The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

SUNDAY.....JULY 6, 1890

MRS. HENRY MULLEN of Middleton Corners, Ohio, has given birth to the second pair of twins within a year.

THE admission of the new states gives the Pacific Coast political prestige. Now comes Idaho, with three more votes in congress..

THE present census, will, it is believed, show that Oregon has a population of 360,000, entitling the state to two representatives in congress.

REPORTS from Nicaragua say the country is overrun with Americans and Europeans who have no money and can get no work and all are trying to get out of the country.

IF our state supreme court is not an object of contempt it is in a fair way to become so. A few more farces like the Olds case will do much in that direction. Lawyers say: "No Oregon decision is ever quoted." This is good. The state should be spared such humiliation.

IT was our pleasure and privilege last Friday to hear a very fine oration from Major Weed. Only those who have tried it can fully appreciate how hard it is to say something new and something good on the Fourth of July. He succeeded in doing both and did it so well as to elicit complimentary comment from every quarter. It was purely extemporaneous and was replete with wit, wisdom and eloquence, and when he got through he quit.

"WHY didn't you get a man to read the Declaration of Independence?" Was asked the committee a good many times. Well, the lady who read it last Friday, read it well. It was a novelty to have a young and good-looking girl read the document to a crowd on the Fourth of July, and so many of the fair sex read the riot act and declaration of independence to their husbands and sweet hearts, that it is only fair to give one of them a chance to read a different kind of declaration of independence occasionally.

WHILE the representatives of every locality are struggling to increase their "holdings" in the river and harbor bill, says a Washington, D. C., dispatch, the more thoughtful and thoroughly informed men in congress are in dread of a veto as the fate of the measure, particularly if by reason of the great pressure for increased allowances it grows to undue proportions. President Harrison, it is well known, was never much of a river and harbor man even when in the senate, as he comes from a state practically without either rivers and harbors. It may not seem exact statesmanship, but it is a fact that the strongest opponents of this class of appropriations come from those sections which have no coast cities or inland waterways. An exception should be made, however, of the representatives from the far west, as they have ever exhibited a liberal spirit in voting for appropriations in the expenditure of which their immediate constituents had no benefit. But, as stated, leading Republican senators have been given to understand that the president does not want to go to the country with a record in river and harbor legislation surpassing that of the Cleveland administration. when the limit was about $22,000,000. It is believed, however, that within these bounds, his signature will not be withheld from the bill. Of course the fate of the pending measure is a matter of some moment to the people of Oregon, as there are several good sized items included therein for improvements in the northwest.

THREE YEARS WITH DRS. DARRIN.

Pacific Farmer.

Drs. Darrin have now been practicing their profession in Portland for three years with brilliant success, and during that time thousands awaiting themselves of their peculiar practice have been absolutely cured of diseases that had baffled the skill of all the old school practitioners. Cases that had been given up, and the patients who had been advised to spend no more time or money in the fruitless attempt of trying to cure an incurable disease, had been sent from the doctors' office, frequently after a few treatments, with new leases of life, rejoicing, painless and well, and crutches have been thrown away to be taken up no more. In fact, the doctors have worked wonders, and brought joy, health and happiness to hundreds of households. Their rooms are never without patients during office hours, and few indeed are the cases they treat that do not receive permanent benefits, as the following card will show:

Pain in Heart Twenty Years

Mr. Editor: This is to certify that I have had a pain in my heart and breast twenty years, and tried many physicians, without success. After four months' home treatment by Dr. Darrin I am restored to health and gladly give my testimony in his behalf. I reside at Silverton, Oregon, where I can be addressed or referred to.

C. W. BARKHURST.

Drs. Darrin's Place of Business.

Drs. Darrin can be consulted daily at the Washington building, corner Fourth and Washington streets, Portland. Hours 10 to 5; evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays, 10 to 12. All chronic diseases, blood taints, irregularites in women, loss of vital power and early indiscretions permanently cured, though no references are ever made in the press concerning such cases, owing to the delicacy of the patients. Examinations free to all, and circulars will be sent free to any address. Charges for treatment according to patient's ability to pay. The poor treated free of charge from 10 to 11 daily. All private diseases confidently treated and cures guaranteed. Patients at a distance can be cured by home treatment. Medicines and letters sent without the doctors' name appearing.

SOME SALMON ITEMS

Gleaned From the Cathlamet "Gazette."

A. D. Birnie says that in 1868 two Californians were fishing for him and caught during the season 8,000 and 9,000 fish, respectively. Wm. Baker, now of Astoria, beat that record. In 1872 he caught and delivered to Robt. Hume, at Bay View cannery, 13,000 fish during the season. This is supposed to be the largest catch ever made by one person, in the time, with a gill net.

Owing to the big run of fish at the Cascades the canneries have reduced the price of gill net fish to two cents per pound. Almost all the fishermen have quit.

James Jones, John Elliott and John LeMont have consolidated their seining interests on Miller's sands. The firm is to be known as the Miller Sands Seining Co. They have one seine at work and are catching one ton of fish per day.

Geo. Stephenson with two wheels at the Cascades caught seven tons of fish one day last week. All of the canneries have been doing well. Some of them have been putting up from 400 to 800 cases per day, for the last four weeks.

State fish commissioner Crawford was informing us Saturday, that he expects soon to go up on the head waters of the Snake, Spokane and Columbia rivers and select a location for the proposed fish hatchery in Washington. He estimates that the cost of erecting a building and necessary appliances would cost $10,000. The annual running expenses is estimated at $5,000. This expenditure would be adequate to equip and operate a hatchery that would turn out four to five million young fish each year. The mode of propagating the young salmon at a hatchery is very simple and successful, he says. The fish are caught in seines or gill nets and the spawn extracted from them. The male and female spawn is then thoroughly mixed together and packed in pans where water is kept constantly running over them. It generally takes from forty to seventy days to hatch the eggs, according to the degree of temperature of the water at the time. The hatching is done generally from September to February. The young salmon are kept in the nursery until they attain a length of about six inches. From careful and accurate statistics it is found that a greater per cent of the eggs are hatched by the artificial process of incubation than by the natural method. One reason is the spawn is more thoroughly mixed and another is the spawning beds are undisturbed by other species of fish that prey on the eggs. Commissioner Crawford will make his report to the legislation this fall, recommending a location, that will doubtless be adopted.
