

ASTORIA, OREGON: WEDNESDAY, JULY 2, 1890. City and County Official Paper.

HENRY C. BOWEN says that Chauncey M. Depew will be the Republican candidate for president in 1892.

HENRY M. STANLEY has at last reached the climax of earthly glory. A London firm has notified him that it has named a brand of sausages in his honor.

STANLEY says if he could get 5,000 two-gallon jugs into the heart of Africa they would buy him 10,000 acres of land and 500 wives. One two-gallon jug will make a man think he owns the earth—provided it is loaded.

THERE is some style about a chief executive like Gov. Ferry, of Washington. The state militia wanted an encampment, but couldn't wait for the red tape of the circumlocution office. Gov. Ferry promptly advanced $5,000 and the boys have had their encampment. Later on the governor will get his $25,000 back, when the military tax is levied.

It appears that the live and progressive people of the southwest are disappointed with the Century dictionary because it does not contain the word "bazoo." Bazoo is a good standard word in the southwest, no more to be sneered at or ignored than such words as dog and cat. When a politician is said to "blow his bazoo," every one knows what is meant. In Scotland, Mo., there is a paper called the Bazoo, and it is a lively sort of paper, well printed, too.

THE census has some surprises. Chicago, which was fourth in the list of populous cities in 1880, now stands second, outstripping Brooklyn and Philadelphia, though the second place is a close contest between the Quaker city and the city by the lake. The figures so far give Philadelphia 1,040,000; Chicago 1,085,000. There are now four cities in the Union that have one million inhabitants. In 1870 there were none, and in 1880 there was but one, New York. The census of the empire city this year gives 1,627,227.

THE insuperable dilemma of the communists is, that unless all property rights were made illegal, the same causes which have created inequality before would create it again; and if they were made illegal, nobody would do any more work than they could help, and the whole community would remain scarcely above the level of the brutes. Socialism shares the latter horn: if men are protected against the results of their folly or laziness or incapacity, and there is no reward for brain or brawn, who will undergo the painful training and sacrifice, and struggle against natural illness and weakness, to cultivate their powers and put forth their energies?

Madam," said the grateful census taker, "you have replied courteously and kindly to all my questions, and I am nearly every person I have met since I began this work you have not treated me as if I were an enemy and an intruder. You have answered satisfactorily all the questions as to age, physical condition, and ownership of property. Your conduct meets my hearty approval, not only as a government officer but as a citizen, and with your permission I will ask a question not down in my list. Are you engaged to be married to anybody?"

"I am, sir," replied the handsome widow, blushing and smiling. "I feared so," said the census-taker, with a sigh. And he put on his hat and went out into the cold world again, his faith in human nature restored but his heart broken.

Mrs. Cottonback—This book for boys says the way to succeed in this world is to do two dollars' worth of work for one dollar. Mr. Cottonback (great manufacturer)—That writer is way off. The way to succeed is to hire men to do two dollars' worth of work for one dollar, and then force a trust and sell it for five dollars.—Puck.

Happy Hoosiers. Wm. Timmons, postmaster of Idaho, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine; made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c a bottle, at J. W. Conn's Drug Store.

Smart Squire. A good story is told of a certain locality in Tennessee where no newspapers are taken and the people "hears all they want to know." A former citizen of this locality, living in Texas, wrote some of his friends at his old home, and among other items of news stated that the immigrants were coming so fast they were eating all the corn up. The person to whom this epithet was addressed did not comprehend the meaning of the term "immigrants," and inquired of all those he met if they knew what it was, but none could give him the desired information. It was finally determined to send to a certain acquire in the neighborhood who presumed to know everything. The letter was read to him, and he was asked, "What are immigrants?"

The squire looked wise, crossed his legs, scratched his head and replied: "It's a little animal between a possum and a coon."
