Rich Gold Ledge Found in Nevada. Special to THE ASTORIAN. CARSON, Nev., April 2.—A report from the scene of the gold strike at Wellington, Douglas county, says that James Gardner, a wholesale merchant and capitalist, has struck a ledge seven feet wide, assaying $500 to the ton.

Highway Officials in Session in Chicago. Special to THE ASTORIAN. CHICAGO, April 2.—A meeting of highway officials of all the roads between Canada and the Gulf, Chicago and the Rocky mountains, was held here to-day, for the purpose of reorganization of the interstate railway association.

Six Boys Killed in Texas. Special to THE ASTORIAN. VIKON, Tex., April 2.—Three sons of K. B. Barker, aged 15, 13 and 11 years, and three boys of K. B. Womack, aged 15, 13 and 12, were buried to-day by the coming in of a sand bank where they were playing. All were dead when removed.

The Swollen Mississippi. Special to THE ASTORIAN. HELENA, Ark., April 2.—The river here has fallen an inch, owing to a break in the Asotin, Mississippi, levee. The rain has fallen heavily and another break is expected. All stock saved from the flood are suffering terribly and many are dying.

Welcome News to Louisiana. Special to THE ASTORIAN. WASHINGTON, April 2.—The signal service office has issued a special bulletin in which it says that notwithstanding the recent heavy rains there is no likelihood that the Mississippi river will again be as high at New Orleans as it has been this season owing to the relief given by crevasses above that point.

Unacquainted With the Facts. Special to THE ASTORIAN. NEWARK, N. J., April 2.—The conference of Methodists has adopted a protest addressed to the United States senate against the passage of the anti-Chinese bill of March 17th on the ground that it is unjust, anti-Christian and provocative of retaliatory measures on the part of Chinese against merchants and missionaries in China.

Opposed to the Anti-Chinese Bill. Special to THE ASTORIAN. NEW YORK, April 2.—The Methodist Episcopal New York east conference adopted this afternoon in Brooklyn a paper addressed to the United States senate which recited that the New York east conference composed of 270 ministers and over 55,000 members of the church, protested against the passage of the anti-Chinese bill which passed the house March 17th. The paper characterized the bill as unjust and fraught with danger to American missionaries in China.

International Monetary Convention. Special to THE ASTORIAN. WASHINGTON, April 2.—The Pan-American conference to-day adopted the amended report of the committee on a monetary convention.

Proposing to Make Idaho a State. Special to THE ASTORIAN. WASHINGTON, April 2.—The house spent the entire day in the consideration of the bill for the admission of Idaho as a state.

Sudden Death in Montana. Special to THE ASTORIAN. HELENA, Mont., April 2.—Nathaniel Dyson, a gambler, fell dead to-night in a restaurant, from heart disease. His history is rather romantic. He was the son of a Methodist minister at Platteville, Mo., and had not seen any of his relatives for 20 years. He was well known among the sporting fraternity of the northwest. His remains will probably be taken to the house of his father.

Reply Desired on Lead Ore Imported. Special to THE ASTORIAN. HELENA, Mont., April 2.—The board of trade of this city has passed a set of strong resolutions, asking congress to place a duty on all lead ore imported from Mexico and other foreign countries.

Result of the Kansas Election. Special to THE ASTORIAN. TOPEKA, Kan., April 2.—Late returns from every city in Kansas indicate that though the women registered their full strength, they took but little interest in the election. At Hutchinson, Severance was elected mayor; the women's vote was large; at Kingfisher, Oklahoma, the election passed off quietly. Hon. J. D. Mills was elected mayor. The name of Lisbon was changed to Kingfisher by the council at its last night's meeting.

A HEAVY JUDGMENT. Against the Oregon Pacific Railroad Company.

Special by California Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Judge Finn rendered judgment to-day in favor of Simon B. Tobey and against the Oregon Pacific railroad company for $95,000. The action was brought on promissory notes and to foreclose a mortgage on the steamer Eastern Oregon, formerly the City of Paducah made by defendants to secure notes which were given as the purchase price of the steamer. The original transaction was between the Florence Steamship company, the owner of the vessel and the Oregon Pacific railroad company, but before the maturity of the notes they were all assigned to the plaintiff. The defendant resisted payment on the ground that they had been defrauded in the purchase of the steamer.

