Views of Brokers.

Regarding the Silver Market.
Special to THE ASTORIAN.
NEW YORK, June 10.—The Evening Telegram, speaking of the course of speculation says:
"Gentlemen very close to Jay Gould remark that it is plain that both London and New York markets were worked in order to create the impression that silver legislation had been fully discounted. Events will prove otherwise and when the silver bill passes the senate it will in a few days, the bears will find out what a very serious mistake they have been guilty of. The creating of so much money must be felt. This appeared to be the general opinion and even the most conservative bankers endorsed the foregoing sentiments."

Special to THE ASTORIAN.
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 10.—Information received here to-day from Las Cruces states that small pox is raging there. They are now 85, and it is predicted freely that they will reach 125 before the boom breaks. Celebrates the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of His Ordination.

VERY IMPRESSIVE EXERCISES.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—Archbishop Riordan to-day appropriately celebrated the 25th anniversary of his ordination as a priest. The ceremonies were very impressive and very largely attended.
Soon after the ceremonies in the church were concluded the Archbishop received visiting priests and Christian brothers in the rectory. Magnificent presents were spread out upon a large table. The clergy of San Francisco presented their bishop with a jeweled gold cross and chain, a large signet ring containing a precious stone surrounded by two rows of diamonds, a gold professional cross and crozier and a magnificent gold chalice. The Sunday school of St. Mary's presented the Archbishop with a rich set of silver cloth vestments embroidered with gold, and the sanctuary boys an album with a silver stand. From Europe there were other presents from friends. Catholic ladies presented the Archbishop with ten sets of vestments for use at mass, and six for solemn services and benedictions. The latter vestments are the most magnificent ever made in any yet seen in this city. The ground work is cloth of silver exquisitely embroidered with gold and lined with purple satin; white lace robes are of point and duchess laces. Besides these there were thirty-six sets of lace surplices for altar boys all made by Sisters of the Holy Family.
At 8 o'clock in the evening Catholic ladies of the city presented the Archbishop with an address at St. John's church.

A Mixed Humanity.

Lima, the capital of Peru, is pronounced to be the headquarters of all the world's mongrelism. Its population is the product of three centuries of race-crossing, and a scientific investigator finds easily distinguishable among the inhabitants the following crosses:

Mestizo, offspring of white father and negro mother.
Quadron, offspring of white father and mulatto mother.
Quinteron, offspring of white father and quadroon mother.
Chino, offspring of Indian father and negro mother.

WRECKED BY ROBBERS.

Train Derailed, Engineer Killed, and Safe Plundered.

NEW BANKING FIRM ORGANIZED.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.
NEW YORK, June 10.—The Evening Post's Washington special says a wide difference of opinion prevails among observers in the senate wing of the capitol on the fate of the house silver bill when it reaches that quarter, but this is mostly in respect of details. On certain points there seems to be a practically unanimous judgment that whatever bill the senate passes will lack the bullion redemption feature; that it will call for the purchase of forty-five million ounces of silver per month instead of $1,500,000. A good many say also that there will be inserted a provision for the coinage of all the silver brought to the treasury by bullion owners, which, of course, is equivalent for public purposes to free coinage.

TOO CAUTIOUS TO HERRALD.

They Want Others to Lead.
Special to THE ASTORIAN.
NEW YORK, June 10.—The Commercial Bulletin says editorially:
"Wall street does not respond so freely to the passage of the house silver bill as was expected. The ill-timed of the Pacific express at New Salem on Sunday was captured eight miles south of here to-day and was brought here to-night and lodged in jail. He confesses that he participated in the robbery and says there were four others of the gang. He offered the sheriff $1,000 in cash to let him go, which was of course refused. There is a prospect that Bailey will be lynched."

GOOD HOPS SCARCE.

The Washington Hops Land.
Special to THE ASTORIAN.
NEW YORK, June 10.—There were 32 bales of choice Washington hops sold yesterday at 21 1/2. A similar grade could not be secured now except at one cent advance on that price. The average quality of Washington hops is above that of state hops now on the market. Best, 87,000; hops of the former being positively scarce and the average price correspondingly higher. On actual sales there is a difference of one cent in favor of the Washington product.

THE GOLD SUPPLY.

Careful Estimate of Amount.
Special to THE ASTORIAN.
NEW YORK, June 10.—The Commercial Bulletin has an article on the gold supply, the conclusions in which are drawn from estimates made by the directors of the mint. Circulars were sent to 7,472 banks and bankers and reported to-day, 87,000 New York City banks held $33,822,000. The director of the mint calculates that the banks outside of the national banks of the United States held $31,000,000 in gold.

Good for Marshfield.

RAILROAD RUMORS.

Some With Good Foundation.
Special to THE ASTORIAN.
NEW YORK, June 10.—President Oakes of the North Pacific denies the reported purchase of the Seattle, Lake Shore and Eastern road, but says a trade has been made for the formation of a belt line which will encircle Seattle and Lake Washington. There will be fifty miles of railroad built and operated jointly by the Seattle and Northern Pacific. The rumor of the acquisition of the Seattle road grows out of the fact that the Northern Pacific will build twenty-two miles of road in order to perfect the belt line.

