Gray's harbor now boasts ten townships. Fisheries are here; fifteen cents a pound.

Nellie McHenry will be here next Thursday. Men who raise grass say this is great weather for grass.

Granger, of pismire, is said to be working the Sound. The state teacher's association will meet at Salem the 20th inst.

Nicked plated members for homes in any quantity at Wilson & Fisher's. It will be impossible to have water-mains for the Fourth of July, if this weather keeps on.

Longest day in the year: sun rises, 4:11; sun sets, 7:51, nearly eighteen hours of daylight. Black ice cream is a new fad. It is colored by the addition of charcoal and the juice of Turkish prunes.

The third and last of the series of dances by the Pismire club, was given at Liberty hall last evening and was a very agreeable affair. A flume and lumber company is being organized to flume lumber and wood down from the Oregon bluff to the Columbia river a few miles above here.

The dog catcher doesn't appear to be in it. Scholastic dogs at the weekly batch of bills before the city council. The official count of the vote for the governor of the state will not be canvassed until the state legislature convenes the vote on the second Monday in January, 1921.

The oil factory tickled the alibiary nerve yesterday. The perfume from that unguaged with escaping gas from a leaky Cass street main made a strong and loud combine. A crippled flower girl named Fannie Ott, was recently struck by lightning at Spokane Falls, and although she recovered consciousness, she has lost her power of speech.

Generally eggs go up in price as soon as the season's visitors begin arriving. The seaside visitors haven't begun arriving yet, but the eggs go up in price just the same. A Tacoma cannery was offered $200 the other night to vote for the purchase of an Albrecht fire engine. He got mad about it right away, and complained to the mayor.

"Jesse James" and a German youth to fortune and to fame unknown, will have a prize fight on the hill at 12 tonight, for blood, money and glory. Unless pulled by the police. Remember the tickets now on sale at Griffin & Reed's store on the great and only McManus and family and sixteen first class artists, brass band and orchestra, at Liberty hall, Wednesday, June 23. Read their advt. in today's paper.

Yesterday a plot of land was filed for record to be known as Olney, containing 10 blocks, or 135 lots, owned by H. M. Stuart and Samuel Elmore. It is situated in sections 12 and 13, township 7 north, range 9 west, on the Klaskanine river. The insurance companies have refused to issue policies on the new building of Andrew Young on account of the close proximity of the Columbia foundry. Three thousand dollars in policies on the building were canceled last evening.

According to the Leader, the Port Townsend people are paying a newspaper in Seattle $250 a month to keep its mouth shut about Port Townsend. This is a funny phase of journalism, and for the sake of Seattle newspaper men THE ASTORIAN hopes that the Leader is mistaken. The number of railroad officials in the various connecting railroads in the country that are sending for THE MORNING ASTORIAN as a regular visitor to them, evinces the interest that railroad men take in Astoria all over the nation. They want to keep posted and catch on.

The insurance adjuster was in the city yesterday, and after a careful examination in regard to the late fire on Third street, settled in full with J. H. Mansell, the owner of the building. For the occupants of the building who were insured, the adjusters of their companies have not yet arrived. The enumerator for Lewis & Clark George Bell, had a narrow escape in the discharge of his duties, for he was chased by a crazy woman, armed with a shotgun, who wanted to shoot him. He dropped his books and blanks, but afterward recovered them, damaged considerably by contact with the mud. Paul F. Mohr, of Spokane Falls, has bought the wreck of the British ship Astoria, that went ashore near Gray's harbor two years ago, with a cargo of 2,000 tons of railroad iron. The wreck is partly submerged at low water, but Mr. Mohr intends to put a large force of men at work to recover the iron.

The council were to have met last evening in city attorney Curtis' office, as a committee of the whole, to discuss the water question, but failed to materialize. Councilmen Welch, Fox, Wickman and Parker were present, but without taking any action, they adjourned until 1 P. M., on the 22d. The usual batch of divorce cases are up this court. Two of the divorces are in haste to assume new conjugal ties, and have their future partners picked out. But they must wait six months after the granting of the divorce papers before they can enter the justice another job. Everything goes.

There are no poisonous reptiles of any kind in the limits of Clatsop. The few little snakes met with along the water courses and bottom lands are innocuous. A few rattlesnakes are found in southern Oregon, but, on the whole, the state is remarkably free from the alarming presence of noxious reptiles.

Most of the travel from the Willamette valley to Tillamook this year is going by way of Sheridan, Grand Ronde, the Big Nestucca toll road and the single road to Tillamook. The distance from Salem to Tillamook this way is eighty-two miles, thirty-six miles to Grand Ronde and forty-six on to Tillamook.

No one is supposed to be included in the census enumeration that was not born on or before June 1st, 1920. Those who died since that date are counted just the same. Entries on hotel registers don't go. The idea is to have a correct account of how many people there were in the United States June 1st, 1920.

