A POLITICIAN'S WIFE.

Tremendous Influence Wielded by John Kelly's Widow.

"What shadows we are and what shadows we pursue," spoke Edmund Burke in a burst of eloquence years ago. I could not help recalling these lines this afternoon as I saw a small, stooped shouldered, weary looking little woman with a child held by the hand walking in Central park. It was a woman who, not many years ago, wielded more influence than the occupant of the White House. She was the beloved wife of the greatest political boss that America has ever known, John Kelly. Her house was the center of political gravity. All the big and little men in the Democratic party flocked there, and in the back parlor of that home some of the biggest political deals in the history of the state were consummated.

She was the most courted and petted woman in the town. She was Mr. Kelly's second wife, a niece of the famous cardinal McClosky, a woman of independent fortune, splendid attainments, and everything to make her feel at peace with the world. Her husband was a great big, broad shouldered, strongly built man who wielded more power than any man in the Democratic party. Rich gifts were laid at her feet by men who hoped for political preferment. She was the envy of every woman of her acquaintance. But, alas! how soon are we forgotten! John Kelly is dead. Tammany Hall is going through the greatest crisis of its history, and Mrs. Kelly, the petted and pampered wife of the boss, is living in luxury, to be sure, for she is still wealthy, but the political friends of her husband have deserted her. They never call to see her now. There are no conferences in the little back parlor. Her name is forgotten, and only a few of her friends are still loyal. She has two pretty children, the elder about ten years of age, who bids fair to become as great physically as his father.

Mrs. Kelly goes through life uncomplainingly, but, should she wish, she could make a great stir. For she has in her possession all the political papers and documents of her late husband—a rich mine, indeed. There are many secrets contained in these papers, and if Mrs. Kelly so wished, she could write a book that would outsell any of the memoirs in the market to-day. Some day she may do this. She has collected all these papers together, and they are now in such shape that they can be drafted for publication without any difficulty.—Foster Coates in New York Tribune.

BETTER THAN GOLD.

RESTORED HER HEALTH.

For 25 years I suffered from boils, erysipelas and other blood affections, taking during that time great quantities of different medicines without giving me any perceptible relief. Friends induced me to try S. S. S. It improved me from the start, and after taking several bottles, restored my health as far as I could hope for at my age, which is now seventy-five years.

NOTHING LIKE IT

Its peculiar efficacy is due as much to the process and skill in compounding as to the ingredients themselves. Take it in time. It checks diseases in the outset, or if they be advanced will prove a potent cure.

No Home should be Without It.

FOR WHOSE BENEFIT

It takes the place of a doctor and costly prescriptions. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of and cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colic, Diarrhœa, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness and Feverish Colds. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest Aperient and Tonic they can use. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."
