"La Comtesse de Choubroskoff," a lady who for some years past has figured in certain circles of Parisian society, has made her appearance at last before the Tenth correctional chamber, and has created no small sensation among the audience, not only by the remanats of beauty which still cling to her, but also by the coquettishness and elegance of her attire. Madame did not limit herself to the dignity of De Choubroskoff; she also gave herself out as the Countess of Abbani, the Grand Canoness of Bavaria, and used various other titles of equal authenticity, her real name all the time being Marie Coupet. According to the story she circulated about herself, the Comte de Choubroskoff was allied to all the great families of Russia, but had incurred the displeasure of the Czar when he married being afterward legalized according to the Green church in Vienna. I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have sought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 13th of April I was suffering from a very violent notitack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bent over. When I sat down it was almost impossible for me to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, where kind Providence sent Dr. Henley, with the OREGON KIDNEY TEA, to my hotel. I immediately commenced using the tea. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonin a few days, I am happy to state, in a few days, I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the tea to all afflicted as I have been.