Albie Bell, the 19-year-old daughter of captain George W. Bell of Montecito, who eloped last year with a gambler named Frank Hoff, has been beaten by the brute and has written to her father begging to be taken home. The father, almost broken hearted, went after his erring child and will bring her home with him.

The census enumerators will be compelled to wait for their pay until the returns have been gone over by the Washington authorities and the totals reported. When the returns have all been made to the local office they will immediately be forwarded to Washington, and after they are verified the money to pay the enumerators will be transmitted to this city.

Among the new business houses recently established in this city is the shoe store of Powers and company, on Third street. The show window is particularly attractive, containing handsome foot wear for ladies, made by Boland & Spinnery, while the display of men's shoes from Hayward & Co., is very complete. A great variety of boots and shoes is kept in the next store.

Senator Dolph has introduced in the senate the following amendment to the tariff bill: Flax gilling twine or thread, including the loosely twisted gilling twine, with six to twenty turns to the foot, used in making salmon gill nets, all fish netting made from such twine or thread whether mounted or unmounted with ropes, leads, etc., at 20 per centum ad valorem.

The Southern Pacific is now asking subsidies all along the line of the narrow gauge. They ask for bonus, saying that they are about to commence work of widening the gauge, building new depots and extending the line on to Springfield and thence to the coast. At Woodburn the Statesman says they asked seven acres for terminal facilities and $20,000 cash and at Silverton they asked $7,000 and twenty acres.

In Supremant's office is a singular looking picture, a rectangular one made of paper mache, is about three feet wide, two feet high and six inches deep. It is in relief and represents the interior of an undertaker's parlor, standing in the center of the room, the whole forming a very natural and realistic scene. It came from the Stien Manufacturing company, Chicago, Illinois.

The Pendleton East Oregonian would take $10,000 for its plant and good will. It's worth it. The Portland Oregonian would probably refuse $200,000. The latter paper will soon have a seven story building with a square tower in the center, and will leave the corner of Front and Stark, where it has long been published. The Oregonian is clearing $150,000 a year, which is believed to be a trifle in excess of the combined net profits of Astoria's three dailies.

Timber land is still being secured. Across the river timber is offered independent of the land, or the land independent of the timber. Clatsop, considerable is being done in the way of filing on abandoned claims. Many a poor fellow after putting in time on his land has been forced to abandon it, and it lies ready for the lucky discoverer of the vacant tract. At the present rate the day is not distant when government land will be scarce in the surveyed districts of Clatsop county.

Yesterday morning about four o'clock, Lee Outlaw, a colored waiter at the Gem theater, shot P. C. Foy, stage manager of the same institution, at the corner of First and Washington streets. The ball entered at the neck and lodged in the shoulder, not having been extracted as yet, but the man was resting quietly last night at a hotel here, and if inflammation does not set in, will come out in a few days. Foy is said to have been intoxicated Thursday night and particularly abusive towards Outlaw who was going to his room and trying to avoid the other.

Outlaw is out on $200 cash bail, pending examination which is set for this afternoon at 2 o'clock, before Justice May. Foy is at St. Mary's hospital. It is Leprosy. The article in yesterday's ASTORIAN in reference to a case of leprosy in Chinatown has excited considerable comment, and a careful investigation has shown that leprosy exists here, and not alone in one case, either. A Chinese physician admits that there are two Mongolians in this city who are afflicted with the loathsome disease. Now let prompt action be taken at once, and if necessary, a thorough examination of Chinatown be made by physicians and the proper authorities, to ascertain to what an extent the disease has reached.

"It is a fact," that Hood's Sarsaparilla does cure scrofula, salt rheum, and other diseases or affections arising from impure state or low condition of the blood, overcomes the tired feeling, creates a good appetite, and gives strength to every part of the system. Try it. Thompson & Ross are handling the product of some of the choicest dairies, and can supply you with No. 1 article of any kind in case.

Rooms Wanted. Furnished rooms will be wanted from July 8th to 12th, for members of the A. O. U. W., coming to the Grand Lodge. All persons having any, will please leave word as soon as possible at Knicker's Restaurant. Rooms for Sale. At factory premises, M. W. Burr, agent from the factory of Hemme & Long, San Francisco, who is a practical piano maker and tuner, is now in the city prepared to do all kinds of repairing and tuning.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria. There was a lively scrap at the Astoria Athletic association rooms last evening, the result being a plain demonstration that Fraker is no match for Riordan. A great dissatisfaction had been expressed over Wednesday night's fiasco, and the two signed an agreement yesterday, to fight at 9 last evening, the winner to get $300—Maybe. There was a large crowd there at the time, and considerable curiosity as to the outcome. At 9 both men took their corners surrounded by a retinue of attendants. At 9:13 time was called, Jack Grant, the referee, announcing: "Gentlemen, this is to be a genuine contest, for money, and if it is a farce, the winner doesn't get a cent."

