Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE
There is nothing comparative or hesitating in their language when the official analysts, chemists and scientists speak of the quality of the Royal Baking Powder. "As good as," "harmless," "pure" are tame phrases to describe the superlative merits of this great baking powder. Whenever actual, scientific, practical tests are made, it is emphatically declared superior in its leavening strength, purity and wholesomeness. Witness the report of Prof. Wenzell, of the College of Pharmacy Department, University of California:

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19, 1889.
From actual analysis made by me, I pronounce the Royal Baking Powder to be the Strongest and Purest Baking Powder before the public. It is entirely free from alum and other additions injurious to health.

THE FEDERAL CENSUS.

Gathering Information About a Great People.

COUNTING BY ELECTRICITY.

Soon an army of 45,000 men will sweep the United States clean of information on nearly every imaginable substance that has a statistical bearing. Then a deluge of facts will pour into the two offices at Washington where 2,000 clerks will sift and resolve them into intelligible shape. They will show that you had only two chances in three of surviving your first year of life, until the compiler tabulates you in his exhibit of "causes of death." The census will insist on knowing your race, sex and where your parents were born, whether you are married, single or divorced; whether you own the house in which you live, and whether or not there is a mortgage on it, and why you borrowed the money on the property. You are compelled, under a penalty of a fine of $100, to answer the above questions. All this information will be condensed into about twenty-three volumes, which will be entitled the "Eleventh Census of the United States."

The United States is divided into 175 districts. Each district has a supervisor appointed by the president, and under each supervisor is a regiment of enumerators, whose business it is to go to every house and gain the information before spoken of. You are expected to impart everything you know about yourself to the enumerator. If you are insane, deaf, dumb or blind you are recorded as such, with notes on the cause of your condition, including mention of relatives who have been similarly affected. The facts upon reaching the census bureau are counted by electricity. It is estimated that the machine does three-fourths of the labor and time. To begin with, there is a little pencil of steel on the end of a metal arm a foot or so long, which is so arranged that you can push the pencil in any direction you wish. This pencil is full of small round holes just big enough to allow the pencil to be thrust into them. Each of the holes has a letter or figure close by it, to distinguish it from the others. Now the operator, a man in a white coat, holds the pencil in his right hand and proceeds to business. The name on the schedule is Peter Fish; but that is not worth counting, for Mr. Fish is heretofore to be regarded from the statistical point of view merely as a unit. He lived in the first ward and accordingly, the operator puts the pencil down in the little hole marked "1" in one of the divisions of the celluloid plate. Also he was white—another hole punched, male—another hole, 58 years of age—another hole, born in Sweden—another hole, his father likewise—another hole, his mother ditto—another hole, his occupation was that of a laborer—another hole, and he died in January—another hole of malaria fever. That is all that is done by Mr. Fish; the card previously inserted is removed from the holder and it is found to be punched with a number of round holes in different places. From that card, with nothing on it or in it but the steel pencil, a machine can read about Mr. Fish and his history as easily as from the original schedule, for the position of each hole gives the meaning to be conveyed. But the steel pencil does not do the work; electricity does that, and counts the facts recorded by the holes as well. The punched card is laid in the bottom of a tray, which has holes in it corresponding to the holes in the celluloid plate. These holes are filled nearly full of mercury. Above the tray is a horizontal plate which moves up and down as directed. The metal plate is attached to its lower side little metal plungers connected with it, with a separate connection for each hole. But suppose a card is placed in the tray, with a dozen holes in it here and there, fitting exactly over the holes to which they correspond in the tray, it is apparent that all the plungers will be stopped by the card save those which find the holes, thus completing only the corresponding circuits. Each of the circuits thus completed connects with a sort of electric clock—a small affair which counts numbers on its dial instead of hours and minutes. The clocks communicated with give one tick for every space thus noting the fact that one more man, say, was a laborer, born in Sweden, died in January, etc., etc. If Mr. Fish's history had been different other holes would have been originally punched in the card,

PEOPLE WHO ARE TALKED ABOUT. GETTING UP EARLY. Habit Won't Stand Freezing.

Bismarck has an annual income of $100,000. Mr. Powderly is paid $5,000 by the Knights of Labor. Representative McKinley expects to spend the summer in Europe. Gladstone says that he has given up forever his old occupation of tree-felling. Emmer Pasha now speaks twenty-seven different languages and dialects. Senator Blair is said to have lost twenty-five pounds since the opening of congress. D. E. Crouse of Syracuse, N. Y., is said to own the costliest horse barn in the world. It cost him $700,000. Governor Taylor, of Tennessee, thinks that his state offers rare opportunities for northern investors, as it is rich in minerals. Emperor William has conferred the class-decoration of the Royal Order of the Crown on Charles Gibson, an attorney at St. Louis. Senator Morrill, of Vermont, has just celebrated his eightieth birthday at his residence in Washington with a grand reception. Rev. Mr. Cuyler, who retired from the pastorate of a Presbyterian church in Brooklyn, was presented with a purse of $30,000. Senator Edmunds has gone South for his health. Senators Beck of Kentucky and Brown of Georgia are also absent on account of illness. Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes attends the baseball games in Boston, but it has not yet been determined whether he is a mascot or a hoodoo. Worcester, Mass., has a spineless dog, who can sleep only with her body bent backward into a circle and her feet crossed under her chin. General Tecumseh Sherman pays a thoroughly characteristic tribute to Major-General Miles. He says he is a "good fighter."—Boston Herald. The Ozarowitz and his brother, France George, will visit this country in the coming summer. Both are young, the future George being but twenty-two years of age. Dr. Gatling, inventor of the gun that bears his name, looks like a superannuated clergyman, with his snow-white hair and clean-shaven face. He is eighty years old. "I get up at 5 o'clock in the morning," says General Sikes, the new sheriff of New York, "and study law where I left off in 1860, in order to know what I am doing. I study three hours every day."

