door of the postoffice, can gaze upon handsome buildings on Second street occupied by a better class of people than the natives of the land of Cornucopia.

Still more agreeable and sunny than usual was yesterday, and the ladies evidently appreciated it, for they were out in full force, and thus show the handsome new shoes they had purchased of the energetic dealers who advertise in THE ASTORIAN.

There will be a meeting of the members of the Pioneer and Historical society at the chamber of commerce rooms at 11 o'clock, to discuss matters of vital importance to the organization. Every member should be present.

Under the new regime which commences next month in the office, Captain Gray's deputy will be Richard Prael, and the clerks will be Ralph Hanna and Miss Gussie Gray. Mr. Prael is now behind the boxes, learning the business of the office.

Capit had been rather quiet of late and seldom heard from, but yesterday his work was apparent, for the records showed that a marriage license had been issued which will enable Benson Bernard and Matilda Thompson to become partners for life. Success to them.

Another man has been made happy by the receipt from Uncle Sam of the patent for homeopaths, who were gorgously arrayed in all the bright colors so peculiar to those people. The little girls were three and five years of age, respectively, and seemed highly delighted when the American children allowed them to ride in a little wagon.

Among the important documents filed with the recorder for record yesterday was a release of a mortgage which had been given for the modest sum of $376,000 by the Oregon Railway Extensions company to the Farmers Loan and Trust company of New York and is now released by the latter. It must be recorded in six different counties in this state and Washington.

Every four days, as the readers of THE ASTORIAN are aware, the mail for San Francisco leaves here by steamer. The intervening days it is sent up the river to Portland, thence goes eastward and back to San Francisco over the Central Pacific, through Reno and Sacramento. A kind of "round Robin" in Hood's bay arrangement, but the letters "get there all the same."

The family of the late Walter Kyle desire to return their heartfelt thanks to the members of the board and of the fire department, and to the public generally, for the very large number who yesterday attended the funeral, and they will ever remember with grateful hearts the kindness manifested in thus honoring by their presence on this sad occasion, the memory of their deceased relative.

J. K. Elderkin, of Albany, has been appointed receiver of the defunct Seattle Insurance company, with $50,000 bonds. It has now been ascertained that the assets of the corporation consists of premium notes part due, amounting to $2,213; judgments not due, $809; judgments not collected, $300; office furniture and supplies, $156; subscriptions due but payment resisted by stockholders, $100, 234. The liabilities are about $50,000.

Fish commissioner Reed came down from Portland yesterday, where he has been suggesting to some of the fish dealers the propriety of observing the close season in the matter of purchasing salmon. They profess their inability to distinguish between salmon and steel heads. Any one, though, who ever caught them in a gill net can tell the difference. Hold 'em up by the tail. If they slip through the hand they're chinook salmon; if they don't, they're steel heads.

The telegraphed list of passengers on the San Francisco steamers to arrive, should be complete. Frequently Astorians come into this office to see the passenger list to see if friends they expect are on board, and not seeing the name give themselves no concern about the arrival of the steamer. Then, when the vessel comes in the next morning, the expected one is on board and surprised at not being met. Telegraph the whole list, then people will know. The way it is now it is an even bet, whether the name will or will not appear.

The steamer on board of which Maggie Mitchell and her company had come up from San Francisco was detained here so long on Tuesday morning, discharging freight that it did not arrive at Portland until 8:30 p. m. But the large audience at the Marquam was advised of the cause of the delay and waited patiently until 9:45 when the performance began, and "Fanchon" was presented. Maggie Mitchell is famous in that piece, and is said to present it with all the freshness and interest of youth, though she remembers having seen her in Ford's theater, Washington in 1863, twenty-seven years ago.

Frederick Wards brings a story from the north of the Magic and Drama. He says the tramps up there are the most honest men he has yet seen. He and a friend were standing on a corner when a seedy looking man came up and said: "Say, mister, can you give me the price of a good pair of shoes?" Wards had no small change, so he gave the fellow a half dollar. The tramp disappeared into a saloon and they paid no more attention to him. Presently Wards felt somebody pull his sleeve. "Hello, mister," said the tramp, handing him 35 cents, "here is your change. I'm much obliged to you."

A man is reported to have started a new industry near Walker's island. He has started in fishing for seals with a net having a mesh a foot square and made of coarse cotton cord. He is not catching many at present; as there are but few in the river, but he manages to get two or three a day. Each seal yields about five gallons of oil, worth about 75 cents per gallon, and at least one skin. By and by, when the smelt are running, the seals will come up by the hundred and then, he may catch a few more. He will want to do with. As the seals are very destructive to salmon, it would be a good thing if more would engage in fishing; and so lessen the number.

Seldom has there been a larger funeral than the one yesterday at noon, of the late Walter Kyle. He was dressed in his band uniform, and in the coffin were four handsome floral designs, consisting of two crosses, an anchor and a wreath, and in the latter was the word "Rest." Rev. McCormack officiated, and the pall bearers were Frank Maenly, J. R. Clinton, T. E. Coe, H. P. Hanson, Richard Ebermann and Cleveland. The services were held at Surprenant & Co.'s parlors, which were crowded, while hundreds were on the sidewalks for half a block or more. The remains were taken on the steamer Electric and buried in the Clatsop cemetery. The band and fire department were out.

