THE POLICE IN RESERVE.

Fears of an Anarchistic Outbreak Among the Strikers.

THE "EGYPT" CREW SAID.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.

New York, July 23.—Inspector Byrnes, the head of the police force in this city, last night ordered all police reserves to be held in their respective station houses. This was prompted by the threats of the striking cloak-makers at various times, particularly at a meeting yesterday, where reports were excluded.

One of the inspector's men was present, and made notes of the fiery speeches and threats that there would be trouble.

Inspector Byrnes, when asked why he issued the order, said: "I am not going to have any trouble in this town if I can help it, and if these men want to make any, we propose to be there from the start and settle it in short order. I think the knowledge that we were ready for them had something to do in quieting them."

While the inspector does not say so, it is evident that he fears an anarchistic outbreak similar to that at the Haymarket, in Chicago, in May, 1887.

A FURTHER ACCOUNT.

No Definite News Regarding the Vessels.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.

New York, July 23.—Word was received at the marine exchange this morning that the steamer Egypt, of the National Line, had been abandoned at sea. She was said to be on fire at the time.

New York, July 23.—The news of the abandonment of the steamer Egypt received at the marine exchange this morning was by a cable from London and did not say whether the crew were saved or not, nor did it give the locality of the abandonment.

At the office of the National line in this city the agent said all they knew of the reported loss was what they learned from the marine exchange. They had not received any word from the London office. The agents say the Egypt left here July 10th for Liverpool, under the command of Captain Sumner and had a crew of 72 men, and carried a general cargo including 640 cattle. They had no oil or explosives in the cargo and carried no passengers, she having lately been employed in freight traffic only.

A further cable to the marine exchange, of New York, states that the crew of the Egypt battled with the flames twenty-four hours after the fire was discovered, and finally were driven to the boats. All the cattle were lost, and the crew and the men, after spending two days in open boats, were picked up.

Milwaukee will not be represented as the successor of archbishop Hetz, who died a short time ago, has not been chosen. A meeting of the senate of the Catholic university of Washington takes place this week, probably to-morrow, at St. John's seminary. The meetings will be strictly private.

LOUISIANA LOTTERY.

A New Phase is Being Developed.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.

NEW ORLEANS, July 23.—The lottery fight in this state has assumed a new phase. It had been thought after the legislature adjourned, inasmuch as a vote of the people would not be taken for nearly two years, that the discussion of the question would die away, to be resumed when the campaign opened.

The campaign was opened last week by United States senator elect, Edward D. White, at an anti lottery meeting in this city. Senator White then stated that the singular spectacle was presented, of the entire press of the country being opposed without history, with the exception of the newspapers of New Orleans, and said he could only ascribe the fact to one of two causes—lack of intelligence in the local press, or corrupt motives.

The Times-Democrat retorted that Senator White was not a fit person to bring such charges, for they must come from a good and pure man. It then called upon the senator to tell where he got the money by which he secured his seat in the senate, and how it was expended. Senator White made no reply.

This morning the Times-Democrat returned to the charge, and after saying that it had waited four days for the senator to explain the matter, made the direct charge that senator White, as treasurer of the Nicholls campaign committee, in the fight for the Democratic nomination two years ago, had received $10,000 from a representative of the lottery company, which money was expended to secure the nomination of governor Nicholls, who is now fighting the lottery company on moral and political grounds, and for the election of himself (White) to the United States senate.

The Times-Democrat further charged and said it was prepared to prove that Mr. White had received $10,000 from a representative of the lottery company, for his personal use in his campaign for the senate, in which he defeated senator J. B. Eastis, and senator Jones, and who would know if this large amount was expended for stationery.

Senator White, in speaking of the charges, said he would reply to them in a few days.

MORE RUMORS DENIED.

Papers Have Misrepresented Railroad Affairs.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—F. C. Granger, formerly treasurer and purchasing agent of the Eastern railway of Minnesota, was seen last evening in regard to certain statements published in the Portland and Helena papers relative to the Great Northern. He plainly stated that he has no connection with any railroad company now, and is here on private business only. The stories associating him with the visit of president Minot, of the Eastern railway, and the establishment of offices in this city by the Great Northern, which controls that line, he says are quite without foundation. That the Great Northern is making a great effort in the north, he says is a fact, and he does not doubt that the road will actually reach Seattle, as president Hill is reported to have said, next winter.

NICELY FOOLED.

The Imaginary Romance by a Reporter.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—Not very long ago, a spruce reporter on a morning paper wrote a thrilling article about some 16-year-old apprentice on an English ship bound to Portland, Oregon, snubbing single-handed, a mutiny on board the ship on which he was. The captain, all the officers, etc., were snubbed by the apprentice, who had been either sick or subordinated by the mutineers. "Alone he brought the vessel safe to port." The chamber of commerce yesterday deliberately and solemnly established without a quip, the fiction of the fakir, and guilelessly appointed a committee to investigate the case and if the "hero was found to be worthy," either pass resolutions in acknowledgment of his "bravery," or vote him a medal.

THE FACTS IN THE CASE.

The Chinese Government Will Not Retaliate.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—"It's all nonsense to say that the Chinese government contemplates putting into operation any retaliatory measures against Americans in China, by reason of the passage of the Scott exclusion act," said Dr. Dalsson last evening.

The doctor has been a resident of Peking for the last 23 years, and his position in the Tung Wen college and advisor of the privy council give him unusual facilities for knowing the true feeling in Peking in this respect.

"As soon as the news of the passage of the exclusion act was received in Peking," said he, "the government communicated at once with Chang Yen Hwan, the Chinese minister at Washington, and on receipt of his reply, the matter of retaliation was considered by the imperial council. There was but one member of the council who favored retaliatory measures. All the other members considering that such action on the part of the Chinese government would be unadvised."

"As a matter of fact, very few Chinese come to America from the northern portion of China. Most of them being Cantonese and from the other southern cities, and therefore the subject is not one that interests the members of the imperial government as much as people here think it does."

There were two small fires this forenoon, one in the east and the other in the west part of the city. This strengthens the belief. People are on the alert and vigilant. So far, five suspects have been arrested. The city is thoroughly guarded and no further danger is anticipated.
