Joseph Lanoutte of Cathlamet was in the city yesterday, and speaking of his farm on the Elokomen said he had potatoe field of eight acres from which he usually gets a crop of 200 sacks to the acre. This year, although the potatoes are fine, he will get somewhat less, say 150 sacks, which would be considered a big yield in most places. This is only one instance among thousands that attest the fer-tility of the soil in this country.

The sale of seats for Maude Granger's "Inherited" at the opera house which opened at the New York novelty store yesterday morning, was anusually large. Indications are favorable that this talented actress will be greeted with a crowded house to morrow night. The play is strongly endorsed by the press and the public wherever it has been presented, and Mande Granger is too well known to require any encomium. Her presence here is an event of importance for here is an event of importance for limit. Thompson & Ross have a fine assortment, and will give careful attention to all such orders.

The show given by the ponies and dogs of Prof. Gentry is in every way worthy to be classed in the front rank of excellence, and therefore worthy of praise. It is good in every particular, and each hand-some pony and dog seems to do his part with an accuracy, ease and enjoyment that adds greatly to the pleasure of the exhibition. The feats performed by some of the dogs are wonderful and never fail to bring forth most enthusiastic applause. The jumping of the greyhound and Bruno is as exciting as it is marvelous, and was greeted last night with great cheering and delight. When sleek greyhound Prince makes the great leap, the audience give a gasp of istonishment as they see the lithe, long body rise forward and upward like a rocket, covering a truly wonder garding the feat accomplished as a very little thing, stalks soberly away.