A California Stage Robber. Special by California Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—A robbery of $20,000 was committed to-day in the city of Paducah, Ky. The robbers, who were members of the band of James W. Black, who were on the Pacific coast, were seen to enter a stage at the depot at Paducah, where they were seen to open the trunk of a stage coach and to remove from it a large amount of money.

Disastrous Explosion. Special to THE ASTORIAN. WILKESBARE, Pa., April 2.—Four miners killed and four badly injured by an explosion in the Nanticoke mine to-day.

A Venetian Murder. Special to THE ASTORIAN. VENICE, Italy, April 2.—Information received from Logon court house says that on Monday night Jerry Hatfield and M. C. Lee, an adherent of the McCoy faction and Hatfield-McCoy vendetta, met in a house of ill repute. Both began shooting and Hatfield was shot dead. Lee was captured in Kentucky. Hatfield was a cousin of "Devil Anse."

Accused Express Robbers Acquitted. Special to THE ASTORIAN. BRAINARD, Minn., April 2.—The express robbery examination ended to-day with a decision in favor of Sears and Fair, accused, who were discharged. The crowd in the court room cheered lustily. They will sue the Northern Pacific for prosecution, each claiming $100,000 damages.

The Returns Delayed. Special to THE ASTORIAN. PROVIDENCE, April 2.—The Australian system will cause delay in the return of the state election. At present, 140 towns, eight districts and no cities, give Ladd, Republican, 2,229; Davis, Democrat, 2,195. Last year they gave Ladd 1,538, Davis 2,532. Returns from this city will be very late. The Republicans gain two assemblymen in Fiverton. The outlook now is that nothing definite will be known until to-morrow morning. An unusually heavy vote has been polled. The election passed off without disorder of any kind. From all parts of the state they report entire satisfaction with the new voting system. Several commissioners from other states were here to inspect working. The ballots were printed on big sheets of paper with the names of all the candidates arranged in four columns. It requires ballot boxes the size of large dry goods cases to contain them.

Had Robbed in Cabins Last Evening. Special to THE ASTORIAN. SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—This morning news was received from Escondido that the stage was held up on Monday by highwaymen five miles from Escondido. There were nine men in the stage, with a gun and pistol on the front seat. The robber stood on a bluff above, in the brush, and covered them with a rifle, ordering them to throw out the international company's baggage, which was not in the stage, but there was bullion and gold dust belonging to the others, valued at $10,000, aboard.

New Notes From Eugene. Special to THE ASTORIAN. EUGENE, Ore., April 2.—The dry goods store of Eastland & Wilson on Ninth street, was robbed last night. Thieves broke open the rear door, and two suits of men's old clothes were left. The robbers taking new suits and a small amount of other clothing. Republican primaries will be held in this town and county next Saturday. Active wire pulling is now going on to secure the support of delegates by the different candidates for district attorney, judge and county clerk. The governor and congressmen are lost sight of in the scramble to get other offices.

Spokane's Municipal Election. Special to THE ASTORIAN. SPOKANE FALLS, Wash., April 2.—C. E. Lough is elected mayor by a majority of nearly 1,000. His election is a triumph for the gamblers and saloon keepers. His opponent, E. E. Curtis was supported by the law and order league, and the labor vote. Money was spent freely for Lough.

A YOUTHFUL TOURIST. The Experience of an Eleven-year-old Seattle Lad as a Tramp.

"I'm awful tired, and I don't mean to be a tramp all my life, so I don't. How I do wish I was back in Seattle with my pa an' ma."

It was a bit of a wail, an 11-year-old boy, who spoke thus to a Council Bluffs, Ia., Nonpareil reporter a few days ago. He was freckle-faced and wore an old blue knit cap. His shoes were worn through at the toes and his clothes were threadbare and torn here and there. His dirty and wan face, shrunken blue eyes and attenuated body proved that he had not been living on the fat of the land.