Railroad Rumors: It was reported yesterday that the $3,000,000 in bonds of the Astoria and South Coast railroad company were about to be negotiated. Two banking firms are mentioned in connection with the negotiations, an Amsterdam firm, and Lombard Bros. of New York. It is understood that arrangements were made whereby the latter firm take the bonds at 92 cents on the dollar. The board of directors have made final and satisfactory arrangements which insure the building of the road to the seaside this season.

Those wanting choice table fruits at greatly reduced rates at Thatcher's have only three days more. See adv't.

Here's a Chance: Worsley & Carruthers offer this morning Lots 7, 8 and 9 in Block 10, Street 3, Astoria, for $3,500. The improvements on the property cost $1,800, and the lots are 50x150 each, only one block from the street car line and on the city front. Rents for $25 per month.

The value of Pleasant View property is becoming apparent. Pleasant View is good property to buy, either for residence or investment.

There will be a grand ball given by the A. A. D. C. Buy a ticket and help them in securing uniforms. Utzinger's orchestra will furnish the music.

Lost: A gold glove-button set with garnets. Finder please leave at this office.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Geo. Taylor is in the city. D. W. Cummins is in the city. City assessor Wright is back from the interior. Judge Page returned from Portland yesterday morning. H. G. Van Dusen has been appointed notary public. Capt. James Strang came down from Portland last evening. Henry Villard will be in Tacoma on the 10th of next month. A letter from C. P. Huntington says that he will be here next month. Mr. Smith, of the firm of Hoffman & Smith, will be down here next Saturday.

Miss Kate Thrall returned yesterday from a business trip to San Francisco and the Sound. Mrs. Lockwood, of Portland, accompanied by her two daughters, arrived here yesterday.

Henry B. Thielsen and family have gone to Independence and will be absent about ten days. Col. Fred Crocker and C. P. Huntington will arrive in San Francisco, from New York to-morrow.

United States marshal L. T. Barin has appointed W. J. Barry deputy United States marshal for Clatsop county.

Mr. Jno. Barrett, late city editor of THE ASTORIAN, has resigned his position and leaves this morning for Portland. He is succeeded by Major E. A. Weed, a newspaper man of experience who is commended to the good graces of our readers.

AWARD OF GOVERNMENT WORK.

Contracts For Poles and Fascines. Major Handbury opened bids on the 10th, for furnishing poles and fascines for use in constructing the jetty at the mouth of the river. The bids were per cord for the fascines, and per pole for the poles, and were as follows: C. P. Church, Portland, 23 1/2 cents per pole, for 9,000 poles, and $284 per cord for 5,000 cords; an aggregate of $16,337.50.

Warren & Wright, Astoria, 30 cents per pole and $3.18 per cord; an aggregate of $18,690.

Jno. Shepard, Portland, 22 1/2 cents per pole, and $2.49 per cord an aggregate of $14,497.50. His bid was conditional upon the government doing the towing from the channel of the Columbia river.

Thos. P. Randall, Oregon City, 27 cents a pole, and $2.98 a cord; an aggregate of $17,230. His bid came in two hours too late.

There really were but the two first bids to be considered, both of which were, under the circumstances, very low.

The balance of the appropriation available after deducting all outstanding liabilities, is $75,000.

Preparation goes on all along the line, and a large force of men will be put on after the 1st of next month.

MARINE NEWS AND NOTES.

The Lorton sailed yesterday. The British ship Nerens cleared yesterday for Limerick. She carries 55,000 sacks of flour from Portland and 8400 sacks from Astoria. Her cargo is worth $76,002.

Foundry and Smelting Works. Yesterday a call was made at the new foundry and smelting works at the head of Second street, just below the Union Pacific wharf, where Messrs. Griffith & Taylor were supervising the completion of their works. The furnace, blower and engine are in position and melting will commence in a day or two. Molds were at work and already have a number of molds ready for casting sash weights, which will be the principal product of the foundry. Their material used is scrap iron, and is fished up from the river, where it has been thrown out of the furnaces. This material is used in only a very few cities in the United States, and THE ASTORIAN is glad the gentlemen have seen fit to locate here where the material is abundant for a long time to come. The demand for sash weights is very great, and they can sell all they can manufacture.

Passengers to Portland. The following is the list of passengers who went up the river last night on the steamer R. R. Thompson: C. S. Harris, G. Nathan, H. Harris, M. Dannabaum, M. McFarland, J. A. McIntosh, J. E. Bingham, Percy Warren, E. T. Bash and son, A. A. Beck, E. Colvin, J. D. Perry, S. W. Tollman, W. E. Watson, G. W. Eastbrook, John Anderson, W. H. Heald, R. O'Hara, F. H. Osogood, C. H. Burch and wife, A. J. Browlie, A. Steinhauser, H. E. Lewis, H. C. Monis, Geo. Taylor and wife, Miss Taylor, H. McCall, F. E. Halbersham, H. B. Theissen and family, Miss Wilson, L. W. Case, F. J. Goodenough, T. Johnson, C. E. Nielsen, G. Backus, W. J. Earle, F. H. Manaris, Mrs. Lockwood, Miss Baker, E. Colvin, H. Stockhouse, T. S. D. Thomas, T. Joseph, C. Forest, S. Borchers, Mrs. Williams, A. Bartholomew, G. W. Baldwin, H. Steepleton, John Carlson, D. Douglass, F. Short, Mrs. G. W. Rucker, F. Moon, G. W. Spears, A. J. French.

