Carrying Water in a Skull

That is a terrible story coming from North Queensland about a man who was lost in the bush. He used up all his water, and then dropped his "billy" in the agony of his thirst. By and by, fortunately, he came to a water hole, where he slaked his thirst and found the road again. He had still some thirty miles to go, however, and he had nothing whatever to carry water had nothing whatever to carry water in. Of course it would have been in. Of course it would have been madness to attempt to travel thirty miles on foot under a North Queensland sun without any water, so his ready invention came to his aid. He had been horrified a short distance back by the skeleton of a man who had evidently been dead several years. He went back and got the skull. He went back and got the skull, plugged up the eye-holes with clay, and filled it with water. He then tramped that thirty miles on the water contained in the skull. Can any novelist imagine a more ghastly and frightful idea than this, for which we can vouch?—Pall Mall Gazette.

IT Your Liver Reminds You of its existence by dult pain or sharp twinges in the right side, or beneath the dexter shoulder blade, accept the reminder as a warning, and regulate the organ without loss of time, by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The above symptoms are usually accompanied by yellowness of the skin, constipation, furred tongue, disorder of the stomach, sick headache and morning nausea. But a reform is promptly instituted by the Bitters, the best possible substitute for ealomet, blue pill and other super-potent and hurtful drugs erroncously designated as remideles for biliousness. Appetite and digestion are restored, and the bowels resume activity, when an impetus is given to the functions of health by this sterling anti-bilious medicine, which also has the effect of entireling and purifying the circulation, and fortifying the system against ma'arial infection in nair or water. It is also highly beneficial for rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles. If Your Liver Reminds You

A Great Temperance Scheme

A wild-looking man rushed by the

A wild-looking man rushed by the guardian of the editorial sanctum yesperday, and, with hand elenhed and hair flying, wildly exclaimed:

"Are you the editor of the Boston Journal?"

"Try to be."

"Do you want to cure every drunkard in Massachusetts in one year-cure him for good and all?"

"Most certainly."

"Well, listen then. There are about 10,000 men in Massachusetts who get drunk. There are more than 70,000 prohibitionists. Well, sir, you just advocate in your paper that the prohibitionists go for the drunkards baldheaded. There will be seven sober men to one runmy. Let them work tupon the drunkard day and might, and I tell you they will either cure or kill all the drunken men in less than six months. D'ye see?" And he pirouetted into the pure air to calm his fevered brow. And yet he was not more crazy than some of our callers who drop in from time to time.