The two squared off in the center of the ring, and in the first round Riordan got in two right handers, when time was called, going puffing to his corner, Fraker grinning as he sat down. In the second round they clinched. "Break away," shouted the referee. "How's that?" queried Fraker, as he dealt Riordan two body blows, again getting in an upper cut, and having apparent advantage. In the third round, Riordan forced the fighting, Fraker on the defensive, and getting a smashing blow in the face. It looked now as though there would be a genuine fight. In the fourth round, Riordan gave his grinning antagonist two stinging blows in the face, and a third on the neck. Fraker dropped, and made for his corner. Riordan followed him up, striking him again. Fraker was evidently a dead cock in the pit. He sank on the ropes, and the time keeper called "one," "two," "three," up to "ten." Fraker didn't appear to be "knocked out," but who evidently had enough, didn't rise, and amid cheers, Riordan who was unscratched, walked to his corner and his second removed his gloves, sixteen minutes after standing up for the first round. Fraker was bleeding, but appeared to be more destitute of sand than anything else. A large number of the spectators expressed their belief that Fraker was going through the same performance as on the preceding evening, and was abundantly able to face his antagonist at the close of the fourth round had he wanted to. The directors and referee reserved their decision till two o'clock this afternoon.

THE NEW MOTOR. Progress of the Bay Railway Line. Yesterday the new motor for the Bay Railway company was safely transferred from the steamer Willamette Chief to the dock of the company at Smith's point. It was built by the Baldwin locomotive works, is 16 feet long, and weighs 23,000 pounds. It is of the enclosed or box kind, similar to the dummy engines on the street car lines in San Francisco near Golden Gate park, and is mounted on four wheels which are also the driving wheels, two on each side, and is more powerful than if it had extra trucks. Arthur Bartholomew will be the engineer, and is thoroughly competent, having had long experience, and has been for the last three years on an engine on the jetty. The ends of the motor are nailed up for safety in transportation, and it will take two or three days to have it in running order, after which it will be steamed up and tried over the line. A flat car will be done in a day or two and a pullman car, manufactured by the Pullman company, of Chicago, is now on the way here from that city. The motor and flat car will be used as a construction train to hasten the completion of the line around the point, and on the end coming into the city.

FRAKER WASN'T IN IT. Four Rounds Was Enough for Him Last Night. There was a lively scrap at the Astoria Athletic association rooms last evening, the result being a plain demonstration that Fraker is no match for Riordan. Knife in His Mouth. A man who has been recently employed as a cook in a sailor boarding house, and who has lately been indulging rather freely in "tanglefoot" yesterday on Third street had an idea he was threatened with lockjaw. In order to prevent his jaws from becoming set, he placed his pocket knife in his mouth, and thus engaged, he began shouting for help when near the court house. Sheriff Smith responded to the call, and escorted the fellow to his hotel in the Moorish castle adjoining. The knife was taken from his mouth, and after a short sojourn in the hospital, he was turned out to ruminate on his folly. The man is evidently a "little off in the upper story."

A Costly Bit of Fun. A festive drummer yesterday told his lady friend he would have "some fun," and going into the second story of the Salvation Army building flung out a broom and mop he found there. It was very funny, but when arrested by officer Larsen for malicious mischief, he thought that was carrying the joke a little too far. He put up $10 bail, and left on the evening boat.

The steamer Alarm has been sold by the Portland, East Portland and Albina transportation company to Charles E. Foster for $5,000. Repairs were signed on the 14th inst. and received for record at the custom house here yesterday. The boat was built in Portland in 1887, is 68 1/2 feet long, 13 feet wide, 5 feet deep, has a gross tonnage of 27 tons, and 16 tons net.

A DOCTOR'S REBUKE. Immensely More Mischief than is Generally Suspected. Dr. King, the eminent medical writer, in a learned dissertation on our national complaint, concludes as follows: The great quantity of cathartic pills, etc., which are taken by the people of this country are so positively of immensely more mischief than is generally suspected. True, the physic unloads the bowels, but its action is so violent, that it causes a loss of strength; so that, instead of removing costiveness, it aggravates it, leaving the bowels in a more torpid condition. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla was designed to fit just such a contingency as the doctor's ardent anticipates, viz.: instead of being a powerful mineral purgative, it is a mild vegetable laxative, that, owing to its solvent and gentle stimulating properties, it so certain a relief in constipation that it has been given away to hundreds, not to be paid for unless it was of positive benefit. It replaces constipation almost immediately with a natural easy habit, and is so mild that, unlike drastic purgatives, it can be taken indefinitely with perfect safety.