A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life: It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a larger bottle, it helped her more, she bought another and grew better fast; continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

IT IS A BIG IDEA.

A Scheme to Change the Course of Fraser River. In conversation with an old Cariboo pioneer, says the New Westminster Truth, some points were obtained in reference to a scheme that, were it consummated, would, it is contended, prove of incalculable benefit to this section in particular and the whole of the Pacific ocean. It is nothing more or less than the deflection of the body of water forming the head of the Fraser river from its southwestward course to a direct northern course and turning it into the Arctic instead of the Pacific ocean.

On the summit of the Rockies, as all Cariboo miners know, there is but a short distance between the sources of four great rivers, whose waters flow to three of the cardinal points of the compass. These are the Fraser, flowing into Puget sound; the Columbia, flowing into the Pacific ocean at Astoria; the Missouri, emptying into the Mississippi, thence to the Gulf of Mexico, and the Peace river, whose course is directly north to the Arctic ocean. The headwaters of two of these streams (the Fraser and the Columbia) are known to contain gold-bearing gravel in large quantities. But the great trouble is that the season, when the streams can be worked (i. e., in the summer) the water is so high that the mining cannot be prosecuted. The Fraser river drains an immense area of the Rocky mountain water shed, and then empties in what is known as Summit Lake. There are two outlets to Summit Lake—the Peace river, running south through the Cariboo region. If a good and substantial dam was constructed across the head of the Fraser where it leaves this lake and the water forced to flow down the Peace river, the former stream would be left comparatively empty during the summer time, which would allow of the working of its bed for precious metals, and it is believed by those who are in a position to speak authoritatively, that enough gold could be secured in one season by thus deflecting the water, to pay for the dam seven times.

As a part of this it is claimed, and reasonably, too, that the turning of the bulk of the water of the Fraser, will do away with the usual June and July floods in this portion of the province, thus obviating the necessity of dyking low lands along the river banks and at the same time will not in the least interfere with irrigation or the fishing industry, because the large rivers tributary to the Fraser, west of the Rockies, and which furnish the bulk of its water during the winter season, would not be interfered with. This may sound like a chimerical scheme, but many incline to the opinion that it is feasible, because all Cariboo miners, prospectors and explorers interviewed are satisfied that the results to be obtained, could the scheme be carried out, would ten times over pay its costs.

A FRUITFUL FIVE-DOLLAR BILL.

An Object Lesson in Finance—What Helps One Helps Another. A little money sometimes goes a great way. As an illustration of this read the following, founded upon an incident which is said to have really occurred:

A owed $15 to B
B " $20 to C
C " $15 to D
D " $20 to E
E " $10 to F

All of them were seated at the same table.

A having a $5 note, handed it to B, remarking that it paid $5 of the $15 he owed B.

B passed the note to C, with the remark that it paid $5 of the $20 which he owed.

C passed it to D, and paid with it $5 of the $15 he owed D.

D handed it to E, in part payment of the $20 owed him.

E gave it to F, to apply on account of the $12.50 due him.

F passed it back to A, saying, "This pays half of the amount you owe me."

A again passed it to B, saying, "I now owe you $5."

B passed it again to C, with the remark, "This reduces my indebtedness to you to $10."

C again passed it to D, reducing his indebtedness to $5.

D paid it over to E, saying, "I now owe you $20."

E handed it again to F, saying, "This reduces my indebtedness to you to $2.50."

Again F handed the note to A, saying, "Now I don't owe you anything."

A passed it immediately to B, thus canceling the balance of his indebtedness.

B handed it to C, reducing his indebtedness to $5.

C canceled the balance of his debt to D, by handing the note to him.

D paid it again to E, saying, "I now owe you $15."

E took $20 from his pocket, handed it to F, and returned the $5 note to his pocket, and thus the spell was broken, the single $5 note having paid $82.50, and cancelled A's debt to B, C's debt to D, E's debt to F, and F's debt to A, and at the same time paying reduced E's debt to C from $20 to $5, and D's debt to E from $20 to $15.

Moral.—Here a little and there a moral, helps to pay off large scores. Money circulates from hand to hand and business moves. Pay your debts in full if you can, and if you can not pay in full, pay something. What helps one helps another, and so the round is made.

THE QUESTION SETTLED.

This is a faithful picture of the establishment of Thomas Price & Son, at 524 Sacramento St., S. F. As the leading chemists of the west, they were asked to settle the question as to whether sarsaparilla was in fact a vegetable alternative, instead of mineral blood purifiers like iodide of potassium. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the first to discard the old notions and proceed under the modern theory. Its cures are the talk of the hour.