His name is James Thompson Egan, and his father is J. B. Egan, city editor of the Seattle Daily Post. He ran away in July last and since then his father, nearly distracted with grief, has been searching everywhere for him, writing hosts of letters to chiefs of police, advertising in newspapers and employing detectives. Several thousand dollars were thus expended in vain. Last Saturday the prodigal son wrote his father stating that he was in Chicago and ready and anxious to return home. The parent telegraphed money to the general passenger agent of the Northwest there and also telegraphed the lad to call there for his ticket.

"I've had enough of it an' plenty to spare," said the lad. "I've been going to George Hamilton—he got sent up afterwards for burglary—an' he an' his gang said there was nuthin' like trampin' around an' seein' the world."

"That was at Portland. So when pa moved to Seattle I booked five cents 'belongin' to my little brother an' had five cents of my own. I got hold of a boot-black's kit an' stowed away in the hold of a steamer bound for Tacoma. Then I moved to Spokane Falls an' Helena. When I got to Glendive I threw my kit away an' made $50 pickin' agates on the shores of the Yellowstone river. I've been to St. Paul, Milwaukee an' all around. At the time I was in Chicago, when I've been for four months, I slept at the Newsboys' home an' took my meals where I could get them."

"I can travel anywhere without money. I worked the conductors by tellin' 'em I was a poor orphan, with out a cent, goin' to my aunt, who was too poor to pay my expenses. When that game didn't work, I 'scats' it—got down under the seats and stayed until the conductor found me and put me off. I've done all sorts of things to make a livin'; blacked boots, sold papers, peddled agates, was a popcorn and chewin'-gun peddler, and made money sellin' tips for 10 cents apiece at races."

"Hamilton, my pard, gave me bad advice," continued the sage of ten, a runaway at nine. "It's no good bein' a tramp. I've been hungry many a time and had to beg something to eat. That was when I was travelin', because I knowed I was no use to bein' in cities. Then I was arrested once at the Newsboys' home because they thought I had burglarized somethin'. I was scared that time. But they didn't lock me up, because I was innocent. I had a fight in Milwaukee and was hauled up before the police judge but he turned me loose."

"I was tired of it long ago, but I've come to it at last. I left Chicago last night an' I'll be at home Saturday. If you ever take a notion to tramp take my advice prompted by experience an' don't do it."

A RUSSIAN PLOT REVEALED. The Reported Illness of the Czar Shakes Financial Circles.

Special by The California Associated Press. LONDON, April 2.—The latest conspiracy against the czar has been revealed, by the letter of a dying naval officer who succeeded. It is thought to have led to the czar's illness reported to-day, which disquieted every market in Europe. This letter, it is said, discloses the fact that the plot was not against the life of the czar alone, but threatened the lives of his daughter, Princess Sofie, his uncle, the Grand Duke Constantine, and Elizabeth, wife of the grand duke.

Horrible Treatment of a Priest. Special to THE ASTORIAN. QUEBEC, April 2.—Rev. Corrivault, parish priest of Deseroli, was attacked in his presbytery last night by burglars, who robbed him of his money and shockingly ill-treated him. They threw him down stairs, and the lamp which he held burst, setting fire to his night-clothes. To extinguish the fire, they dragged him out of the house, rolled him in the snow and left him. Reviving afterward, he managed to get back to his bedroom, where he was found this morning, unconscious, and bathed in blood. His recovery is considered very doubtful.

Political Rancore in Manitoba. Special to THE ASTORIAN. WINNIPEG, Man., April 2.—The breach between members of the provincial government has caused a pause among the liberals throughout the province, and strong efforts are being made by the party to retain the control of affairs by throwing overboard both premier Greenway and attorney general Martin, who aspires to be premier. Should Greenway and Martin be shelved, it seems absolutely certain that provincial treasurer McMullan will be requested to form a cabinet, that shall not include in its membership anyone under control of either Greenway or Martin.

The Czar is Not Sick at All. Special to THE ASTORIAN. ST. PETERSBURG, April 2.—It is learned from reliable sources that the report that the czar had been attacked with sudden illness is incorrect, as he is in perfect health.