Wanted Information. A man who had left his team on the market and carried a whip in his hand entered a store on Randolph street yesterday forenoon and asked for the proprietor. That gentleman came forward and the farmer said: "I want to ask you a question. You have been married a second time and ought to—"

"Sir! What in the old Harry do you mean?" thundered the proprietor in awful tones. "Why, I lost my wife a year ago, and—"

"What do I care about your wife?" "And my friends are advising me to get another. I have heard it said—"

"Get out of here!" "Can't I inquire?" "No, sir!" "Won't you tell me if your second marriage is—"

"No, sir! Get out or I will do you up!" "Oh, I'll get out, but you needn't get mad over it. Seems to me that when a man comes and asks for information—"

"Get!" interrupted the proprietor, as he jumped for an iron poker and the farmer hustled, saying, as he reached the door: "This settles me on a second marriage. They can't be happy."—Detroit Free Press.

Will Hold a Monster Mass Meeting At Hyde Park.

COMING MEETING OF MONARCHS.

Special to THE ASTORIAN. PANAMA, May 3.—A gang of masked men raided the town of Monte Christi, Ecuador, on April second, and liberated all the convicts, and then plundered the residence of Dr. Manuel Cueva, political chief, of the district. They murdered Cueva and his servants and badly wounded Cueva's oldest son. The gang then fled to the mountains.

GRAND DEMONSTRATIONS In Hyde Park, London, by Laborers and Socialists.

Special to THE ASTORIAN. LONDON, May 3.—To-morrow will be the demonstration at Hyde Park in favor of eight hours as a legal working day. The manifesto calling the meeting sets forth that all intelligent workmen are convinced of the necessity of limiting working days to eight hours. They know this can be done only by effective legislation, as the masters always take back at the earliest opportunity, any concessions that they have been forced to give by mere common workers. The manifesto is authenticated by the signatures of responsible representatives of nearly all trade labor organizations, and concludes: "The enemies of the working classes declare that the workers do not desire an eight hours working day by legislation. Give them the lie by attending in your tens of thousands and hundreds of thousands on May 4th in Hyde Park."

The prospects are indicative of an imposing demonstration. Ample police preparations have been made for the maintenance of order. Arrangements for the mass meetings are perfect. The friction between the socialists and trade unionists has been removed by a compromise of the leaders of the two factions, who agreed that there shall be two processions, which will be kept separate at all points.

The socialist and labor orators speak from platforms as far distant as possible, from one another. The processions will enter the park from opposite sides. The speakers comprise all well known labor and socialist agitators.

Royal Festivities.

Special to THE ASTORIAN. BERLIN, March 3.—It is announced that the Emperor will be the guest of the Czar this summer, and will meet him in July on board the imperial yacht at Kiel and sail for Peterhoff, where the splendid festival of 1888 will be resumed and probably exceeded.

His Speech Arouses Interest.

Special to THE ASTORIAN. BERLIN, May 3.—The Reichstag will be opened on Tuesday by the Emperor in person. His speech is looked forward to with the deepest interest.

Lost by Sea.

Special to THE ASTORIAN. VALPARAISO, May 3.—A report received that the British ship Incheague Rock which left San Francisco on February 24 for Queenstown when in lat. 35 south, long. 75 west, experienced heavy weather during which her decks were swept away, and the captain, Amour, and his crew were washed overboard and drowned. A part of her cargo was jettisoned.

TO BE SILVER MOUNTED.

Death of a Famous Race Horse.

Special to THE ASTORIAN. LONDON, May 3.—The great race horse, Hermit, the property of Henry Chaplin, which won the Derby in 1886, under sensational circumstances, and has since been phenomenally successful as a sire, is dead. The horse is about to be preserved, with points as natural as during his life time, and will be mounted on silver at a cost of $10,000.

Sluggish Spain Stirred Up.

Special to THE ASTORIAN. MADRID, May 3.—In Valencia the striking workmen continue attempts to intimidate non-strikers. They tried to force the employees of the government tobacco factory to leave work, but the civic guards prevented them. The socialists will hold mass meeting to-morrow and march to the residence of prime minister Sagasta and present a petition asking the government to introduce a bill making eight hours a legal day's work.

From the French Capital.

Special to THE ASTORIAN. PARIS, May 3.—The Marquis de Mores has been liberated, not having been found dangerous as supposed, his arrest immediately before the 1st of May having served the purpose of the government thereby. Immigrants presumably from Russia have been arrested in Belgrade, charged with attempting to create a revolution. A French man-of-war on the Slave coast of Africa has bombarded Whydah, a port of Dahomey.

AN EMPLOYERS UNION.

To Have Branches All Over Germany.

Special to THE ASTORIAN. BRUNNEN, May 3.—There is a formidable movement among manufacturers, merchants, mine owners and bankers, employing a large number of hands, to promote the German union against the Chemnitz manufacturers, who had decided to create an employers' protective union. If this plan is carried, a league will be formed covering Germany with a network of employer's associations.

SERVED HIS RIGHT.

Special to THE ASTORIAN. BRUNNEN, April 3.—The court at Weimar has sentenced a rich man named Doelchinger, to nine months imprisonment, for sending anonymous insulting letters to an American woman, Miss Lemmer. The offender was not indicted until the American consul insisted the authorities should take some action in the case.