DESPERATE TRAIN ROBBERS.

Wreck the Train With Loss of Life.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 10.—A passenger train on the Cotton Belt road between Texarkana and Camden was attacked by four masked men. The train was derailed, the engineer killed and express messenger Scott probably fatally injured. The thieves escaped after securing all the money in the express car.
About $1,000 was taken from the safe. The robbers made their escape. They are believed to be members of a gang led by Babe Burroughs, who escaped from the Arkansas penitentiary, pending a hearing for a similar offense, a year ago.

One of the Robbers Captured.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.
DICKINSON, N. D., June 10.—John E. Bailey, one of the gang who held up the Northern Pacific express at New Salem on Sunday was captured eight miles south of here to-day and was brought here to-night and lodged in jail. He confesses that he participated in the robbery and says there were four others of the gang. He offered the sheriff $1,000 in cash to let him go, which was of course refused. There is a prospect that Bailey will be lynched.

A Dangerous Rise in the River.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.
LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 10.—There is a rapid rise in the river which is now bank full and is causing grave apprehensions for the safety of settlers in the lowlands. The bridge near the main channel is wrecked by drift wood. A further rise will imperil life and property.

Pioneers of Progress.

A man stood in a wilderness and saw the rising of a city imaged in its gloom; in the rich soil beneath his feet he saw the gleam of gold, the glitter of steel ores and uncounted blocks of iron; on the dashing streams he saw the mill-wheels turning and the mists that rose from the valleys and overhung the hills were transformed into the smoke of factories; the wind that rumbled through the trees was to him the roar of railroads, where the live engines went whistling by; and from the will-o'-wisp that reeled through the summer dark he fashioned the electric lamps that were to give the city light. In everything around him he found promises of progress and improvement, and so he drove his stakes and pitched his tent and went to work upon the basis of his faith.
The sound of his hammer, ringing in the wilderness; echoes of his sturdy blows, as his sharp ax felled the trees and blazed the foundations of his city, were heard afar and men were attracted by the sounds. They flocked around him; many scoffed and ridiculed the solitary toiler, and went their ways again, but a few returned to share his folly or his fortune, they saw the city in the bright vision which had gladdened his sight, and they went bravely to work to help him build it.
Soon the woods were cleared, little cottages nestled in the valleys, or dotted the green hills around; then, taller buildings fronted the rocky streets; the stream turned the mill-wheel; the roar of the engines drowned the voice of the winds as they gilded over the steel highways, freighted with the fruits of toil; the blaze of iron furnaces shone like burning mountains in the night, and underneath the generous earth the miners dug and brought the treasures of the dark to light; the vision was at last a reality—the city was built.

A company of cavalry from Fort Keogh has been ordered to start at daylight for the agency. Stock men have purchased ammunition and all indications are of trouble. ### THE SHARON CASE.

Sarah Althea Gets No Satisfaction.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—The supreme court to-day rendered a decision in the celebrated Sharon divorce case, reversing the decision of the lower court and remanding the case with instructions that a motion for $5,000 alimony and $500 costs be denied. The decision of the supreme court is made on the ground that the suit to declare the alleged marriage contract void was begun in the U. S. circuit court previous to issuing by the superior court of the order for alimony and costs, and that the marriage contract was subsequently declared void.

This decision sets at rest all litigation growing out of the famous contract of marriage that was alleged to have been made between the late William Sharon and Sarah Althea Hill, now Mrs. Terry.

The supreme court in its decision says that the finding of the United States circuit court, must be final with all courts. The circuit court found the agreement of marriage null and void, and without any agreement there could have been no marriage, and without marriage there could be no divorce, and as the judgment for alimony and costs could only accompany a decree of divorce, necessarily the order of the lower court, compelling the payment of alimony and costs from the Sharon estate, is invalid.

The decision expressly states that all state courts must regard the whole question as being finally and decisively settled.

ELLENSBURG NOTES.

New Masonic Temple—New Gold Mines.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.
ELLENSBURG, Wash., June 10.—The Masonic grand lodge of the state of Oregon met here this afternoon. The grand lodge laid the corner stone of the new Masonic temple, grand master Fairweather officiating. Sixty lodges were represented by about 300 visiting Masons in the city.
There is considerable excitement here on account of new finds of gold in Swank creek, near here, one party taking out as high as $50 a day.

Childlike and Blind.

The latest dodge of the heathen Chinese has been worked on a lot of confiding United States customs officers. A Mongolian resident of Port Townsend returned to Port Angeles the other day, and when he wished to return to his home he thought himself as to how he could do it the cheapest. He obtained from a brother celestial a return certificate issued by the British Columbia government, and then managed to be discovered by a customs officer after dark and in a conspicuous way. John was immediately collared by an astute officer, and on being searched the British Columbia certificate found on him was assumed to be truth positive of the fact that he had been smuggled in from this coast. The Chinaman would not "speak" any English, and was kept until the Port Townsend authorities could be communicated with, and was then sent up by the revenue cutter Wolcott. On arriving at Port Townsend it was found that the Chinaman was one Yan Sen, a well known resident, and he was released. He now smiles placidly over the way he beat the United States government out of a trip from Port Angeles to Port Townsend—Washington Truth.
